The New-York Times.

VOL. XX.....NO. 5956. NEW-YORK, MONDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1870. PRICE FOUR CENTS.

THE WAR.

England to Propose a Suspension of Hostilities.

Austria and Italy in Accord with Great Britain.

GREAT HOPES AROUSED IN TOURS.

A German Idea of Proper Terms of Peace.

Restitution of Alsace and Lorraine to Germany.

King William's Opinion of the French Soldiers.

General View of the Military Situation.

THE PEACE QUESTION.

Direct English Intervention to be Offered Immediately—Austria and Italy in Accord with Great Britain—An Armistice Proposed—Thiers and the King of Prussia.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—It is reported that England will immediately offer direct intervention for an armistice; that Lord LYONS and Lord LOFTUS have taken steps to that effect at Tours and Berlin, and that perfect accord in the matter exists between England, Austria and Italy.

THE AUSTRIAN FEELING.

VIENNA, Oct. 23.—The Austrian Government, responding to the representations of England, urgently advocates an armistice at Tours and Versailles. The Vienna Free Press, in an able leader, denounces the war as intollerable, and invokes the determined intervention of the Powers. It declares that the moment is opportune for a compromise, and England should take the initiative and conduct the negotiations in behalf of a cause which has become that of the civilized world.

PROPOSALS FOR AN ARMISTICE.

TOURS, Oct. 23.—It is understood that, on Friday last, England submitted here and at Berlin proposals for an armistice. Great hopes are entertained of the result.

M. THIERS GOING TO VERSAILLES.

M. THIERS has not left for Paris yet; he awaits a safe conduct from the Prussians.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—The Prussian Cross Gazette, referrig to a rumor that M. THIERS proposes to visit the King of Prussia, at Versailles, expresses the opinion that his mission will be fruitless.

A GERMAN IDEA OF PROPER TERMS.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Gen. VON DER TANN, commanding the German troops on the Loire, has issued a proclamation, in which he declares that the main condition of peace is the restitution of Alsace and Lorraine to Germany.

FRANCE EAGER FOR PEACE.

A Tours dispatch says great hopes of peace have been excited by the intervention of England for an armistice. It is understood the Government here is eager for peace on almost any terms.

The Election to be Held During an Armistice—Government Views on the Proposition for Peace.

TOURS, Oct. 23.—The Constitutionnel prints the report of the mediation of England, and says there is now reason to hope for peace. It adds that as soon as an armistice is concluded the elections for the Constituent Assembly will be ordered. The journals contain the following note inspired by the Government:

"We may affirm that the Government, in no case, will accept a peace humiliating to France. It will remain firm in its rejection of all propositions for the dismemberment of France, and is prepared for all sacrifices to save the national honor. Invasion has not prevented the organization of the defense of the country on a formidable scale. We have at divers points, which it would be imprudent to mention, excellent troops well armed and equipped, and ready to move at a given moment, as will soon appear. In corroboration of the above, it may be stated on the best authority that two armies, ably commanded and composed of excellent troops, are ready to move forward. Further details cannot be given; but events will soon prove the truth of these statements."

EARLY SUSPENSION OF HOSTILITIES.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 23.—The Independance Belge has the following special dispatch from London:

"After the Cabinet Council held on Friday, Earl GRANVILLE telegraphed to the British Ministers at Tours, Berlin, St. Petersburg, Vienna and Florence, with a view to bringing about an armistice between Prussia and France until the election and opening of the French Constituent Assembly. The answers received from the Ambassadors indicate an early suspension of hostilities."

Bismarck in Favor of a Convocation of the Constituent Assembly.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The telegrams from Tours and Vienna, announcing the proposal by England of an armistice, are substantially true. I have the highest authority for saying that the British Government concluded last week that the time had arrived for making another effort. They considered the moment critical, and felt it their duty to try something. They have urged an armistice by making common representations to Prussia and France, asking other Powers to join them in the effort to bring it about. The armistice is intended to allow the convocation of the French Assembly. It is understood that BISMARCK favors such convocation, but insists that the armistice must involve a practicable basis of peace. While the overtures of Great Britain have not been unfavorably received at both Tours and Versailles, the British Government has small hopes of success. There is a chance, but only a chance that the present effort may produce a suspension of hostilities.

Action of Lord Lyons—Possible Success of His Efforts—The French Government not Anxious for Peace—Prussia's Position Again Defined.

[The following appeared in our Sunday edition.]

TOURS, Oct 22.—The Constitutionnel, today, announces that Lord LYONS, the British Minister, has made an important communication to the Government here. He (Lyons), aided by Austria and Italy, to effect an armistice, in order that the elections for members of the Constituent Assembly may proceed. He stated that Russia would act in the same direction. The Government has not yet returned any formal reply.

TOURS, Oct. 23—P. M.—At a meeting of the Council, today, it is reported that the subject of the election of members to the Assembles Constituante was discussed. It is also reported that the Council was informed by Lord LYONS that he had received orders from his Government to announce its desire to mediate in conjunction with Austria and Italy. The answer of M. GAMBETTA was that the Council could do nothing without the concurrence of the Government of Paris.

THE GOVERNMENT NOT ANXIOUS FOR PEACE.

It is understood here that preparations for the national defense are now so great that the Government will not accept peace, save upon a liberal basis. At Paris, the determination is also evident to make a defense to the last, unless honorable terms of peace can be obtained.

PRUSSIA'S TERMS.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The evening edition of the Times contains a special telegram from Berlin stating that Prussia has repeated her willingness to grant an armistice, if the principle of the cession of territory be conceded. The mere dismantling of the fortresses in Alsace and Lorraine under a European guarantee is insufficient.

NEGOTIATIONS THROUGH MR. WASHBURNE.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A special letter just received, dated Paris, Oct. 14, says: "Negotiations for peace continue. BISMARCK sent letters, yesterday, to Washburne and JULES FAVRE. They were of a conciliatory character. An armistice, to allow the Constituent Assembly to be elected, to decide definitely on peace, was under discussion, the principal conditions of which are that the military situation shall remain in statu quo; the members elected will be allowed to enter Paris, and none else; Alsace and Lorraine are not to vote, to which FAVRE objects, very absurdly, as these Provinces cannot vote while occupied by the Prussian armies. This solution of the neutrality of Alsace and Lorraine is favored by BISMARCK."

SIEGE OF PARIS.

Another Unsuccessful Sortie—Operations of Bourbaki—Treasures Abandoned by Ulhanes—Fortifications of the Prussians—A New Projectile Against Balloons.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A sortie was made from Paris last night in the direction of Versailles. The Germans, after some hours' hard fighting, drove the French back, taking 300 prisoners and two pieces of artillery. The loss of the besiegers was small, and was caused by a bomb bursting in the midst of a battalion.

CANNONADING.

MONTMEDY, Oct. 22—Evening.—Yesterday there was an engagement near Fontainebleau, in which the France-Tireurs killed forty Uhlans and captured a number of horses. All day yesterday, cannonading in the direction of Tours was noticed, and the noise seemed to grow louder and come nearer and nearer all the afternoon. From other points in the neighborhood similar reports are made.

OCCUPATION OF CHARTRES.

VERSAILLES, Oct. 23, via BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Gen. WITHICH has occupied Chartres. [Chartres is on the railroad from Paris to Tours, about forty-seven miles from Paris.]

ACTIVITY OF THE BESIEGED.

TOURS, Oct. 23.—The Minister of War has dispatches from Paris to the 19th, reporting that sorties continue to be frequently made; the enemy suffers heavily from them and is compelled to keep on the alert day and night. The Prussians (thus harassed, are beginning to suffer from their constant exposure. Paris advices of the 19th show that over 100,000 of the National Guard responded to Gen. TROCHU's order of the day demanding volunteers for sorties. The military authorities have begun shooting peasants who give information to the enemy. Two were shot at Dreux yesterday.

THE PAPAL NUNCIO.

It is understood the Papal Nuncio was detained four days at Versailles. He was treated with extreme courtesy by the Prussians, but not allowed to come here immediately from Paris. The administration of the Bank of France is now at Bordeaux, where it is expected to remain until the close of the war.

INCIDENTS.

SENS, Oct. 22.—A balloon, which left Paris yesterday, landed safely between Ligny and Meux, but quite near the Prussian lines. The balloon, when at the height of 2,000 metres, was struck with a new projectile now in use by the Prussians. The Official Journal of Paris has published the answer of Gen. DUCROT to the Prussian charge that he broke his parole. The General says he escaped from Sedan after he had placed himself in the hands of the Prussians, having refused to sign the capitulation or give his parole. The Official Journal, of the 19th, relates the destruction of several more Prussian batteries which had lately been erected. The fire of the forts dismantled the Prussian guns and killed a number of the enemy.

Sheridan at the German Head-quarters—King William on the French—The Siege.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—In a special letter dated Versailles, the 14th inst., the correspondent describes his visit to Meudon, and declares that the Prussian positions are rapidly becoming impregnable. Active preparations are being made for mounting siege guns in every direction. He says BISMARCK's bag, now known as the through mail, leaves with SHERIDAN today. SHERIDAN will not return, regarding the war as virtually over, and the siege dull and slow. He returns home in the Spring. BISMARCK paid him a farewell visit last night. SHERIDAN said today that he had been royally treated by the Prussians. BISMARCK, MOLTKE, the King, and Crown Prince could not have been more cordial. The King says the French have his sympathies, but they are making, at present, such a poor figure that he regards the siege of Paris a laughable farce. "I have been disappointed with the French, he said, so has the whole world. But it is easy to account for their failure; they have been weakened so much by centralization that they are willing to lay all on the shoulders of the Empire as a scapegoat, instead of boldly helping themselves. It is lamentable to see a nation of 40,000,000 so utterly broken. Fight! Why, they ought to fight till their boots fall off." SHERIDAN made an excellent impression. His prompt, outspoken manner was much enjoyed by the King and BISMARCK.

THE SIEGE OPERATIONS.

There are fifty siege guns now up in front that are not yet in battery; they are eighteen to sixty pounders, and are still on their high carriages. Starvation, however, it seems to many, is the true ally for the reduction of Paris. The leaders, nevertheless, have resolved to push the bombardment the very first instant the guns are ready.

RUMORS OF AN ARMISTICE.

Rumors of an armistice are floating in the air, but they cannot be traced to any reliable source.

THE WAR ON THE LOIRE.

More of the German Occupation of Orleans—Depredation at Beaugency and Meung.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The Germans took 6,000 prisoners at the capture of Orleans. They have taken all the clothing from the shops and wine from the cellars. Bishop DUPANLOUP forbids the ringing of the church bells. Heavy artillery passed on the quays. Permits to cross the river are scrutinizing guarded. The invaders are sweeping the valley of the Loire of cattle, which are sent to the forces around Paris.

BEAUGENCY AND MEUNG.

TOURS, Oct. 22.—Official intelligence is to hand that the Prussians entered Nangis and Montereau today, and that they have disappeared from Meung and Beaugency. A number of Uhlans have been arrested at Beaugency in the disguise of peasants.

THE FRENCH ARMY.

Military Divisions and their Commanders—Administrative Cavalry Quarter-Masters Commanded in the Vosges.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The following new military divisions have been formed in France: Division of the North, Gen. BOURBAKI commanding; head-quarters at Lille. Division of the West, Gen. FIEREO commanding; head-quarters at Mans. Division of the Centre, Gen. POTIER commanding; head-quarters at Bourges. Division of the East, Gen. CARRERES commanding; head-quarters at Besancon. The assizes are to be opened on Nov. 5. Administrative councils are to be established in twenty-two military districts into which France is subdivided. Each council is to contain one civil functionary, who will have sole charge of raising and organizing troops.

GARIBALDI'S COMMAND.

GENOA, Oct. 22.—A letter from the Vosges, in the Movimento (newspaper,) says: GARIBALDI has assumed his command. The first brigade, under Gen. ROSSAZ, contains one regiment of Mobile Guards and one battalion of France-Tireurs, and a large number of Englishmen and Spaniards, commanded by GERREE. The second brigade, under Col. MARIS, is nearly all French. The third, under MENOTTI, GARIBALDI, is made up of one regiment of Mobile Guards, three battalions of Italians, and one battalion of natives of Nice. A company of engineers is attached to each battalion.

MILITARY DECREES.

TOURS, Oct. 22.—The Moniteur continues to publish officially decrees providing for the rapid development of the military forces of France. Large reinforcements have arrived from the south, and the marine infantry and gunners are coming here from Toulon. The National Guards at Lyons are constantly drilling and exercising. A large number of troops will be stationed in intrenched camps, near this city; all will be armed with Chassepots, and thoroughly drilled in the use of them. The War Department is collecting enormous stores of provisions and munitions of war. The citizens of Tours have also been warned to provide themselves with plentiful supplies of the necessaries of life. M. KERATRY started, today, for Brittany, to assume command of the forces of the west.

THE INVADERS.

The German Advance in the North—Response of the Prussians at Hacourt—Bourbaki to Relieve Amiens.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A dispatch from Lille reports that a Prussian advance guard is bivouacked at Rincourt, near St. Quentin, and another body is approaching La Fere.

REPORTED BATTLE.

TOURS, Oct. 23.—An important action is reported in the forest of Hacourt. French scouts belonging to the Ardeche battalion, and the France-Tireurs of Caen, behaved with much gallantry. The Prussian force, consisting of cavalry, infantry and artillery—was repulsed, with the loss of 100 killed. Our casualties were severe. The commander of the troops is among the wounded.

BOURBAKI.

The Moniteur announces today that BOURBAKI, with 20,000 men, is going to Amiens.

A Battle in the Vosges.

TOURS, Oct. 23.—The following dispatches have been received.

BESANCON, Oct. 22.—There was heavy fighting today between Vouay and Cussey, which lasted from 9 o'clock in the morning until night. The result is not known. It is reported that the Zouaves and troops of the Vosges distinguished themselves by making vigorous bayonet charges.

The Reported Revolution in Metz—Operations at Schlestadt.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The rumors of a revolution in Metz, proclamation of the Republic and assassination of BAZAINE are pronounced absurd and without the slightest foundation in fact. A Berlin dispatch says: French deserters from Metz continue to come into our lines in large numbers.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The first parallel against the southern fort of Schlestadt has been opened. It is 600 paces from the work, and has been mounted with thirty-two guns, ready for use. The Prussians lost in its establishment, only three men.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Neutrality of Luxembourg—No Reason to Mistrust the German Confederation—German Affairs—Dissolution of the Diet of Wurtemberg.

LUXEMBOURG, Oct. 23.—Prince HENRY, of Orange, arrived here yesterday, and had an enthusiastic reception. The troops paraded, and addresses were presented to the Prince, who replied by assuring the people that the neutrality of Luxembourg was secure. The demonstration was evidently intended as a protest against the rumors that the people of the Grand Duchy desire to join the German Confederation.

HEALTH OF NAPOLEON.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—The Marquis of GALLIFET has arrived at Wilhelmshoehe. The health of the Emperor is improving. M. BERNHARDI has been summoned to Versailles.

THE DIET OF WURTEMBURG.

STUTTGART, Oct. 23.—In the Lower House of the Diet, yesterday, Minister VON SCHEURLEN made the following statement: "The Government is satisfied that it is following the right path to obtain objects now within reach, and Envoys have been dispatched in pursuit of those objects. But to admit of their attainment the assent of the Legislative is required, and the necessary modifications in the Constitution must be submitted to a new Diet fresh from the people." A decree dissolving the Diet was then read.

A TERRIBLE SCENE.

ROUEN, Sunday night, Oct. 21.—At Ivry la Bataille, in the Department of Eure, the old men, women and children rose against the Prussian troops occupying the place, and a terrible scene ensued. Numbers were killed on both sides, and ambulances have been sent to the relief of the wounded. The Prussians are concentrating at Gisors. Cardinal BONNECHOSE, today, read from the pulpit a protest against the invasion of Rome.

MARSEILLES—EXPULSION OF JESUITS.

MARSEILLES, Oct. 22.—Deferring to the popular desire, M. ESQUIROS continued to act as Prefect of Marseilles. The expulsion of the Jesuits from the city is not revoked.

German Accusations Against the United States Government—A Senator—The Recent Bids for Arms—Aid for German Wounded.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—A gentleman, who is deeply interested in a correct appreciation by the Germans of the attitude of this Government on the matter of the sale and shipment of arms to France, yesterday laid before the President some of the charges of the German Democratic Press of New-York, to the effect that the Government was daily supplying arms in large quantities to French agents, whereupon the President authorized a positive and emphatic denial of the statement. THE GOVERNMENT has sold no arms to either Government or their agents. The policy of selling arms to individuals is not a new thing, but is a matter which has been going on ever since the war closed. A French agent who recently applied to bid was not allowed to do so. The Government sells arms to private individuals, who it has any to dispose of, and they take their own risk of reselling with profit, or exporting on private account, and the exportation of arms and munitions by private individuals cannot be prohibited by this Government. This is the belligerents fully understand.

RE SALE OF ARMS.

On the 24th of October, Baron GEROLT was informed by the North German Consul-General at New-York, that 50,000 muskets and rifles, with their munitions belonging to the United States Government, would be sold, and that proposals for the sale would be received by the Ordnance Bureau on the 1st inst. The Consul stated further that these weapons would be bought on account of the French Government and shipped to France, and could be prevented only by proposals from persons not interested with the French Government. On the same day a German gentleman from a highly respectable house in New-York called on Baron GEROLT, stating that he was desirous of making proposals for the said muskets and rifles, but that not having had any knowledge of the time of sale, he was unprepared to make the necessary arrangements, and, therefore, requested Baron GEROLT to ask for a postponement of the sale for some days. This postponement of the sale was accorded by the Ordnance Bureau from the 1st to the 10th of October, when the proposals were opened. The sale of these arms was made in conformity with the President's neutrality proclamations of the 1st of August and the 5th of October, leaving parts or the whole of these arms and munitions in the hands of the highest bidders.

GERMAN WAR RELIEF FAIR.

The Fair, under the auspices of the patriotic German ladies of Washington, held at the Masonic Hall, was closed last night. The hall was elegantly and tastefully decorated with the national and foreign flags, pictures of German and American notables, evergreens and mottoes. Goods of every description had been made and presented to the Fair. Baron GEROLT presented an autograph letter of HUMBOLDT, and his daughters presented a beautiful doll and a foot-stool. The President visited the Fair on Thursday evening, and took several chances. Secretaries BOUTWELL and BELKNAP sent contributions. A silver cup was presented by S. WOLFE, to be given to that Society receiving the most votes; 3,116 votes at ten cents each were cast, the Washington Schuetzen winning the prize. The Fair has realized over $5,000 for the German war relief fund. The whole movement and management has been conducted by S. WOLFE, Esq., President of the Association.

GOSSIP OF WAR.

The Intended Bombardment of Paris—Its Results—England's Position—Correspondent's Work—Matters in the French Capital—Outside Hostilities—British Neutrality.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Saturday, Oct. 8, 1870.

The bombardment of Paris is expected to begin before this letter can reach you. The artillery which crushed or burned five hundred buildings in Strasbourg—which not only demolished streets, but whole quarters of the city, has been sent, partly to Metz, partly to Paris. Krupp guns of from 10 to 14 inches calibre are on their way. It is even said that the very gun which was the wonder of the Paris Exhibition is coming again to batter down or set on fire the city which then gave it a hospitable welcome. From the commanding heights south-west of Paris these guns, it is believed, can reach the Tuileries and Louvre, and be able to destroy all that lies south of the Seine. The French are doing all they can to protect the treasures of the Louvre; and some of the great libraries are buried in cellars. The season advances; the Prussians will not lose time. Before beginning a siege they will try the effect of a bombardment. This measure of terror, this war on women and children, did no good at Strasbourg or Toul; it has done no good at Metz or Phalsbourg. But in a city of more than a million of inhabitants it may be different. The Savans have protested, connoisseurs have protested, but the Government expects the bombardment. M. FAVRE asked only that notice might be given. M. BISMARCK refused. The first notice will probably be a shell of 300 pounds bursting in the heart of Paris, and spreading a circle of destruction and death around it.

RESULTS.

It is useless to predict the result of the investment, bombardment, or siege of Paris. I have said, if France is in earnest; if we have not been utterly mistaken as to the spirit of the French people, their military genius, their power of rapid organization; if a nation of forty millions, with abundant resources, is not utterly demoralized, this invasion can still be hurled back, and the defense of Paris may be the turning point of the war. France—the seven-eighths of France as yet untouched by a hostile foot—ought to come to the relief of Paris. With four hundred thousand armed men inside, and as many more outside, the conquest of Paris ought to be impossible. But it must be confessed that we have as yet no evidence of military genius, or organizing power. The lawyers and politicians who are trying to govern France are doing their best, no doubt; but there is little evidence of success. There are vague accounts of great enthusiasm, a general rising, thousands of Gardes Mobile moving this way and that, but there is no account of an army ready to take the field and march to raise the siege of Paris. There is no effort to release the army of BAZAINE, still fighting outside the walls of Metz. Where is the Army of the Loire? No doubt, there are a million of men south of the Loire who ask nothing better than to be led against the enemy, if they had but Generals to lead them. There may be no lack of rifles; there are houses enough for a formidable cavalry. The greatest want may be that of field artillery; and this, we are told, is being supplied. But army, in the proper sense of the word, I fear there is none, except that of BAZAINE. If so, the fall of Metz and Paris is but a question of days. Lyons and the towns of the South can be no better defended. France will be at the mercy of the invader.

ENGLAND'S POSITION.

The Times of yesterday publishes two letters—one from an Englishman residing in Germany, the other from a Belgian residing in France. The Englishman testifies to the bitter feeling of the Germans against England, for not preventing the war, in the first place, and for not taking part in it on the side of Germany when it had begun. Every wounded German believes that he has been shot with an English rifle. England has no longer a friend in Europe. The Belgian is equally grieved that England has not interfered in behalf of France, her only ally. He asserts and offers to furnish proof of the atrocities committed by the Germans. He warns England that Holland and Belgium will be annexed to Germany, and that Russia is preparing for the conquest of Turkey and India. And this, says the Times, is the reward of our honest neutrality. The life of an Englishman is not safe at Paris, and it is rendered very uncomfortable in Germany. If Germany and France were to become allies, one of the conditions of the alliance would be that they should unite to punish England for refusing to help either of them in their war with each other.

CORRESPONDENTS' WORK.

The Times holds that the war has lost all its interest. It is now but a weariness and a disgust. The curtain should have fallen at the capitulation of Sedan and the capture of the Emperor. Dr. RUSSELL has been snubbed with a point-blank contradiction by BISMARCK, and has gone off to Strasbourg. He got the Emperor and the King of Prussia into a room alone, with the Crown Prince keeping guard outside the door, and then went on to tell what they said to each other, and how they looked, and how the Emperor started back and turned pale with consternation—all of which was, Count BISMARCK very needlessly says, a pure invention. Dr. RUSSELL has written a novel, and remained a good deal besides. And why wouldn't he? When a man is paid fifty pounds a week and his expenses he ought to do something for his money. By the way, the correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, whom I left in Metz—the gate being shut very close behind me—has sent out a letter to his wife by balloon. They do not seem to have made balloons large enough these to carry our men as well as letters; but it is evident that the whole staff of Marshal BAZAINE could get out if they chose to do so, as Marshal DECROT is said to have left Paris. Of late carrier pigeons have been taken out of Paris by the balloons, which also bring thousands of private letters, and the pigeons will safely take news from Tours or any part of France into Paris.

ANXIETIES IN PARIS.

From private as well as Press letters by balloon from Paris, we learn that the forces in the city are augmenting daily, until nearly the whole male population is under arms. There are 450,000 Chassepots, and munitions in abundance. The chemicals of the city are made into all sorts of hideous instruments of destruction, and not only the walls and barricades, but the houses are furnished with infernal machines to rain death on the invaders; who, on their part, are likely to throw their shells and combustibles from a safe distance. There are engines to put out fires, which can also be used to defend breaches or barricades with streams of burning petroleum. One chemist is making great numbers of a lovely machine he calls Pluie de Mitre—a devil rocket which covers half an acre of ground with a solid sheet of fire. From all accounts it would seem that a good degree of order and discipline has been effected, and the best opinion now seems to be that the people have come to that state of rage and exaltation in which heroic defenses are possible. It is ascertained that there are provisions enough for certainly three months. A portion of these may be destroyed by the bombardment. But when the troops come to the proper condition for effective sallies, it may be possible to interfere with this bombardment. A vigorous assault of such numbers might carry the works of the besiegers. You see that I do not give up the possibility of the defense of Paris, nor that the victorious career of Prussia may terminate in a great disaster. If America were in the condition of France, I should feel very sure that something would happen to her invaders. But then, I must confess that my sympathies are generally with the unfortunate. I think the general feeling in England is now that so strongly expressed by the Spectator, that this war on the part of Prussia has now become one of aggression, which for the safety of Europe ought to be checked—only, "Who shall bell the cat?" has become a very serious question. England can do nothing alone, and England has not an ally in the world. The talk of a levee en masse in France, is talk only. The Mobiles of the Class of 1869 have not yet been called out, nor the men of the Cadres of the unmarried from twenty-five to thirty years. These two classes will give 400,000, which, with those now under arms, will make one million. There is no lack of men nor means in France—the evident want is the talent to use them effectively. The local authorities in various Departments have voted large sums for the purchase of arms. This was no sooner done than Prussian agents started from England to get contracts for supplying them—contracts which will never be fulfilled, but which will hinder others.

OUTSIDE HOSTILITIES.

The peasants along the Prussian lines, between Nancy and Bar-le-Duc, daily attack provision and ambulance trains, unless they are strongly guarded, and sometimes succeed in carrying off several wagons. The woods along the route have been searched in vain for them. If this should grow, a very large force will be required to secure the safety of the communications. The Prussians, no doubt, are doing their best. Two Mayors who would not, perhaps could not, raise the money required of them, one hundred thousand francs in one case, were taken out and shot, and the same punishment is inflicted on all who in any way try to defend themselves or annoy the invaders. This seems rather sharp practice, but it is war as understood by the most civilized nations. The people have fair warning, and know the penalty of resistance. It must be said, in justice, that, as a rule, the discipline and conduct of the Germans are admirable; but it is none the less true that the people are stripped to the point of starvation, and, if they resist, are shot without mercy. If the war goes on it must grow more and more ferocious. The France-Tireurs shoot down German officers; they, if taken, are shot without mercy. We read of a corps dressed in black, with a black flag and a death's head, moving in perfect silence, all orders being given by signal. The Germans put their prisoners in front to protect themselves; they employ the peasants on their works around Paris, so that the French artillerists are obliged to fire on their own fellow-citizens. And they will not hesitate to kill ten thousand of the women and children of Paris to hasten its surrender. And I am told that this is quite justifiable, and in accordance with the rules of civilized warfare.

BRITISH NEUTRALITY.

According to the Daily News, the French Government is buying great quantities of arms, ammunition, clothing, &c., in London. They pay cash down and any price required. The Prussians are also buying tons of blankets, as if they expected to spend the Winter in France. The Times is curious to see whether Prussia will make any protest against the export of arms, &c., from America. Five million pounds of gunpowder is the amount of our English order—and the market is swept of every sort of firearm. In the meantime Birmingham has gone to work on heavy orders from Russia. It is to be murder en masse!

MONADNOCK.

The German Fair.

The German Fair continues to be patronized by all classes. Germans and Americans. The Thirty-seventh Regiment Armory, where the Fair is held, continues to be the centre of attraction every evening, and the success of the noble undertaking is fully assured. A valuable gold singer's badge will be disposed of by a vote to one of the German musical societies, and will be secured either by the Liederkranz or Arion. Votes are taken under the supervision of Mrs. ROSANG, wife of the Consul-General, and at last accounts the Arion was ahead of the Liederkranz. This affair excites considerable interest among the German vocalists.

The St. Clair Flats Canal—Amusements Countenanced by the Mass.

The Detroit Post of the 21st inst. says:

"The Eastern papers are devoting considerable space and attention to the 'excitement in Michigan' over the hoax about the seizure of the St. Clair Flats Canal. There is much more excitement in New-York and Washington than there is in the part of the country. The Government, it is said, is quite surprised, if not worried, because nothing more can be heard in regard to the affair. But there is nothing more to hear. There was nothing to it in the first place, and 'out of nothing, nothing is made.' The moment it appeared we ascertained that the story was false, and a telegraphic message was prepared in the office of the Post, for the Associated Press, denying the rumor. For some reason, this dispatch was not published in any of the newspapers east of Cleveland, and hence the people in that section are puzzling and worrying themselves over an event that never occurred."

GENERAL TELEGRAMS.

GENERAL EUROPEAN NEWS.

Rumor of a Defensive Alliance Between Turkey and Greece—French Troops Sent to Martinique—British Troops Leaving India for China—Demolition of the Lafayette.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—It is rumored that a defensive alliance has been formed between Turkey and Greece against the microcephalonts of the Western Powers....Greek merchants at Marseilles send heavy orders to the Levant for grain deliverable in January....The gunboat Dryade leaves Toulon immediately for the Antilles, taking out a force of bay marine infantry.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—A dispatch from Bombay announces that troops are leaving Madras for China.

HAVRE, Oct. 23.—The steamer Lafayette was detained here two days beyond her sailing day (Thursday) by stormy weather.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

Italian Celebration—Fracture on the North Pacific Railroad—Crew of the Continental.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—The Italian Republicans, last night, celebrated by a banquet the occupation of Rome by the Italian Government. The Garibaldi Association also celebrated the event by a military and civic procession and literary exercises....City Gardener WM. WARE declines the Democratic candidacy for Governor in the ensuing campaign....The North Pacific Railroad is completed to Santa Rosa....The United States steamer Oneida, from Mexican ports, arrived here to-night, with the remainder of the crew of the foundered steamer Continental.

THE SOUTH.

Alabama State Fair—Population of Louisiana—Yellow Fever—Marine Disasters in Southern Waters.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 23.—To insure the success of the Fair of the Alabama Agricultural and Mechanical Association, to be held in this city from the 16th to the 21st of November inclusive, a company has been promptly formed by substantial citizens on basis of the capital stock of $100,000, with a guarantee of more liberal premiums than any other association. The grounds and buildings, now nearly complete, will speedily be put in thorough order, with ample accommodations for stock, and with a mile track of superior character. Gen. JOHN B. GORDON, of Georgia, has been invited to deliver the opening address.

NEW-ORLEANS, Oct. 23.—The total population of Louisiana is 717,026, an increase since 1860 of over 5,000....The deaths here from yellow fever were eleven....The Galveston authorities have removed the quarantine against New-Orleans, and intercourse by rail and steamers has been resumed....Capt. POTTER, of the bark Alaska, from Havana, reports that the British steamship Sapphire stranded on a Florida reef and became a total loss. All hands were saved....The American brig Francis E. Allen had entered the port of Havana dismasted.

South Carolina Election—Unofficial Returns—Gov. Scott Probably Re-Elected—Colored Congressmen from Two Districts.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 23.—No official returns of the election, last week, will be obtained before Wednesday next. Unofficial returns, believed to be trustworthy, indicate the re-election of Gov. SCOTT by a largely reduced majority. ELLIOT, colored Republican, is probably elected to Congress from the Third District. RAINEY, colored Republican, certainly succeeds WHITEMORE as Representative for the First District. In the Second district the contest between BOWEN and DELARGE is still doubtful. In the Fourth District, MCKISSICK, the Reform candidate, is probably elected. The Reformers elect about a third of the Legislature.

Expulsion from a Racing Association—Election of the Locomotive Brotherhood—Expulsion Party in Georgia.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 23.—The Nashville Blood Horse Association have expelled E. A. SMITH, of Cincinnati, from the privileges of the course. He was charged with fraud and collusion in permitting his horse Regent, the favorite, to be distanced on the fourth day of the races, at the last meeting.

The International Division of the Locomotive Brotherhood have elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Charles Wilson, G. C. E.; G. H. Sherman, F. G. E.; J. Pearson, S. G. E.; Chas. Fellows, T. G. E.; P. M. Arthur, S. G. A. E.; J. A. Adrick, T. G. G. E.; F. P. Fisher, G. G., and J. Ray, G. C.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 22.—The St. Louis and Iron Mountain excursion party arrived here to-night in forty-six hours' running time, bringing a train through without change. The party are well, and will go to Charleston to-morrow.

FIRES.

Barrel Factory Burned at Cleveland, Ohio—Saw-Mill at Harrisburg, Penn.—Fire in a Poor-House—One of the Inmates Burned to Death.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 23.—The Barrel Factory of Messrs. W. S. THATCHER & SON, in this city, was destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $25,000 in stock, machinery and buildings. Insurance, $12,000, in the Home and Easton Companies.

HARRISBURG, Penn., Oct. 23—The large saw-mill belonging to Messrs. BIGLER & SONS, was burned last evening. Loss $16,000; fully insured.

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 23.—The Poor Asylum at Woodstock was burned on Saturday morning at 2 o'clock. A pauper named HUBBARD BARTHOLOMEW was burned to death, while in bed. The cause of the fire is unknown. Loss $2,500; insured for $1,000.

Accident in Maine—One Man Killed and Three Injured by the Caving in of an Embankment.

WALDOBORO', Me., Oct. 23.—This morning about 9 o'clock a sad accident occurred in this town, on the Knox and Lincoln Railroad. A bank caved in burying four men who were at work making an excavation. E. CONGDON, of Friendship, Me., was crushed by a rock weighing a ton and a half, so that he lived but a few moments. S. CONGDON, his brother, had his back broken, and will probably die. JAMES WHITE, of Nova Scotia, had his thigh broken. JAMES DONOVAN had his leg and arm badly fractured, the latter requiring amputation near the shoulder joint. Both CONGDONS are married men, with families. WHITE and DONOVAN are unmarried.

The Loss of the Cambria.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Oct. 23.—Among the passengers supposed to have gone down with the ill-fated steam-ship Cambria, off the Irish coast, were WM. BINGHAM, Jr., his wife and two children, JOHN HOBSON and wife, and Miss E. H. PURSY, the former of this city, and the latter two of Allegheny.

Miscellaneous Telegrams.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 23.—BENJAMIN WISEWELL, an Englishman, twenty-five years old, was stabbed by his wife's brother, FRANCIS DORAN, an Irishman, and died before he could be reached by a physician. Both men were drunk. At this hour—midnight—the murderer has not been arrested. The murder is said to be the result of a long-standing quarrel. DORAN attempted to kill WISEWELL once before.

HELENA, Montana, Oct. 23.—CHAS. YOUNG, a Canadian, was shot by JAMES MCGREGOR, on the 21st, at Louisville, Montana. YOUNG is not expected to recover....There was about two inches of ice in the street today. It is freezing hard this evening; thermometer 30°.

STRINGTOWN, Mass., Oct. 23.—Another slight shock was felt here at 5¼ this morning, supposed to be an earthquake.

WASHINGTON.

Senator Morton and the English Mission—Mr. Delano and his Successor—Gen. Cox's Letter of Resignation—Rice and Sea Warnings—Disorders in South Carolina—Various Matters.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Senator MORTON is expected here to-morrow, and the question whether he goes to England or not will be decided at once. Several gentlemen who have conversed with him recently at Indianapolis are certain that he is not going. The suspense cannot be of much longer duration.

MR. DELANO AND HIS SUCCESSOR.

There is nothing new in the matter of the successor to Mr. DELANO as Commissioner of Internal Revenue, there being no longer any doubt of the latter's acceptance of the Interior Department. The President is believed to have decided the question in his own mind, but has not indicated the result, so far as can be learned. The whole matter is a very simple and very quiet one, and does not by any means justify the sensational dispatches which have been sent from here on the subject.

GEN. COX'S LETTER OF RESIGNATION.

There being a dispute about the character of Gen. COX's letter of resignation, and the President's reply thereto, it would be best settled by making them public as early as practicable. This is about the only unpublished piece of news in Washington, and the demand for it is very active.

BARZ AND SAN DOMINGO.

The alleged flight or assassination of BARZ, President of San Domingo, must have better foundation than is alleged, if it is to be taken as true. He may have fled, but not because there has been any abandonment by the United States of the position it has maintained in those waters. All the protectorate ever extended was by virtue of the provisions of the treaty for the lease of Samana Bay, under which the flag floats on the peninsula and two war vessels cruise in Dominican waters. These vessels are still there and there is no other protection or protectorate whatever. It does not, of course, extend to interference in domestic dissensions, and if BARZ has come to his end it is not because of anything this Government has done or not done.

OUTBREAK IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Gov. SCOTT, of South Carolina, telegraphs to the Secretary of War that an outbreak had occurred at Laurens Court-house on Thursday last. A band of ex-rebel whites, in the interest of the so-called Reform Party, attacked and destroyed the ballot-boxes of the election of the day previous and shot three officers of the State Police. Gov. SCOTT asks for support from the United States, and Gen. TERRY being apprised of the facts, replies that he will support the Executive of the State with any military aid he may require to restore order. The result of the recent election will be made known on Tuesday.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

AMOUNT OF FREE MAIL MATTER.

A number of clerks are employed under the direction of Gen. TERR

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN CATTLE DOCTOR. By FRANCIS CLATER. Entirely rewritten to the present date by GEORGE ARMITAGE. London: FREDERICK WARNE & CO. New-York: SCRIBNER, WELFORD & CO.

This book, as its title implies, is a description of the various diseases of cattle, with the most approved mode of cure, stated in popular language, so that the ordinary reader may comprehend it, and may be able to carry out its directions without calling for professional help. It is profusely illustrated, covers the entire range of the subject, and, while scientific in its treatment, is readily understood by the common mind. It is altogether a timely and valuable work, as the fine animals which have of late years been largely imported into this country are more liable to disease than the coarser and commoner varieties, which were generally raised when our resources were less developed. If there is any evil that the owner of cattle or horses suffers under, it is the necessity of occasionally employing the veterinary doctor. Of the latter it is almost universally to be said that his knowledge is ignorance and his experience prejudice, while his charges are so high that it is cheaper to cut the throat of an animal than to let it pass into his hands. Such uneducated quacks usually do more harm than good, but if the owner of a favorite horse, or fine cow, is totally unacquainted with the diseases of such creatures he must send for the "vet." If they fall sick. But let this same owner have a proper medical work on hand, and he only has to consult its pages to know far more of every species of illness than the pretended horse or cow doctor. YOUATT has done much to save the horse, as well as to protect his master's pocket, and Mr. ARMITAGE, by his assistance to FRANCIS CLATER, promises to do as much for the cow and her owner.

We shall not undertake to follow the course of the work, or discuss the diseases of which it treats, we can only say of them that little or nothing seems to be omitted, but the remarks on epizootic, or contagious affections, are so interesting that we feel inclined to refer to them more in detail. The subject of the rinderpest has been lately pressed upon public attention by the ravages which this fell pestilence caused in Europe and England during the last few years; and, as there is danger of its importation into our country, any means that have been found valuable in its suppression or exclusion are well worth considering. Our author has an exhaustive article on the matter, and his conclusion is, that while the mortality is great, averaging from sixty to ninety-five per cent., curative medicine is entirely worthless, and the only mode of treating it is by repressive measures. He says that it is imported invariably from foreign countries; that it originates in Asia; that while in time it may become domesticated like some cognate diseases, such as aphtha and pleuro-pneumonia, it has not yet located itself permanently in Great Britain. His recommendations are, therefore, that great care should be taken in the importation of foreign cattle; that these should be quarantined for a time until any poison in the system should have had time to develop itself. For, unfortunately, the evil is contagious before it gives any outward signs of its existence, and does not establish itself for several weeks after the animal is really attacked by it. During this time, although it exists, it is breeding or disease, and, if medicine could reach it, there is no outward proof of its existence. It is no new disease, although not known in Great Britain for many years before the late attack, and it seems to follow the train of great armies, or to attain its greatest virulence in the misery which war creates. The first records of its ravages were in 1326, but during the last two hundred years the destruction caused by this pest is almost fabulous. From 1709 to 1717 more than 70,000 cattle perished in the Kingdom of Naples, and throughout Europe 1,500,000. In 1713 the plague visited England, but was arrested quickly, and only caused the death of 9,000 cattle. For thirty years, from 1730 to 1760, its ravages were terrible, and it is estimated that 80,000,000 cattle perished in Europe. In 1776, in Holland alone, 376,441 died, and in the Napoleon wars, during the latter part of the same century, fresh holocausts of victims were sacrificed. In Egypt it appeared in 1842-3, and destroyed 350,000 victims, and finally England was invaded in 1865-7.

Fortunately for our people the period of incubation, during which no appreciable signs of the disease are manifest, and which always precedes this, in common with other epizootic affections, never exceeds fourteen days, and may not be more than twenty-four hours. So it is probable that the Atlantic voyage is an effectual bar against its importation into this country, if the commonest care is taken to watch the first symptoms of trouble, and to strictly isolate all unhealthy animals. As the pest is not an epidemic, and the injury would at first fall upon the importer, the law of selfishness will, it is to be hoped, bring about this result, and thus save our country from the invasion of so terrible and destructive a malady. The loss in Great Britain and Ireland for the year 1869 was computed at £3,500,000, or nearly $20,000,000, and our author quotes figures to show that the loss by disease imported with foreign cattle is greater than the entire value of the cattle imported. It is certainly of the utmost importance that this plague should be excluded from our shores.

DICKENS' NOVELS. Illustrated Household Edition: PICKWICK PAPERS, BARNABY RUDGE, HARD TIMES, CHRISTMAS BOOKS, SKETCHES BY BOZ, TALE OF TWO CITIES and GREAT EXPECTATIONS. 4 volumes. Boston: FIELDS, OSGOOD & CO. 1870.

These compact and tastefully got-up volumes form an installment of the newest popular edition of the works of an author whose freshness will be perennial for at least a few generations to come. For the shelves of the family library, the form and type are alike well suited, while the illustrations are very clever realizations of the familiar ideals of the characters of DICKENS.

PRESBYTERIAN REUNION. A Memorial Volume, 1837-70. New-York: DE WITT C. LEST & CO. 1870.

This volume covers the period of thirty-three years that elapsed between the divergence of the old and new school parties of the Presbyterian Church, and their union in a common fold once more. It includes historical reviews of both sections, together with biographical sketches of the leading men of either branch; it details the preliminaries of reunion, and ends with a review of various vital points affecting the future of the Church. The names of Drs. MILLER, STRAHNS, SPRAGUE, HUMPHREY, ADAMS, PRUDDEN and HALL, who are among the authors of the various departments of the book, present a sufficient guarantee for their merit and authority.

THE LIFE AND BEAUTIES OF SHAKESPEARE. From the approved selections of WM. DODD, LL. D. Printed in raised letters. Philadelphia: The National Association for Publishing Literary and Musical Works for the Blind. 1870.

This volume forms a very seasonable addition to the still rather meagre stock of embossed literature for the blind. The selections are made from eighteen of the most celebrated of the plays of the "poet of all time." The publishers state that "scarcely two pages of the immortal bard have ever been printed in raised letters," so that the volume is in its way unique both in character and value. The price at which it is sold "scarcely represents the cost of printing and paper, the types, material and working capital being furnished by generous subscriptions," so that in cheapness the book is an equally remarkable boon to an afflicted class.

THE THEOLOGY OF CHRIST: From His own Words. By JOSEPH P. THOMPSON. New-York: CHARLES SCRIBNER & CO. 1870.

In these days, when there is an imperative necessity for every Christian being able to render a reason for the faith that is in him, a volume like the present is of great value. The most able attacks that have lately been made upon Christianity have proceeded upon the assumption that the doctrine of its founder constitute a very different system of belief from that which grew out of the Apostolic and Patristic interpretation of them. The author of the present treatise sets out, not with the purpose of wresting the life of Christ, but "to evolve, directly and exclusively from His own words, the doctrine that He taught." He rightly concludes that such an attempt is new in English literature, and we believe that the reader will be equally ready to concede that the author has been successful in the further attempt to keep "his book free from any unconscious bias of preconceived opinions or beliefs, as it is from the terminology of any theological system or school." As an attempt to meet the adverse criticism of modern scholarship upon its own grounds, the work cannot fail to be welcomed by that important class of reflective and earnest Christians who desire to see their faith keep abreast of the intellectual activity of the age.

MARGUERITE KENT. A Novel. By MARION W. WALKE. Philadelphia: J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO. 1870.

A curious mixture of original vigor and verbal extravagance. In one place the author exhibits a refinement of taste evidently nurtured by a wide and varied amount of reading; in another there is a girlish crudity of thought and sentiment which stamp the whole production as amateurish and unfinished. Here are two gar lands of wondrous verbiage culled at random from the pages before us:

"Deeper than his some physical suffering, my sad eyes saw the ashing of a cancerous wound, and from his words, wildly incoherent at times, I soon learned to know that even in that beautiful Southern city, the fairest jewel in the blue waters's diadem, in its heyday of hope, was nestled by sleep in the cradle of the earth, under its blanket of seething lava, so the fabric of a noble soul, unsuspecting of treachery, with the philosophic delight of PLINY, steadying his heart against all fear of the small cloud just rising into view, suddenly came to a dread awakening that the heart of his joy was darkly foul, breathing forth mephitic vapors, suffocating unto the soul's death."

After this, Sir BOYLE ROACH'S famous metaphor, "Lamell a rat, I see it floating in the air, I shall nip it in the bud," is congruity itself. A good deal must, however, be pardoned to a writer who can imagine a boudoir like this for a Boston belle:

"A bow-window retreat, hung with pale green satin, where, reclining in her soft white muslin dress, symbolically robed with Valentinois lace, sparkling with great satin stars, she looked like Venus Anadyomene floating on sea-water ambrosia; Here Narcissus like, she could lie, with intolerable mirrors flashing back the exquisite symmetry of the sublime, surrounded by Parian marbles, of Copeland's Majolica, of Daveze's Beatrice, on pedestals of pale green satin, medallioned with porcelain rosebuds and ivy, while to the window stood jardinières full of flowers and enchanting vases, and on the softly-tinted walls hung pictures of emerald-tinted icebergs, some spirituelle Watteaus and a pastoral Charlet."

THREE YEARS IN THE SIXTH CORPS. By GEORGE T. STEVENS, Surgeon of the Seventy-seventh Regiment New-York Volunteers. Second Edition. New-York: D. VAN NOSTRAND. 1870.

The previous edition of Dr. STEVENS' popular contribution to our military annals has been successful enough to demand the issue of a fresh one. This, the author states, "has been entirely revised," and many valuable additions have been made by Gens. WRIGHT, NEWTON, and HALDY SMITH. A number of steel portraits of distinguished Generals connected with the corps serve also to give new value and attractiveness to the work.

BOYS' SEARCH, OR LOST IN THE CARS. By HENRY G. PARKER. New-York: National Temperance Society. 1870.

A story with a moral, but not of the obtrusive, sermonizing kind that is apt to repel the juvenile reader. There is a healthy freshness and vigor about the narrative that will commend it to the class for whom it is intended, and will also make its moral influence more distinctly felt and appreciated.

THE STRUGGLE IN FERRARA. A Story of the Reformation in Italy. By WILLIAM GILMORE. Philadelphia: J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO. 1871.

This is a very neatly got-up reprint of a popular book. The history of the brief gleam of Protestant fervor in the Italian Duchy of the sixteenth century is well told, and the details of contemporary life and manners filled in with a good deal of picturesque vigor and variety.

—Nast's Illustrated Almanac for 1871 is just published. It is full of grotesque and very comical drawings, caricatures and silhouette figure designs, by the well-known artist whose name it bears. Of course, the usual calendar and other almanac information is given. There are, also, many humorous poems, histories, &c., among which is "A Dream of the Period" when prominent "women wore pantaloons," and "men divine wore silks and ribbons, curls and crinoline," accompanied with a profusion of characteristic illustrations. The book is a very amusing one altogether.

—Josh Billings' "Farmer's Allmanac" contains some good specimens of the author's peculiar style of humor and philosophy. In a series of shrewd maxims on each page of the calendar he inculcates many a lesson of wordly and unwordly wisdom, and there are a variety of disquisitions which have their moral, while they provoke a smile by their caustic oddity.

MAGAZINES FOR NOVEMBER.

—Lippincott's Magazine.—Among the changes which necessarily follow the late war and resulting work of reconstruction, is the disappearance of that large class in the Southern States called "poor whites," "crackers," or some such name, according to locality. The "Cracker," or in full "Corn-cracker," is the subject of an article by J. H. BRADFORD, in which that curious poor white man of Georgia and Florida is happily described. The article is timely and its information will be new to many readers. "A Polyglot Empire," by STEPHEN POWERS, discourses with ability upon that mosaic of nationalities, Austria, and the numberless political parties into it is are sub-divided. The writer conceives that the condition of the Empire conveys a lesson for ourselves, in regard to the possible grouping apart of foreign peoples, at some future day, within this Republic. A very interesting paper, by E. L. DIDIER, gives an historical sketch of the Commonwealth of Maryland and the family of its founder, GEORGE CALVERT, afterward Lord BALTIMORE. "The Stone Annals of the Past," by CHARLES MORRIS, is a popular essay upon the ruins which in so many parts of the world are the sole records of vanished nations, of whom no history tells, and scarcely even tradition speaks. There are other contents of this month's Lippincott which are well worth reading, to say nothing of some pleasant fiction and poetry, and a further installment of ANTHONY TROLLOPE'S novel, "Sir Harry Hotspur."

—The Atlantic Monthly offers a good selection of matter. Mr. T. W. HIGGINSON gossips pleasantly, to begin with, on "Footpaths" that "take us nearest both to nature and to men." "Highly Explosive," by JAMES G. AUMER, conducts us to the interior of a powder-mill and describes all the various processes and operations there in a clear manner, besides tracing the history of gunpowder and its manufacture in various countries. "Fechter as Hamlet," is by Miss KATE FIELD. It is a critical tribute to that great actor, is a part that has been more discussed and studied than any of SHAKESPEARE'S creations. The essay is certainly able and discriminative. The second and concluding part of "Four Months with Charles Dickens," in 1842, gives some additional details of the great author's visit to this country in that year, which will, of course, be acceptable to everybody. "The Intellectual Influence of Music," by John S. Dwight, is an examination of the meaning of music as it appeals to the inner consciousness, and of why it is a universal language, "and, above all, the language, so to speak, of the religious sentiment." The paper is extremely well informed, and extremely suggestive besides. BAYARD TAYLOR'S "Joseph and His Friend" reaches the eleventh chapter, and the author contributes a charming poem, "A November Pastoral." We need not add, more of the Atlantic than that there are other papers of interest besides those named, and that the entire number is quite up to the usual high standard.

—The American Presbyterian Review contains the concluding part of Prof. HAMILTON'S "New Analysis in Fundamental Morals." "The Song of Songs," by Rev. ISAAC BELET, is a critical essay upon the author, name, canonicity, and history of interpretation of the book of Solomon. Rev. E. H. GILLETT contributes an essay on "Papal Infallibility and the Nineteenth Century." The Writer concludes that Rome, or rather the Roman Church, [illegible] the Ecumenical Council, and the proclamation of infallibility, [illegible] Present danger [illegible] Akin [illegible] which contain an account of the proceedings of the Council. These were published in the Allgemeine Zeitung, of Antwerp, from some secret source within the Council itself. They are, to say the least, of very remarkable interest, not only from an historic, but a theological point of view. There are several other articles which will add their own best recommendation to the circle of readers of the Review.

—The Phrenological Journal & Packard's Monthly purches the even tenor of its way, giving numerous and fairly clever articles on its special class of subjects. GEO. W. BUNGAY has a spirited and truth-telling poem, "The Bells of Nations," and S. S. RANDALL contributes the third of his readable series of "The Governors of New-York," WILLIAM H. SEWARD being the subject of the present sketch.

—The Herald of Health presents several items of interest, from the pens of Mr. BERGHER, C. H. BERNHAM, Dr. LYDIA F. FOWLER, and others, concerning more particulars of which we refer our readers to the journal itself.

—The Monitour de la Mode is, owing to the investment of Paris, temporarily suspended. M. BOUTET, the agent for the United States for this publication, announces that subscribers will be entitled to an extra term, to begin with the first number after resumption, as an equivalent for their payments.

—Old and New prints M. LABOULAYE'S remarkable paper on the medical practice in the French Army and in that of the United States. The article was prophetic of dangers to the French which have since been fully realized. The future student of the war will find it valuable, as partly accounting for the disasters which have followed, in almost unbroken succession, since NAPOLEON first took the field. "The Science and Learning of the Vatican," by C. F. WINSLOW, discusses the spirit of the Roman Church toward science and literature, and its avowed purposes. "The Wall in the Pean" is an eloquent poetical lament for unhappy France, by JULIA WARD HOWE. Mrs. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE'S "Pink and White Tyranny" continues with sustained interest. "Quaker Chemists," by F. W. CLARK, is suggestive. "Suffrage and Education," by S. F. MCCLEARY, discusses a proposal to abolish even the slight educational restriction upon the suffrage in that State, the wisdom of which the writer doubts. The remaining contents of this number are varied and readable.

—Good Health is a useful magazine, devoted to physical and mental culture, and gives, in a popular form, a great deal of valuable information. An article on Cataract may be specially noted. It is by Dr. B. JOY JEFFRIES, of Boston.

CURRENT NOTES.

The Leader is the name of a new evening paper published at Pittsburg, Penn.

Springfield, Mass., has had an increase of crime during the past year.

The miniature ship City of Rogues, recently paid a visit to Fall River, Mass., on her way to this City.

The Housatonic dam to Birmingham, Conn., now finished, and the largest in the State, cost $600,000.

Immigrants, in large numbers, continue to pass through Illinois, on their way to settlements along the line of the Pacific Railroad.

The water in the river near Troy is in such a low state at present that several steam-boats have recently gone aground in that vicinity.

A married octogenarian of Winona, Minn., has committed the horrid crime of eloping with a young Miss of fourteen.

A society was lately established in Nebraska for the purpose of encouraging immigration into that State from Europe.

The small-pox prevails to quite an alarming extent in very many of the towns of Michigan.

A Convention of the Congregational Churches of Connecticut will assemble at New-London on the 1st of November.

A fiendish attempt was recently made by an insane woman at Cincinnati to murder the wife and child of her brother.

JOHN O'NEIL, a deacon, of Argyle, in this State, is said to have eloped with the niece of his wife.

Searsport, Me., has erected a soldiers' monument, to commemorate the services of thirty-seven of its citizens, who fell during the late rebellion.

A gentleman of Barbour County, Ala., who has a prejudice against the ordinary mode of burial, has ordered a marble coffin for his remains.

A Sheriff in Minnesota was called upon, last week, to perform the very disagreeable duty of arresting his own son, and lodging him in prison, for murdering a prominent citizen.

The club-room lately established at Boston, under the auspices of Miss JENNIE COLLINS, for the benefit of the working girls of that city, has been named "Boffin's Bower."

The prisoners confined in the Minnesota State Jail danced and sang, the other day, to disarm suspicion, while eight of their number contrived to escape.

Mr. JOHN SHELDON, a farmer of Oswego County, has recently been engaged in digging a second crop of potatoes from the same piece of land, this year.

A strong-minded young lady of Corydon, Ind., who was set upon by a scoundrel while on her way home, a few evenings since, demonstrated her right to the franchise by striking out one of his eyes with her parasol.

Mr. EZRA DOW, of Weare, N. H., finds comfort in the possession of an old pewter platter that was being set upon the table for supper by his grandmother, at the time she was struck and killed by lightning, many years ago.

A gentleman, who resides in Jennings County, Indiana was astonished last week by the announcement that he had been bequeathed $2,000 by a man with whom he had been at daggers points for upward of twenty years.

A melancholy scene was witnessed at the railroad depot in Oshkosh, Wis., the other evening. A young man who had left the city four days previously on his wedding tour, had returned with the dead body of his bride, and was assisting to remove it from the train to a hearse.

An Italian organ-grinder, fourteen years of age, who had been carried away from Piedmont, four years ago, was recently discovered by his mother in Bath, Me., after she had come from Italy and wandered over several States in search of him.

A special correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says that the coal taken from a mine located half way between San Francisco and Omaha, and approached by the Pacific Railroad, produces 10,000 feet of gas to the ton; being 1,000 more than has been obtained from the Pittsburg coal.

Mrs. GRANDFINE, the wife of Dr. GALLERTRIES, who shot and killed Dr. JONES at Cleveland, Ohio, some short time since, says that when the case comes to trial she will prove that every effort was made on her part to keep the deceased from her room.

MARY ANN ALLEN is the name of a young woman who has earned burglar at Dayton, Ohio. She was arrested while in the act of breaking into a drug-store. One of the ablest women's rights journals in the country is published in Ohio.

A young lady in Quincy, Ill., who had traveled from Indiana in quest of a husband, became discouraged a few days ago, and attempted to put an end to her life with a bell-rope, but her strength of will was not equal to the emergency, and she became discouraged with that also, and is now on her way home.

A writer in the Montreal Gazette says that Quebec has been strengthened by additional outworks which the position of Kingston does not require, while Montreal, the commercial heart of the country, the focus of resources, manufactures and supplies, the capture of which would render Quebec and Kingston valueless, and would entail the subjugation of the country, is as yet exposed to a coup de main.

MORALITY IN RELIGION.

[illegible] Rev. E. H. [illegible] St. John's [illegible] Church, Fifty-first street between Eighth and Ninth-avenues, yesterday morning, the first time in their new edifice. The services were held in the basement, which has been neatly fitted up for the purpose, and is a fine, cheerful room capable of seating 400 persons. The main building will not be completed for several months, but when finished will be one of the largest and finest church structures in that part of the City.

A large congregation was present at the Baptist services yesterday, and much interest manifested in the events, the Presiding Elder of the New-York Conference being present and assisting at the exercises.

At the morning services Rev. W. H. FERRIS preached, taking for his text Psalms iii., 6: "On Zion the salvation of Israel were come out of Zion!" At the time the Psalmist wrote, said the preacher, a disaster had overtaken the nation of Israel, and he was greatly perplexed. He sought and saw there was only one resource for him. There was no hope in Israel, and he flew to God in prayer. God's Elder was his only refuge! The saving help of God's truth, and that only could save the nation. The welfare of nations depends upon the power and purity of the Church—here lie their hopes. And in this connection I must speak of politics and of national affairs. I will say in the beginning that I have no patience with those who talk of a party Church. It is my belief that you will agree with me in the general remark that our national affairs require some sanitary treatment. I shall make no apology for the truths I shall utter, or for the fairness of my talk this morning. God bless the Church before civil government was founded. Every nation was established and righteously governed must have a moral and religious basis. Without this there can be no stability or good guarantee that the people will be governed wisely. Reform cannot be carried out unless the moral sentiment of the nation is up to the level of Italy. God pity us if the politicians of our City are to be the moral teachers of the people, for surely it will take not a little salt to save themselves. Though the Church is not all it should be, yet without its saving influence the nation would be so demoralized as to overwhelm it. And yet there are men who are working to overthrow Christianity. I am not, however, advocating the position of Church and State, they are separate powers and yet they may co-operate. I do not lose my Christian character in discharging my political duties. I am a Republican, and yet I am republican, while I fear in a republic, war against the sovereign, was living in a monarchy. I have nothing to divulge special in law on tariffs or other State matters. These things belong to Canal. On the other hand, the State has no right to say who or who shall worship. If I wish to bow down to a Jew, it is no name of CHRIST'S blunders. If I believe bold doctrines, the practical workings of which conflict with the laws, the Government has a right to stop it and check me. In illustration of this latter point the reverend gentleman alluded to the case of the Mormons. There, said he, at the base of the Rocky Mountains, dwelt established a band of hypocrites who, under the guise of extra piety, are openly violating the laws of the land. If you or I did a tenth part of what BRIGHAM YOUNG has done we would be put in State Prison. There are great national questions that come into the Church, and you can't help it; such as temperance, Sabbath observance, and the tax on property for public schools. The Church has a right to discuss these moral questions, and if the Church is to avoid all such questions as soon as the politicians lay hold of them, then you and I will have a very short creed very soon. Moral questions are today unheaving the destinies of the Old World. Men used to fight for glory, for territory, for national prestige. Now they fight for moral principle. Christianity is morality in its most elevated sense. The sword, Roman Catholics now announce, that the present war is the last great struggle between Romanism and Protestantism. I am glad that they said so. They are welcome to all the comfort they can take from passing events. The preacher then dwelt on the present political corruption of the country, and alluded to the face that the best men of our land were professing Christians. We have not yet had, said he, a President of the United States who has been a professing member of any Evangelical Church. I speak advisedly. A hundred years of national life, and yet not one man as the head of the nation who bows at God's altar. Look at the office as an office. There are men in high position who ride along your streets every day in a coach and six horses, glittering with stolen wealth. There are Judges who are corrupt, have sold their souls, and are under the control and lead of the mob. I know these are terrible utterances, but the facts that call them forth are still more terrible. The preacher then referred to the wonderful growth of Roman Catholicism in this country, and argued that its growth endangered our liberties. Roman Catholic Romanism, he said, is the worse American citizen he is. The Catholic Church is a unit; the Protestant Church a Babel. If Protestants would only unite, they could govern the country as they wished. The Church must be aggressive in its movements, and outflank the enemy. It must be outspoken. This talking about the truth is not relished. As the good brother said, I like that kind of preaching that drives me up in a corner, and makes me believe the devil was after me. The reverend gentleman then closed his discourse by a few exhortations to his hearers to work together with zeal and harmony for the general, political and religious welfare of the country.

At the evening service Rev. GEORGE C. EMERY, former pastor of the congregation, preached—many of his old parishoners being present.

OLD CRADLE OF LIBERTY.

Memorial Services at the Leight-Street Baptist Church.

Yesterday interesting memorial services were held in the Leight-street Baptist Church, the occasion being the last on which religious services will be held here, the congregation having removed to Forty-second-street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues, where a church edifice is now building. This old church was originally owned by the Presbyterians, and at the time Rev. Dr. S. H. COX was pastor, the edifice was the scene of a riot, during which Dr. COX was compelled to flee from the wrath of a mob, whose indignation he had excited by taking an active part in the abolition movement, which was then in its inception. The edifice may therefore be very properly termed the "cradle of liberty." Rev. Dr. COX preached in the old edifice last evening. In the morning, Dr. EVARTS, now of Chicago, who was the first pastor of the Baptist congregation worshiping here, delivered a discourse to a large assemblage. In 1849, the present edifice was built by the Baptists, and the several pastors who have presided over the congregation are Rev. Dr. EVARTS, Dr. WESTCOTT, Dr. HALL, Rev. Mr. KALLOCH, subsequently of Boston, and the present pastor, Rev. Dr. FREDERICK EVANS. The building will be sold, and the site will doubtless become the location of business houses. The congregation will, however, establish and maintain a mission station in the neighborhood, for which contributions were solicited yesterday.

The exercises yesterday afternoon were opened by an anthem by the choir, after which Rev. Mr. GRAHAM, of the Leight-street Baptists, read a portion of Scripture and offered prayer. The pastor of the church then invited any clergymen who might be in the audience to take seats on the platform, and then introduced Rev. Dr. DAVIS, of the Berean Church, who said that at one time he was the pastor of the present congregation. He expressed his gratification at being able to meet with them on this important occasion, and said that he should always remember the happy days that he had passed within the walls of that edifice.

Rev. Dr. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, of the Clinton-street Church, was then called upon. He said he remembered the church as one in which he had occasionally preached while its pulpit was temporarily vacant; and fifteen years ago that day he had been instrumental in the conversion in that church of the lady who subsequently became his wife. After another anthem by the choir, Rev. Mr. MCCOTTY, of Jersey City, was then introduced. He said that the edifice had been dedicated to the service of God for forty-five years, and twenty-seven years ago this church went into the possession of the Baptist denomination. He presented statistics showing that during twenty-two of these years, a portion of which he was pastor of the congregation, 807 had been baptized, and, estimating the remaining five years on this basis, it was certain that 918 persons had joined the church. Many of these had died, and some of those who were living were scattered all over the country, and there was scarcely a large city in the United States which did not contain representatives of the old Leight-street Church. He concluded by an appeal in behalf of the mission to be established in the vicinity. The other speakers were Dr. HALL, Dr. HODGE and Dr. EVARTS.

Bishop Reese on the Reign of the Wicked.

Bishop T. S. REESE, a Second-Adventist, gave an interpretation, at the University, Washington-square, yesterday afternoon, of the sixth chapter of the Revelations. He said that the sun represented the Spirit, the moon the world, and the Bible the Church. The stars stood for the ministry, and they had already fallen, because ministers no longer preached the Gospel, and could not comprehend the Bible, which was a sealed book to them. During the sermon he stated the report that he had alleged that the recent earthquake was a premonition of the destruction of the wicked.

Reopening of the Forty-street M. E. Church.

The Forty-street M. E. Church, which has been closed for a short time for painting, renovating and general repairs, was reopened yesterday. At the morning service, Rev. ALEX. STEVENS, LL.D., of Brooklyn, preached, on the text, "Ye are a royal priesthood," and eloquent [illegible] that all people [illegible] priests of God [illegible] members of His holy Wo[illegible] Rev. CHARLES [illegible] read a statement of the [illegible] by the late work [illegible] about $1,800, which [illegible] contributed by the [illegible] of a few hundred [illegible] A large congregation (Sunday-school [illegible] ed with the church, audit under the superintendence of R. B. SELLNER, Esq. The Sunday-school met in the afternoon, and, after its dismissal, there was an afternoon communion service.

At the evening prayer-meeting Rev. J. BARRETT ANDERSON, Evangelist of London, preached. This gray, formerly a mission church connected with the New-York City Sunday-school and Mission, [illegible] expense of about $40,000, toward which amount W. W. Cornell and other contributed liberally. Rev. Mr. Brown, the present pastor, has been there about a year, and, through his exertions and Mr. SELLNER, mainly, the improvements have been so [illegible] completed.

FIVE POINTS MISSION.

Something of Its Work and Wants—An Appeal for Clothing for the Poor.

The Ladies' Home Missionary Society having charge of the Five Points Mission, now that the Winter is approaching, desire to make an appeal to the charitably disposed to aid them in providing clothing for the destitute. It has ever been one of the objects of this Society to provide the poor, as far as they were able, with comfortable raiment for the cold weather, and they have adhered closely to this rule every year. Garments that have already been worn, and which in many instances would be thrown aside, they will gladly receive for distribution. They need every description of clothing, and are especially in want of shoes for both old and young, male and female. During the past year there were distributed by their Wardrobe Committee 3,822 new garments, 600 pairs of shoes, and 2,000 second-hand garments, amounting altogether to 4,422 articles. Besides these there have been given out by the Missionary 371 articles, including quilts, and seventy pairs of boots and shoes.

It is to be hoped that the generosity of our citizens will enable them to do as much in the way of charity this year as was done last.

In order that our readers may see something of the excellent work that this beneficent institution is accomplishing, we will relate an incident—one among the many that might be adduced—showing how great is the help that the Mission extends to the worthy poor. The other day there was presented to the Mission by Rev. J. J. SHAFFER, a lady (American) having three children in her arms and two clinging to her dress, poor, helpless, and ill. She came to seek a temporary home at the Mission, having no place in which to get shelter for herself and her little ones. She proved to be a graduate of an academy in Ireland, spoke and wrote fluently both English, French and Italian, and had for some time occupied a position as a teacher in one of our Western cities. Her husband, too, is a man of extraordinary ability; but having taken to Spiritualism and its cognate fantasies, his mind became unbalanced to a degree that she could no longer live with him. She was there, in a strange city, without home, money or friends, and sought out the Mission as a place where she would be most likely to get the, without being reduced to the extremity of looking upon herself as a common pauper. Inquiry was made of her pastor, who stated that she was and is a lady in the fullest sense of the word, and we also found to be eminently deserving. Rev. Mr. SHAFFER provided her with a temporary home in the Mission building, where she and her children are now placed at least beyond the reach of actual want.

The Society has, of late, fitted up rooms in the upper stories of the Mission building, where parties who are worthy of charity can receive work, and some 30 or more are employed by them to support themselves. Of these they now have twenty. Many deserving poor who, through sickness or other misfortune, have been turned out of their apartments in tenement-houses in consequence of inability to pay rent, have received the benefit of this temporary relief, and the grateful tears expressed for its sincere and heartfelt. Often times, too, the mission has been the means of those who are unable to pay it, and, besides, furnishes them with food, fuel and medicines. One of the most pressing wants of the institution is bedding, and for any donations in the line of beds or quilts that have already been used—the Society will be profoundly thankful. The expense of the Mission, now undertaken by the Society, is a heavy draft upon its resources, and it feels the need of assistance. Charitably disposed people may rest assured that everything given to this institution will be put to the best available use in supplying necessary comforts to the poor. Provisions are at all times most acceptable. The amount of food that has been furnished to the destitute since the Mission was founded is perfectly astounding. For one year ending May 1, 1870, there were given away, in the shape of food, exclusive of the food furnished for the children who are inmates of the mission, was 126,076 rations, without which there would have been, especially during the past Winter, an untold amount of suffering from hunger. During the same time, seventy-six persons have been supplied with places of employment, twenty-three children have been placed in homes with Christian families, and seven infants have been adopted as their own children. We know of no institution more worthy of the attention of the charitable, and we have every reason to believe that their present appeal will not go unheeded.

THE TURF.

The Maryland Jockey Club Race-Inauguration Meeting of the New Course at Baltimore.

To-morrow the newly-organized Maryland Jockey Club hold their inauguration race meeting over the Pimlico Course, Baltimore, which has just been constructed. Since the war broke out, in 1861, the exciting sports of the turf have been entirely discontinued in Maryland, although at one period racing attained an unusually high degree of popularity among the most prominent and wealthiest citizens of the State. Recently there has been a strong movement in progress for the revival of the turf in Maryland, and the elevation to the Governorship of Oden BOWIE, Esq., an enthusiastic and influential patron of racing, gave it a powerful impetus. Through his active co-operation and influence the Maryland Jockey Club, comprising the wealthiest and most cultivated citizens of the State, was organized, and a sum of $60,000, contributed equally by the State and the municipal authorities of Baltimore, was raised for the construction of a new race-course in the vicinity of the latter city. This has been completed, and the Maryland Jockey Club now offer to the Sporting Fraternity of the United States, as the finest course in America, with a four days' race meeting, which commences to-morrow. A larger amount of money, ($55,000) in stakes and purses, will be run for at this meeting than was ever known before in the United States. The prominent owners of thoroughbreds in every State of the Union sympathize warmly with this effort to revive the turf in Maryland, and have nobly and generously responded to the call made for their co-operation and aid. The entries to the stakes are from owners in every quarter of the United States, and the programme is attractive and rich that it needs no great fall of being a brilliant success.

On the first day there is a Hurdle-race for a purse of $700, followed by the great match for $10,000 a side, between Mr. J. HUNTER'S br c Norwegian, 4 years, and Mr. [illegible] WORTH'S ch c Sunshine, 4 years, 1 mile. Norwegian was the best horse on the turf as two and three years old, having never met defeat, but this Spring he became affected in his wind, and has never run in public. Indeed, it is doubtful if he starts for this match on account of his coughing propensities at times. The Sunshine colt will be 10,000 forfeit in preference to running him. Then comes the great event of the meeting, the Dinsmore Stakes, for three-year olds, $1,000 entrance, $500 forfeit, two miles. There are thirty subscribers to the stake, and the probable starters are Mr. DINSMORE'S Lucy Hayes, Mr. [illegible] Foster and McGeary, Mr. MORRIS' Remembrance, Mr. BELMONT'S Fencer, Mr. SANFORD'S Freebooter, Mr. O'FALLON'S Governor Bowie, Mr. MCGRATH'S Sister Ann, and Mr. DOSWELL'S Belmontes. If the above start, the stake will be worth $19,000 to the winner—the richest stake, with one exception, ever run for in America. The style in which Foster won the Lambard Stakes at the recent Jerome Park meeting, showed him to be a race-horse of the very highest class, and we look upon him to repeat his victory over the Pimlico Course at Baltimore.

The Dinsmore Stakes are four years old, but below the Pimlico Stakes for two-year olds, with twenty-five entries. The running of Col. MCDANIEL'S colt Harry Bassett appears to place that race at his mercy, and we expect to see him pass the winning post first. The second race, is the Monumental City Handicap, two miles, eight subscribers, of which Mr. DOSWELL'S Hidalgo is likely to carry off the honors. A selling race follows, and then comes the Breeders' Stakes for four-year olds, two-mile heats, twelve entries, which Steady bids fair to credit to the Belmont stable. On the third day we have a handicap sweepstakes for all ages, three-quarter mile, with ten entries, among them Kingfisher, the admirable certain winner; A two-mile race for a purse of $1,000, and a mile-and-a-half race for a purse of $700, for horses of all ages, that have not won during the year. The entries in both these latter races are yet to close.

On the fourth and last day, (Saturday,) there is a sweepstakes for two-year olds, mile dash, which has four entries—Madness Dancer, Blue, Stanley, and Knight of St. George colts. From the great form shown by Madness Dancer, she is at most certain, despite her seven pounds penalty, to carry off this stake. A mile-and-a-quarter race, for three-year olds, follows, and then follows the Big Tree Stakes, two-mile heats, for horses four years old and upward, ten entries. The likely winners are Glenalvon, Flora Hagener, Oriole, Harbinger, Nugent, Kentucky Lounger, Lexington and Abdel Kader. Such a race and such fields out of which to select the winner, seldom occurs even in this country. Taken together, the programme is an excellent one, and we [illegible] the Maryland Jockey Club success in their inauguratory essay to revive the turf in their State.

The Westwood Park October Trotting Meeting.

The last great trotting meeting of the season will be held during the current week, at Westwood Park, Hackensack, Bergen County. Its proximity to New-York, and ready access both by road and rail, have rendered this trotting track highly popular with trainers and owners of fast horses, as well as the general public who patronize the trotting turf. It has, in consequence, become hitched, since its opening, all the principal trotting around New-York, which was heretofore enjoyed by the Fashion and Union Courses on Long Island. The approaching meetings will continue over three days, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, when $2,500 will be fixed in purses to be trotted for. On the opening day, to-morrow, a purse of $500 will be given, three horses, that never beat three minutes; the winner taking $300, the second horse $150, and the third $50. There are twelve entries for this purse, and a good race will be the consequence. On Wednesday, the second day, there is a purse of $700 for horses that never beat 2:30, the winner taking $500, second $150, and the third $100. The entries for this race, seven in number, are well-known horses—Frank Bell, Lady Gray, Western Star, David Bell, Dan Mace, Belle Breckenridge and Wm. H. Taylor. To select the winner out of the above list will be a difficult task. On the third and last day (Thursday) there are two races. The first is for a purse of $600, for horses that never beat 2:30, with ten entries, and the second for a purse of $1,000, for 2:25 horses, with twelve entries. In both these races there is first, second and third money. As this will be the last regular trotting meeting of the year, it is sure to be extensively patronized.

Court Calendars—This Day.

SUPREME COURT—TRIAL TERM.

*Part 1.—Held by Bar

DRY GOODS.

CLEARING - OUT SALE

PREVIOUS TO REMOVAL!

BARGAINS

IN

DOMESTICS, FOREIGN DRESS GOODS SILKS, LINEN and WHITE GOODS, HOSIERY and GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS, LADIES' SUITS and UNDERGARMENTS, LACES and EMBROIDERIES, CURTAINS and UPHOLSTERY, CLOAKS, SHAWLS, MANTLES,

AT

LORD & TAYLOR'S,

BROADWAY.

AT

LORD & TAYLOR'S

ON

MONDAY, OCT. 24,

SILK AND WOOL POPLINS.

At 87½c. (regular price, $1.25.

ALSO,

TEN CASES

GREENE BERGES FOR SUITS,

At 25 cents, reduced from 37½ cents.

ALSO,

SINGLE ALL SILK

LYONS CLOAKING VELVET,

AT $3 PER YARD, AND SELENDID QUALITY

AT $4 PER YARD.

ALSO,

FALL AND WINTER CLOAKS, SACKS AND SHAWLS,

IMPORTED

and of our OWN MANUFACTURE, which will be sold cheap.

UNPRECEDENTED BARGAINS

WILL BE OFFERED

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT.

HAIR, HAIR.

Mme. Fanny's Patent Hair Crimpers and Switches. Equal to Human Hair; also Human Hair Curls, $1 per set and upward. Long Chatlin Braids, latest Paris fashions, $1 each upward. Ladies own combings manufactured into Switches, Braids, Curls, &c. No. 54 Broadway, near Bleecker-st.

MME. CALOUPEAU, LATE MATHILDE, will exhibit on THURSDAY, 27th inst., the latest innovations and the latest styles of millinery for the Winter.

BEDDING.

BEDDING.

JOHN H. WILCOX & CO.,

NO. 76 4TH-AV.,

(Opposite A. T. Stewart's Oak upper store,)

Importers of South American Horse-hair. Manufacturers and dealers, wholesale and retail.

MATTRESSES

Husk, Spanish, Eureka, Hair and Straw Mattresses.

Patent Double-hundred Spring Mattresses.

Patent Oriental Steel-spring Bed Bottoms.

Eider Down, Pillows, Cushions, &c.

Feathers, Feather-bed Bolsters and Pillows.

Blankets, Quilts, Comforters and Sheets.

Feathers washed and purified by Sheldon's Patent Process—live steam. Old feathers renovated by steam and relieved of all disagreeable odor.

Hair Mattresses renovated and remade.

JOHN H. WILCOX,

formerly of

MELLEN & WILCOX.

CARPETS.

SMITH BROTHERS,

SUCCESSORS TO

SMITH & LOUNSBERY,

AT THEIR NEW STORE,

NO. 728 BROADWAY.

CARPETS, OIL-CLOTHS, &C.

NEW STYLES, FALL TRADE, 1870.

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

GOODS MADE UP AND LAID AT SHORT NOTICE.

DRESS-MAKING.

THE MANAGERS OF THE ROME, NO. 26 4TH-ST., desire to inform the ladies of this city that their Dress-making Department is now in successful operation. Orders for EVENING, BRIDAL AND WALKING SUITS and MOURNING OUTFITS will be executed in the most tasteful manner, at short notice, and on very favorable terms. Family sewing of all kinds neatly done.

AUCTION SALES.

DRY GOODS.

AT E. RIDLEY'S & SON,

GRAND-ST., NEW-YORK.

PRICES NOT ADVANCED.

KID GLOVES.

THE BEST DOLLAR KID IN THE WORLD.

EVERY PAIR WARRANTED.

8 BEAUTIFUL SHADES—NEW TODAY.

ONE AND TWO BUTTONED, ALEXANDER IMPERIAL AND FERENCE GLOVE.

EDWARD RIDLEY'S & SON,

Nos. 323, 325 and 327 Grand-st.,

FIFTH BLOCK EAST FROM THE BOWERY.

AT E. RIDLEY'S & SON,

GRAND-ST., NEW-YORK.

IMPORTED

HATS AND BONNETS.

BOTH TRIMMED AND UNTRIMMED.

ALSO OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE.

LARGEST STOCK IN THE CITY TO SELECT FROM.

UNDOUBTEDLY THE CHEAPEST.

EDWARD RIDLEY'S & SON,

Nos. 323, 325 and 327 Grand-st.,

FIFTH BLOCK EAST FROM THE BOWERY.

AT E. RIDLEY'S & SON,

GRAND-ST., NEW-YORK.

SATINS, SILKS, TRIMMING AND BONNET RIBBONS.

SASH RIBBONS, 9c., 25c., 37½c. and $1.12. Prices not advanced.

Line of 25-inch SATIN RIBBONS, closing at 15c. per yard.

IMPORTED

OSTRICH FEATHERS AND FLOWERS.

DRESS AND CLOAK TRIMMINGS.

FRINGES, GIMPS, &c., &c.

BLACK AND COLORED SILK BONNET VELVET, $2.25, $3.75, $5 and up.

BLACK AND COLORED VELVETEENS CHEAP.

YANKEE NOTIONS, JEWELRY, HAIR GOODS, LEATHER SATCHELS, &c., 75c., 87c., $1, $1 50 and up.

OUR TRIMMING DEPARTMENT is now fully stocked with the latest novelties.

KNITTED AND WOVEN WORSTED GOODS IN GREATER VARIETY.

EDWARD RIDLEY'S & SON,

Nos. 323, 325 and 327 Grand-st.,

FIFTH BLOCK EAST FROM THE BOWERY.

TO MILLINERS AND COUNTRY STORE-KEEPERS.

OUR STOCK OF

FALL MILLINERY GOODS,

VELVETS, HATS, FEATHERS AND FLOWERS,

will simply defy competition.

WE CUT LENGTHS AT PIECE PRICES!

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC

JOSEPH KID GLOVES.

JOBBING-ROOM

UPSTAIRS.

EDWARD RIDLEY'S & SON,

Nos. 323, 325 and 327 Grand-st., cor. Allen-st.,

FIFTH BLOCK EAST FROM THE BOWERY.

AT KINZEY'S,

OPENING ON MONDAY,

SALE OF

VELVETS, SATINS, VELVETEENS, RIBBONS, TRIMMINGS, MILLINERY GOODS, GLOVES, &c.

FROM AUCTION.

BARGAINS IN EVERY DEPARTMENT.

WIDE BLACK SASH RIBBONS, 20c., 25c., 30c., 35c.

FANCY SASH RIBBONS, 25c., 40c., 50c., 75c.

WIDE CORD EDGE RIBBONS, 20c., 25c. yard.

ALL SILK GROS GRAIN RIBBONS, 25c.

FANCY RIBBONS, 4c., 5c., 10c., 15c., 20c. yard.

MILLINERY GOODS.

ALL THE NEW SHAPES IN HATS.

PLUSH VELVETS, SILKS AND STRAWS.

FANCY FEATHERS, 25c., 50c., 75c., 87c., 100c., 62c.

OSTRICH FEATHERS, 25c., 50c., 75c., $1.50.

FRENCH FLOWERS, ALL STYLES.

VELVETS AND PLUSHES.

VELVETEENS, 18c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c.

BLACK VELVETEENS, 25c., 37½c., 50c., 62½c., 75c.

SILK PLUSHES, 75c., 87c., 90c., $1 yard.

VELVETEENS, 25c., 37½c., 50c., 62½c., 75c. yard.

SATINS AND SILKS ON THE BIAS.

TRIMMINGS.

SILK TRIMMINGS, 2c., 3c., 4c., 10c. piece.

EXTRA RICH TRIMMINGS, 40c. to $1 piece.

SILK AND SATIN GIMPS, 25c. to $1 50 piece.

FRINGES, ALL COLORS, 3c. to 50c. yard.

BLACK SILK FRINGES, 8c. to $1 yard.

SILK VELVETS, 20c., 31c., 40c., 50c., 62c. piece.

SILK VELVETS, 87c., 90c., $1, $1 25, $1 50 pc.

Rev. H. S. CHAPIN, Pa. D., Rector.

ROCKLAND FEMALE INSTITUTE, SPARKILL, ON THE HUDSON, N. Y.—The Fall term will commence Sept. 15. For circulars with full particulars, address Rev. L. DELOS MANSFIELD, Principal.

MISS DU VERNET WILL REOPEN her Preparatory School for boys and Miss M. F. DU VERNET, Jr., a classes for little girls, on No. 108 West 34th-st., and close on MONDAY, Sept. 26.

UNDERCLIFF YOUNG LADIES' Boarding-school, Cold Spring, N. Y., opposite West Point. For circulars apply to Mrs. MOORE HILL and Miss FRANCES HILL, Cold Spring, New-York. Terms moderate. Reopens Sept. 28.

MRS. J. T. BENEDICT'S BOARDING and Day School for young ladies and children, No. 6 East 34th-st., New-York, will reopen for Sept. 26. Particular attention given to French and German. Ex-excellent call or address.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW-YORK, 18 WASHINGTON-PL., Wooster-st., prepares boys for college or for business. A. M. HOBBY, G. CHASE, Principals.

J. H. MORSE'S ENGLISH, CLASSICAL and Mathematical School reopens Sept. 12, at No. 3 Spring-st., near Mott. For circulars apply to J. H. MORSE, No. 737 7th-av.

IRVING INSTITUTE, TARRYTOWN, N. Y. Fall term begins Sept. 14. For circulars apply to D. S. BOWN, M. A., Principal.

DR. GESTEFELD'S FRENCH, ENGLISH, Classical and Mathematical School opens Sept. 12, at No. 150 West 23d-st. Pupils received at any time.

A BODWORTH'S CLASSES WILL reopen at the old location, No. 212 5th-av., near 27th-st., on MONDAY, Oct. 3, and at No. 647 4th-av., on SATURDAY, Oct. 8.

MISS PERINE WILL REOPEN HER School for young ladies and children, No. 102 East 35th-st., Sept. 26.

ADDRESS A. P. LASHER, PENNINGTON, N. J., for circulars for one of the best and cheapest schools.

MISS OLSEN'S ENGLISH AND French school for Misses and children, No. 20 4th-av., will be reopened Sept. 22.

MRS. STORRS' BOARDING AND Day School for young ladies, No. 13 West 45th-st., will open Sept. 26. Address as above.

MILITARY BOARDING-SCHOOL, White Plains, N. Y. Principal, O. R. WILLIS, Ph. D.

MISS SARAH SEDGWICK'S SCHOOL for Misses will open Sept. 15 at No. 1,128 Broadway, between 26th and 27th-sts.

GOLDEN HILL SEMINARY FOR Young ladies, Bridgeport, Conn. For circulars address Miss EMILY NELSON.

THE MISSES BUCKNALL'S ENGLISH and FRENCH Boarding-school for young ladies, New-Brunswick, N. J., will reopen Sept. 28.

BENDANE SCHOOL (FOR BOYS) No. 7 Bond-st., near Broadway, opens Sept. 26. English, Classical, French, German, Primary.

MRS. FREDERICK JOHNSON'S PRIVATE classes for young ladies, No. 104 Lexington-av., will reopen on MONDAY, Sept. 26.

SCHOOL FOR BOYS.—MISS WARREN'S French and English School in Tenth-st. opposite Hall, No. 225 8th-av., between 21st and 22d-sts.

NEW DAY-SCHOOL, 2 WEST 11TH-ST., near 5th-av. French, Drawing and Music a specialty; terms low.

MISS WALSH'S ENGLISH AND FRENCH School for young ladies and children, 32 East 30th-st., near Madison-av., will reopen Thursday, Sept. 22.

INSTRUCTION.

MOUNT WASHINGTON COLLEGE! THE INSTITUTE,

CLASSICAL, COMMERCIAL, ENGLISH, FRENCH AND GERMAN.

No. 49, Washington-square, (south.)

GEO. W. CLARKE, PH. D., PRINCIPAL.

Properties kept of all sorts for business or college, on reasonable terms, and upon the usually eligible academic year Sept. 12. For references and particulars see circular, to be had at the Institute, which persons are invited to visit.

CHARLESTON FRENCH INSTITUTE, FOR YOUNG GENTLEMEN,

No. 12, 14 AND 16 EAST 37TH-ST.,

REOPENS SEPT. 12.

College Business, West Point, Navy School, Modern languages. Boarding and Primary Departments. Gymnasium, &c.

Prospectus to be had.

Prof. ELIE CHARLIER, Director.

ARTHUR CROMWELL'S SCHOOL, 8TH-AV. CORNER 37TH-ST.

In the departments of ancient and modern languages, mathematics and commerce, begins MONDAY, Sept. 12; the primary department, Sept. 19, and the gymnasium Oct. 3. School hours, 9 A.M. to 1 P.M.

GARDNER INSTITUTE, BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES, NO. 69 FIFTH-AVENUE.

Fourteenth year opens Sept. 26. Able assistants in charge of the several departments.

Carriages provided for pupils at a distance.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. G. N. GARDNER, Principals.

MOUNT PLEASANT MILITARY ACADEMY,

A SELECT BOARDING-SCHOOL FOR BOYS, AT SING SING, ON THE HUDSON.

The course of instruction embraces the following departments: MILITARY, MORAL, LEGAL, ELEMENTARY, MATHEMATICAL, ENGLISH STUDIES AND NATURAL SCIENCE. Classical and Modern Languages, MUSIC, DRAWING, DANCING and ELOCUTION. Under the MILITARY DEPARTMENT, DRILLING SCHOOL with WELL-TRAINED HORSES, GYMNASIUM, &c. For further information address

REMSEN DUNN & ALLEN, Principals.

LYON'S COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE, 206 AND 208 4TH-AV., CORNER 13TH-ST.

Boarding and Day School for Young Ladies and Young Gentlemen. A Pride graduates at Vassar, Wellesley, Ann Arbor, Cambridge, Cornell, Yale, Harvard, Williams, Amherst, Brown, Rutgers, Lafayette, Lehigh, Lawrence, Troy, Polytechnic, Stevens, Columbia, Cooper Institute, Union, Hobart, Trinity, Wesleyan, Dickinson, Madison, Rensselaer, Ann Arbor, Michigan

The New York Times.

NEW-YORK, MONDAY, OCT. 24, 1870.

Amusements this Evening.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.
Broadway, corner 13th-st.
TWO ROSES. Leading characters by Messrs. Chas. Fisher, Clark, Stoddart, Harlowe, Miss Ada Gurner, Miss Emily Mestayer and Mrs. Sefton.

BOOTH'S THEATRE.
23d-st., corner 6th-av.
RIP VAN WINKLE. Leading characters by Messrs. Joseph Jefferson, Sheridan, Anderson and Miss Mary Wells.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.
8th-st., corner 6th-av.
LA GRAND DUCHESSE. (Opera Bouffe.) Characters by Mme. Lea Silly, Mentaland, Messrs. Rittersans (Isaacs), Aslhonyand others.

FIFTH-AVENUE THEATRE.
24th-st., near Broadway.
MAN AND WIFE. Characters by Messrs. Harkins, Lewis, Davidge, Miss Fanny Davenport and Miss Clara Morris.

BROOKLYN ACADEMY OF MUSIC.
Montague-st., near Court-st.
DEBORAH. Leading characters by Miss Fanny Janauschek and Mr. Walter Montgomery.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.
Broadway, near Houston-st.
WEE WILLIE WINKIE. Characters by Messrs. G. L. Fox, Honeywood, Atkins, Miss Fanny Beane, Miss Rogers, Mrs. Yeamans, and others.

NIBLO'S GARDEN.
Broadway, near Prince-st.
MARTHA. (English opera.) Characters by Mrs. C. R. Barnard, Mrs. Seguin, and Messrs. Castle, Campbell, and Seguin.

FOURTEENTH-STREET THEATRE.
14th-st., near 6th-av.
ADRIENNE LECOUVREUR. Leading character by Mme. Marie Seebach.

LINA EDWIN'S THEATRE.
Broadway, near Waverley-place.
CAPTAIN OF THE WATCH, MR. AND MRS. WHITE, and SOMNAMBULA.

STADT THEATRE.
Bowery, near Canal-st.
IL TROUBADOUR. (German opera.)

WOOD'S MUSEUM.
Broadway, corner 30th-st.
DRAMATIC PERFORMANCE. Afternoon and evening. Large collection of curiosities on exhibition.

SAN FRANCISCO MINSTRELS.
No. 585 Broadway.
NEGRO MINSTRELSY, DANCES AND COMIC CALETIES.

NEW-YORK CIRCUS.
44th-st., between 1st and 4th-avs.
GRAND EQUESTRIAN and GYMNASTIC PERFORMANCES.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE FAIR.
Third-st., corner 6th-av.
ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE.

STEINWAY HALL.
14th-st., near 4th-av.
GRAND CONCERT. Artists: Miss Christina Nilsson, Miss A. L. Cary, Miss Marie Krebs, and Messrs. Brignoli and Wieniawski.

THIRTY-SEVENTH REGIMENT ARMORY.
Broadway, corner 26th-st.
GRAND FAIR. For the benefit of the wounded and the widows and orphans of the German Army.

Terms of the New-York Times.
MAIL SUBSCRIBERS.

The DAILY TIMES, per annum, including the Sunday Edition	$12
The DAILY TIMES, per annum, exclusive of the Sunday Edition	10
The Sunday Edition, per annum	2
The SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES, per annum	3
Two copies, one year	5
Ten copies, one year	25
An extra copy to getter-up of club, and a splendid steel engraving of the late HENRY J. RAYMOND.
The WEEKLY TIMES, per annum	2
Five copies, one year	8
Ten copies, one year	15
An extra copy to getter-up of club, and a splendid steel engraving of the late HENRY J. RAYMOND.
Twenty copies, one year	25
An extra copy to getter-up of club, and a splendid steel engraving of the late HENRY J. RAYMOND.
The European Edition, per annum, postage extra	3

Subscriptions to either of our editions received for a less length of time than one year at the yearly rate.
The Semi-Weekly and Weekly mailed to clergymen at the lowest club rates.
Additions may be made to clubs at club rates.
These prices are invariable. We have no traveling agents. Remit in drafts on New-York or Post Office Money Orders if possible, and where neither of these can be procured send the money in a registered letter.
Address
H. J. RAYMOND & CO.,
TIMES Office, New-York.

Advertising Rates of the New-York Times.
Ordinary classified advertisements, 20 cents per line each insertion.
Business Notices, fifth page, before Marriages and Deaths, 50 cents per line each insertion.
Special Notices, fifth page, after Marriages and Deaths, 50 cents per line each insertion.
Advertisements on eighth page, 20 cents per line each insertion.
City Items, with word "advertisement" prefixed, 40 cents per line each insertion.
Deaths or Marriage Notices, $1 each insertion.
The above have been the fixed advertising rates of the NEW-YORK TIMES for the past eight years, and will not be changed, although our circulation has largely increased during that time.

To Advertisers.
Advertisers in the TIMES are requested to bring in their notices at an early hour in the day as much as possible. If received after 6 o'clock, it will be impossible to classify them under their proper heads.
☞ For the accommodation of up-town residents, advertisements will be inserted in the TIMES if they be received at No. 54 West 125-st., junction of Broadway and 8th-av., and at No. 40 East 14th-st., between Broadway and 4th-av.; also at No. 4 Astor-place, at same rates as if charged at office of publication.
☞ Messrs. DERNEL, HARJES & Co., Bankers, No. 3 Rue Scribe, Paris, are the accredited agents for the NEW-YORK TIMES in that city.

Notice.
We cannot notice anonymous communications. In all cases we require the writer's name and address, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.
We cannot return rejected communications, nor preserve manuscripts, unless specially requested so to do.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE WAR.

A report prevails in London that the Government will at once offer direct intervention for an armistice, and that the British Ambassadors at Tours and Berlin have taken the initial steps. Austria and Italy are represented to be in accord with Great Britain on this question, and a Vienna dispatch says that the Austrian Government is urgently advocating an armistice at Tours and Versailles. It is understood at Tours that the English proposals were submitted there and at Berlin on Friday last. M. THIERS, for the coming mission to Versailles, is not encouragingly spoken of by the Berlin papers. The German commander on the Loire has issued a proclamation declaring that the main condition of peace is the restitution of Alsace and Lorraine to Germany.

A demonstration was made on Saturday in Luxembourg, on the arrival of Prince HENRY of Orange, designed to show that the Grand Duchy does not desire to enter into the North German Confederation. In the Lower House of the Diet of Wurtemburg an official statement was read, alluding vaguely to desired objects now within reach, involving modifications of the Constitution, which should have to be submitted to the new Diet. A decree dissolving the Diet was then read. France has been divided into military divisions of the North, under Gen. BOURBAKI, head-quarters at Lille; the West under Gen. FERRIOU, head-quarters at Mans; the centre under Gen. POLHES, head-quarters at Bourges, and the East, under Gen. CAMBRIELS, head-quarters at Besançon. Gen. GARIBALDI has organized his command in the Vosges, consisting of three brigades, one of which is commanded by his son MENOTTI. The rumors of a revolution at Metz, and the assassination of BAZAINE, are pronounced absurd by a London telegram.

The Germans took 6,000 prisoners at Orleans. They also took all the clothing from shops and wine from cellars. The invaders are sweeping the valley of the Loire of cattle. A sortie from Paris was made on Saturday night in which the garrison were repulsed, losing guns and prisoners. Cannonading was heard at Montargis all day on Friday, in the direction of Paris. Chartres has been occupied by the Germans. A Tours dispatch reports a defeat of the Prussians in the front of "Hecouri." Heavy fighting is reported between Voray and Cussey, in the Vosges, in which the Prussians were repulsed.

GENERAL EUROPEAN NEWS.

The Pope is to remain at Rome....The bull announcing the suspension of the Ecumenical Council has been posted on the church doors in Rome....The Duke of AOSTA has accepted the Spanish crown....The vomito is disappearing from Barcelona and Alicante...The challenge for the University boat-race in England comes from Oxford, for the first time in ten years.... Twenty-five barrels of gunpowder, mixed with matches and nails, have been seized at a Fenian store-house in Ireland, and taken to Woolwich and sunk....English troops are reported to be leaving Madras, India, for China....There is a rumor of a defensive alliance between Turkey and Greece, against the encroachments of the Western Powers....The steamer Lafayette has been detained at Havre two days by storms.... The French gun-boat Dryade, leaves Tenion for Martinique, immediately, with 600 marine infantry.

GENERAL.

The barrel factory of W. S. THATCHER & Son, of Cleveland, Ohio, was burned on Saturday night. The loss is $25,000.

The diamond fever in South Africa is on the increase. Some extraordinary stones have been discovered.

O'DONOGHUE is reported to be on his way from Red River to Washington, to ask the intercession of this Government for the peaceable annexation of the Red River country to the United States.

Unofficial returns of the South Carolina election indicate the re-election of Gov. SCOTT, and the election to Congress of colored Republicans in the First and Third Districts.

JOHN FARRIS was sentenced to State Prison for ten years at Boston, on Saturday, for forging checks.

GIBSON KERR was found guilty of incendiarism at Mormstown, N. J., on Saturday.

One man was killed and three badly injured, on Saturday, at Waldoboro, Me., by the caving in of an embankment.

The population of Louisiana is 717,006.

Two men were killed on the Erie Railroad at Buffalo, on Friday night.

An Episcopal clergyman and some twenty-five other reputable citizens of Hickman, Ky., deny that there is any collusion in the case of SUSAN G. GOODSPY, "the sleeping beauty," now in St. Louis. They have known the family and been cognizant of the facts for twenty years, and declare that there is no deception in the matter.

The Poor Asylum at Woodstock, Conn., was burned on Saturday, and one of the inmates lost his life.

A saw-mill at Harrisburg, Penn., valued at $18,000, was burned on Saturday night.

The Italians of San Francisco celebrated the occupation of Rome, Saturday evening.

The Industrial Exposition at Cincinnati closed Saturday. The exposition had been open twenty-eight days, and had been visited by upward of 40,000 persons. The reports on premiums have not yet been made.

The population of California is 550,000, that of San Francisco 150,000.

A fire occurred, yesterday morning, in the ship-chandlery of JONAS SMITH, at No. 45 South-street, when a damage of $200 was occasioned.

Haussmann the Little.

Honest Flaulien proved, to his own satisfaction, that a strict analogy might be traced between HARRY of Monmouth, and ALEXANDER of Macedon. A comparison rather less fanciful, will reveal sundry points of resemblance between Baron HAUSSMANN, the Ex-Prefect of the Seine, and our local autocrat of public works—WILLIAM M. TWEED. We are the more desirous of establishing this resemblance, inasmuch as the world is sadly in want of a city to take the place of cosmopolitan Paris, and there is no reason why New-York should not compete for the vacant place. We have, it is true, no boulevards to speak of; our public markets are a fortuitous concourse of shanties; our streets—the less said about our streets the better, and the architectural graces of our public buildings are not worth boasting about.

But, conceding all the trifling drawbacks which arise from the public nuisances we possess, and the public ornaments we do not possess, we boldly take our stand upon the possession of a man who could exist nowhere but in a City fore-ordained to be the Paris of the future. If, to follow the ingenious argument of Flaulien, you mark HAUSSMANN'S life well, TWEED'S life "is come after it indifferent well, for there is figures in all things." HAUSSMANN spent a great deal of money, so does TWEED; HAUSSMANN'S accounts were not above suspicion, neither are TWEED'S; HAUSSMANN being despotism personified, was execrated by every friend of liberty, so is TWEED; when the people resumed the power of which they had been robbed, HAUSSMANN was kicked out—so will it be with TWEED.

We confess that it is somewhat unfortunate for an analogy so promising, that it should fall short, in one very essential point, and that is that while HAUSSMANN beautified Paris, TWEED and his gang have only helped to disfigure New-York. The Baron was understood to have pocketed a goodly amount of public money, but then he gave people something worth looking at for the remainder. The Chief Commissioner of Public Works has improved on the example of his prototype by devoting all his energies to the business of pocketing money, only leaving to an admiring public the contemplation (from the outside) of a "gorgeous mansion" and "palatial stables" (see the World of February and March passim) to show that their money has not been altogether wasted. Of course, it would be rash to conclude that the embellishment of New-York may not yet follow in the natural order. Beginning at West Thirty-sixth-street, there may be in reserve for coming generations a wondrous series of "gorgeous mansions" and stables more or less "palatial," according to the taste of the scions of the house of TWEED. The elevating effect of such structures upon the public perception of the beautiful cannot be overrated, and the associations connected with them will give a moral impulse to both public and private citizens of the most beneficial kind. That the play will be worth the candle, we can hardly promise. To assist our readers in forming some idea of what the process of renovation is likely to cost, we presented a few days ago some figures of a highly suggestive character. The chastened wonder with which every critical observer gazes upon the arrested development of the new County Court-house will, we doubt not, be greatly intensified by the reflection that it represents some ten millions of dollars of public money. An irrepressible desire to explore its sumptuous chambers will probably seize the observer on being informed that the fitting up of six of the different offices located there cost the modest sum of $375,000. If the treasures of art and the wonders of upholstery that are displayed within, scarcely account for this little bill, let him digest the episode we have selected out of many, of the man who, having supplied $5,000 worth of work for this same Court-house, only got his money by making the sum $25,000, and allowing the rest of the genious worthies known as the "Ring," to pocket the odd $20,000.

It will, we think, be admitted, that the clumsy artificers of the Seine have nothing to show in the department of thoroughpaced swindling equal to this. We submit, therefore, that, laying aside the facts that a portion of our thoroughfares are quagmires, and the rest closely resemble a mountain road, with the addition of litters of miscellaneous filth; that our public cleansing is about as well done as in Eastern cities, where the dogs are the scavengers; that our so-called improvements are hideous abortions, and our public places a laughing stock; yet, because public works are synonymous with public plunder, because New-York has become too dear a City for working men to inhabit, and may shortly become a mart which over-weighted commerce has deserted for some spot ruled by a Government less corrupt—and, finally, because we have the only living analogy to the man who impoverished Paris, we have a perfectly valid claim to take the place of the doomed city on the Seine.

A Tale of Modern Life.

The celebrated cause of "FLYNT vs. COOLINDER" will doubtless be long remembered in Boston. It engaged the attention of judges and juries, on and off, for nearly fourteen months. Some very fine exhibitions of forensic eloquence were elicited in the course of the trials. The plaintiff is none of your common dress-makers. She is a parvenu of a "high grade," as her counsel informed the Court—"one of those who do not work for the crowd." People who employed this illustrious female were obliged to present themselves humbly before her with a certificate of "gentility" in their hands. It is said of a certain English tailor that he will never make clothes for a man unless he is properly introduced by a member of the peerage. The incomparable Mrs. FLYNT borrowed a quill from this worthy tailor's goose. Moreover, she provided elegant apartments for her customers, where they ran no risk of meeting other customers. It was strictly a private establishment. All this is very interesting. There are few people who will not turn aside now and then from the graver cares of life to be instructed in the art, or science, or whatever the thing is to be called, by which the fair sex are enabled to make so striking a figure in the world. But the opportunity very seldom comes. We only see the vast and admirable result, and are left to guess by what agencies it is accomplished. "Canst tell how an oyster makes his shell?" asks poor King Lear. How much less can we explain how a fashionable lady prepares her gorgeous raiment. But Mrs. FLYNT has drawn aside the curtain. Perhaps some of the romance is gone, but we have at least increased our stock of information. It is like the case of a young lady who has all sorts of sentimental fancies about the moon, until one day she learns that the object which looks so interesting is a melancholy chaotic mass of extinct volcanoes, without light, atmosphere, or anything else which can be called its own.

Mrs. FLYNT, whose name we mention with the deepest awe, had exercised her unequaled skill for the benefit of a lady of Boston, whom it is sufficient to describe as the defendant. We cannot pretend to give a full account of the great creature's bill. The document is rather technical, and the evidence taken at the trial did not go far to elucidate it. It consisted largely of testimony concerning hasting and pinking, and scollops, scersucker, hernani, and other mysteries which only the initiated can explain. But one feature in the account at once arrests attention—it is that, probably, which struck the husband of the defendant with consternation. The heavy charges were not for making the dresses, or even for the material thereof, but for "trimmings." In fact, a lady seems made of trimmings. In this case they cost from three to four times as much as the dress. This is quite according to the principles of modern art, but perhaps Mrs. FLYNT rather overdid it. Her bill was nearly all "trimmings"—an intolerable deal of sack to a very little bread. "Everybody could not afford that style," the counsel explained to the jury. Perhaps most husbands would rather not afford it, if they had any voice in the matter. But foremost among the inalienable rights of woman is the right to choose her own trimmings. She appears to care more for that than about good government, or honest Judges, or any silly questions of that kind. Mrs. FLYNT managed to run her bill up to close upon $2,000 on the strength of these ornaments. We do not see much else in her account except some "pads, shot, and bones," which are probably not very expensive. Shot and bones are plentiful enough in these days, though how many pounds of each go to form a fashionable lady, Mrs. FLYNT, that pink of elegance, has not told us.

The husband, as we said, objected to this bill—husbands always are stupid and unreasonable on these subjects, being born absolutely without the capacity to comprehend the great question of Trimmings. So a great many witnesses were called to prove that Mrs. FLYNT had overcharged. But the defendant's counsel bitterly denounced them as "sobblers" and "attic stitchers," and we can imagine Mrs. FLYNT turning up her aristocratic nose at the whole set. When the husband called upon her to see if she would not reduce the amount of her bill, she flung him from her presence with all the contempt becoming a dress-maker of "high grade," and called him a "miserable sinner"—and so no doubt he was, very miserable. As it is always pleasant to record the triumph of virtue, we are glad to say that Mrs. FLYNT won her action. But the jury lopped off rather more than $800 from her bill, which we are afraid may have caused some distress to a woman of her tender susceptibilities. However, there are other ladies who require basting and pinking, bones, shot, and scollops, and they will doubtless rush to Mrs. FLYNT to get these indispensable adjuncts to beauty. Such is the story. Some may say that there is not much in it—but in days when ladies think it a matter of no consequence that great intelligent community should be deprived of all the liberties by a gang of political adventurers, when they can look with complacency on the degradation of social life, and think it troublesome to have their attention called to the fact that their husbands are robbed, their sons demoralized, their daughters insulted, by the gang which rules in New-York—in such days, we say, perhaps the exciting narrative we have laid before them may be found quite to their taste.

The Union Colony.

The village of Greeley, Colorado, is not yet quite an earthly paradise, although some people expected that by this time it would be nothing less. The story of the place is interesting and suggestive, rather, perhaps, as a guide than a pattern, and an examination of it will be useful to intending emigrants, and not without instruction to the general reader. "Union Colony," as Greeley was originally and is now interchangeably called, was first organized by a meeting at Cooper Institute in the Autumn of 1869. Some people thought they would like to go to the Far West and found a settlement together. Their plan included some communistic features which seem to have been only in part carried into effect. A committee of three was first sent out "to explore and locate." They selected a spot where the Denver Pacific Railroad crosses the Cache la Poudre River. Here, about midway between Cheyenne and Denver, they secured a tract of about the size of the District of Columbia, or a hundred square miles. The tract extends some ten miles from the South Platte up both sides of the Cache la Poudre River, and about the same space north and south along the railroad. A title of this land was acquired in part from the Government and in part from the Railroad Company, and paid for out of a fund of $155 contributed by some hundreds of persons who constitute the association.

In the Spring the settlers began to arrive. They found the town of the future to consist of a seven-by-nine post-office. There was, and is, no railroad depot. There was no wood, no brick, no lime; nothing to eat, drink or wear could be bought for love or money, and as Mr. GREELEY, who takes a natural interest in the place, says in a letter from it, there was "never a tree in sight but a few miserable cotton-woods skirting the Cache la Poudre and the Platte, and fading away in the distance." At present there are some three hundred dwellings and stores, in the latter of which, we learn on the authority just quoted, "almost everything can be bought that ought to be sold anywhere." There are two dry goods, three drug, five grocery, two hardware, and two fruit and confectionary stores; one each for the sale of boots, books, harness and furniture; two blacksmiths' shops, a livery-stable, a bank, a barber, and, to the delight of our informant, no bar-room. It is rather surprising that no churches or school-houses have yet been erected at Greeley. There are, however, several teachers and ministers awaiting places in which to exercise their respective vocations, and perhaps there is reason in the statement of the Tribune correspondent that "it has cost an immense sight of money to move hither with families and household goods, cost a good deal more money to build, and now our people must support themselves a full year before crops can be raised, so that to undertake, in addition, to build churches is simply impossible." This is hardly in the spirit of the old Puritans, with whom the meeting-house was thought of first, and all other houses afterward; but these are days of "progress."

The prosperity of Greeley in material, if not in spiritual respects, seems to have been encouraging. When people can become landed proprietors, and enjoy a comfortable subsistence on an original outlay of $155, it may be thought they have reason to be satisfied. But a closer examination of the details that reach us makes the latter clause of this postulate at least doubtful. That is to say, the people of Greeley may have plenty of land, but we question about the abundance of their meat. Their tract is good grazing country, to be sure, but stock has to be bought and paid for, and the profits which are to furnish the money for this are not apparent. There seems to be no market in their neighborhood for anything in particular, and transportation is so dear—the price of a car from Chicago is $240—that it would do little good if there were. The wages of carpenters, which, from manifest causes, should be temporarily, at least, the highest in the community—are but $2 50@$3 a day, and masons, plasterers, and painters fare not much better. Meanwhile building materials and food, indeed all the necessaries of life, are enormously dear, brought, as they must be, from a long distance, and the soil, dry as it perforce is in a country where it never rains, must be irrigated at great expense before it will produce crops.

It is clear that the bed the people of Greeley have made for themselves is not altogether one of roses. They have a good climate and a good soil, but to reach the one and till the other takes much time and money. These are precisely the commodities which intending emigrants can least afford to spare, and consequently the lesson taught by the experience of the Union Colony is that it is unwise for such adventurers to precede by too wide a gap the wave of advancing population, or over-rashly to anticipate territorial development. The intersection of a long railway and a navigable stream furnishes, it is true, what looks a very promising site; but there must be, at all events, to meet the needs of any but a merely pastoral life, neighboring populations as well. That the place may, in process of time, become large and prosperous is quite possible. But for the present there seems to have been neither a commercial nor an agricultural raison d'être for Greeley, and other new settlements having better advantages are consequently likely to outstrip it. There is a vast range of choice in our interior for the settler's inspection; for thousands of miles the magnificent country is all before him where to choose; and it is only right that in making his selection he should be equipped with all the knowledge which may aid him to make it a wise one.

The Supply of Silver.

For years after the discovery of the massive riches of Potosi, the silver yield of the New World was splendid beyond all precedent. The precious metal, whose use had before been chiefly confined to the mint and the altar, was moulded into luxurious ornaments of almost every description, so that, in a few years after that discovery, the centres of civilization became filled with plate, and the homelier metals that had long done household service, even for the opulent, were consigned chiefly to the poor. WILFRED, the magnificent Northumbrian Bishop, who flourished in the eighth century, is said to have been the first who used silver plate and vessels; but even pulver cups and spoons were great luxuries in Europe as late as the year 1500. Of course silver was used as money almost from time immemorial. Some say it was first coined by the Lydians at Ægina. It is certain it was so coined at Rome three hundred years before Christ. As the quantity found has increased, the metal has been used for additional purposes, so that, with a growing population and advancing refinement, the demand has always hitherto more than kept pace with the supply.

Thus, in spite of the fact that new discoveries of silver are constantly taking place, so that it is now found in nearly every country in the world, its relative value has changed but little. And hence, such news as that which came some time back from Washoe, and now comes from the argentiferous regions of Arizona, Colorado and Nevada produces, nearly as much excitement, and almost as wild a rush, as did Capt. SUTTER'S golden tidings of 1849. Some of the silver-bearing districts have, to be sure, proved very disappointing. There are many "mines," like those in Lander County, Nevada, which have swallowed up far more treasure than they have yet given forth. Adventurers are never lacking, however, to try fresh experiments, the results of which are sometimes extraordinary. When we hear, for example, of such a thing as the "Revival at Silver Bend," it means that new efforts have been made in old places, and that the consequence of perseverance has been fortune. At White Pine and other places in the neighborhood, similar attempts have been made with happy returns. In Utah, prospects have become even more flattering. It is asserted that within fifty miles of Salt Lake City, to the southward, the silver deposits surpass any yet found in the country for richness and the number of veins. A Mr. ANGELL declares that there were never such opportunities to make money in any country as now in Utah. Ore, he affirms, in any quantity can be bought for almost nothing; that yielding $400 per ton is held at from $30 to $50 per ton. "J. W. HAMILTON, a wealthy miner in this section," says the Omaha Herald, "was in town on Wednesday, and informed A. L. KING that he had now ready for shipment 12,000 tons of rich ore." P. T. MACNAMARA informs the editor of the same journal that there is not the least doubt that vast quantities of rich argentiferous galena exist in the Utah cañons; that the ore is easily and cheaply reduced, and is within convenient reach of the Utah Central Railroad. "Numerous fortunes," this informant adds, "are lying around loose in those mountain gorges." The reports from New-Mexico are equally glowing. The Colorado cañon, explored last year by Major POWELL, is now rivaled, it is said, by other mountains and cañons not heretofore known. "Only the outer rim," writes a correspondent, "of the gold and silver-bearing region of the interior has been touched." "The mineral resources of the Rocky Mountain system do not begin to be understood." In the Burro Mountains, near the Arizona line, and on the Rio Dolores, the finds "will shortly astonish the world."

The tidings, indeed, from almost all of our interior Territories betoken a great increase in the supply of the precious metals. Gov. McCOOK, of Colorado, says that although the mineral resources there have been imperfectly developed, yet as a matter of fact, they have produced $1,080 a year for each man engaged in mining. This may not seem much. "But," adds the Governor, "if you compare it with the result of labor in other parts of the Union, you will find it to be from three to five hundred per cent greater in Colorado than in any other part of this country, or of the world." The amount of money laid out for machinery in Colorado, and, indeed, everywhere in our Western mining districts, has of late been vastly augmented, and in almost every instance so far with auspicious results.

While all this activity and rapid development is going on in the heart of the continent, the Lake Superior region, which, of late, has been comparatively neglected, is again receiving attention. A mine has recently been opened on Silver Islet, near Fort William, from which great things are expected, and considerable returns are said to have been already realized. The vein is what is called quartz-bearing, and runs under the water to, it is affirmed, an immeasurable extent. Several Detroit capitalists are interested in the enterprise, and experienced mining engineers express high hopes of it. This is but one of many like undertakings in the same section, soon to be energetically pushed. It is not to be supposed these Lake Superior mines will rival Washoe, or the great Dunderberg Mine of Castle Peak; but the nearness to market, and all needful supplies, will make the Superior mines, when productive at all, highly profitable. While such substantial additions to our native silver supply are thus promised, that of gold, contrary to the expectation of many, is also growing heavier. The coinage of the San Francisco Mint is largely in excess of that of previous years, and the deposits are comparatively even greater. To name precise figures, the gold deposits at the Mint for the first eight months of 1870 have been $719,811, against $[illegible], in 1869; and the silver deposits for the same time $[illegible] against $9,661 ounces last year. This, however, only imperfectly represents an annual yield of the precious metals, which already surpasses all precedent, and bids fair to attain gigantic proportions hereafter.

What is Tammany?

What Tammany used to be most of us remember perfectly well. It was a committee aiming to be a truly representative body, and composed of men who at least could claim to be members of the reputable classes. Many of them were gentlemen of respectability and character, who would scorn to have a collar placed on their necks by any man, much less by outcasts and adventurers.

A body so constituted would have been worse than useless to TWEED and SWEENY. Under their maleficent rule "Tammany" is an assemblage of men without principle, who are brought in simply to vote as their masters bid them, and who pocket the price of their shame without a suspicion that they are doing anything unbecoming honest men.

SWEENY manipulates these persons, whose names very often are not even to be found in the Directory, to suit his own purposes, but keeps himself carefully in the background. His most useful allies are corrupt Republicans, who, under cover of working for the good of the public, betray every public interest to the enemy. The prizes distributed among them have lately been unusually liberal. For several, TWEED and SWEENY have promised to provide during the remainder of their lives. One man has been offered an appointment of $17,000 a year, and the appointment of twelve policemen, as the reward of his treachery. In this way are human beings turned into chattels, and bought like slaves at the Block.

The people alone can provide a remedy for this. It is useless to trust to politicians. Let the public take the management of the election into its own hands, and then the "Ring," with all its machinations, will be swept away. Honest Democrats are disgusted with it. Listen to what the World said, when it was sober and in its right mind, on the 16th of February last:

"In our deliberate judgment, not New-York alone must and positively be carried again by the Democracy, hamstrung with this nuisance of the 'Ring.' What is more, the Democracy would not deserve to carry the State next Fall if here where their power at the ballot-box is supreme, and with 32 of Albany they control every branch of the State Government, they shall not also proceed to wrest from power those men who have debauched our politics and desolated the name of Democracy."

We ask the public to see that this prediction is verified. Let this be famous in after times as "the people's election," and thus show to TWEED and SWEENY that when they have bought corrupt politicians they have not quite placed the whole community under their odious yoke.

There is to be a great "rally" of Democrats next Thursday evening in this City. Decent people had better remember how the delegates at Rochester behaved, and how Mr. SAMUEL TILDEN had his pocket picked,—and remain at home. The published programme of the proceedings is imperfect, and we have been permitted to supply the deficiency. Mr. TWEED will attend and explain the process by which a bankrupt chairmaker may become a millionaire. Mr. FISK will deliver an address on the obvious advantages of being dishonest. Mr. SWEENY will explain how a man may sign a check and make $63,000 by the operation—or let his brother-in-law make it. "TOM FIELDS" will describe how the Central Park is to be annexed by the "Ring." Mr. CORNELLY will give a lecture on book-keeping by double entry. "BEN" MAGINNIS and "Hank" SMITH will discourse upon the use of a Police force as a means of suppressing political liberties. Mr. NATHANIEL SANDS will give a lecture on the art of turning coats, with illustrations, and Mr. PETER COOPER will read an essay on Simplicity. There will be no extra charge for these entertainments.

Rumors of intended mediation between Prussia and France still fill the air. Dispatches from London, Vienna, and Tours point, with various degrees of definiteness, to the combined action of England, Austria, and Italy in favor of an armistice. We see nothing, however, to justify the hope that this action will be of a character to extort respect from Prussia. A mere recommendation will amount to nothing. Prussia is too intent upon the accomplishment of a purpose to heed the proposals of outside Powers, under a leadership which shrinks from everything but the most timid and harmless diplomacy.

How unfairly the United States Government has been arraigned by over-zealous friends of Prussia in reference to the sale of arms and ammunition to France, the facts furnished by our Washington correspondent sufficiently attest. The Government has effected no sale, direct, to either of the belligerents, but it has not hesitated to consult German wishes as to the date of certain sales by auction, at which all bidders, French or German, stood on an equality. The ground assumed on this subject is impregnable. The Government neither helps nor hinders either Power in its dealings with American citizens. On the other hand, it distinctly recognizes the right of our citizens to make their own bargains with the agents of either.

JOHN RUSKIN, with all his eccentricities, appreciates the position to which England has been degraded by the policy of its Government in reference to the war. He sees that what GLADSTONE and BRIGHT uphold as neutrality is simply the "selling of coke and silence." The policy makes mercantile profit the sole end of national existence, and brings about an adverse balance of trade. It aims at establishing impartiality, and only provokes imputations of treachery and cowardice. "Poor," Mr. RUSKIN describes it, "yet not careful to keep even the treasure of probity—and rich, without being able to afford itself the luxury of courage." No nation ever drifted more rapidly toward insignificance,—estimating it by its influence upon the attitude and purposes of other Powers.

Mr. MEDILL, of the Chicago Tribune, one of the ablest and most thoughtful of Western public men, has had a practical experience of the evil influences which seem almost everywhere to taint nominating conventions. He has been named for a Republican Congressional nomination, and there are few who have more honestly earned it, or who could bring to its acceptance stronger guarantees of usefulness at Washington. He insisted, however, that his friends should stand aloof from all corrupt measures, and he steadily refused to entertain proposals invoking compacts in relation to office patronage. In other words, the nomination was made conditional upon the nominee being one of the intriguing and designing politicians who are degrading to candidates as to conventions. This virtue was too much for Chicago. The views of New-York politicians are represented there on a small scale, and Mr. MEDILL finds himself too much for him. "Within the past week," he writes in a published card, "it has become apparent that my nomination is being attempted by the employment of means and influences which I cannot consent to combat." So the unscrupulous traders carry the day, and Mr. MEDILL is out of the field.

We do not learn now, for the first time, that Ex-Gov. SEYMOUR can [illegible] things to all men. He was furiously Anti-[illegible] one day, and the next accepted a Presidential nomination on a platform construed by Pendleton's friends. So in regard to the population of this City. When, during the war, he desired to keep down the quota of men, he maintained that the population had been over-estimated. Desiring now to afford an excuse for fraudulent voting at the last election, and for fraudulent registration this Fall, he contends that the census-takers are at fault, and that the population is much larger than the official returns show it to be. The Ex-Governor has elaborated this proposition into a speech which he delivered at Rome; but really he gets no further in the direction of proof than Mayor HALL, who denied the accuracy of the census, but relapsed into silence when the Marshal challenged him to test the question practically. The Ex-Governor, like the Mayor, appears to have forgotten that the census is a matter of fact, not of partisanship or rhetoric.

The Boston correspondent of the Springfield Republican points out that Mr. WENDELL PHILLIPS, while making war upon both the political parties, has not a word to say upon the subject of Legislative corruption. On the contrary, remarks "Warrington," he "appears as the apologist if not the defender of the lobby." The prohibitory interest of which he is the champion is associated very disreputably with that institution in Massachusetts, and with some of the worst elements in the Legislature. Therefore Mr. PHILLIPS practically becomes the ally of bad men, and the supporter of an influence which is doing more to demoralize legislation at Washington and in the States than the liquor interest, which he would summarily suppress. Inconsistency is not a novel weakness in candidates; but who would have thought that the man whose peculiar mission it is to find fault with everybody, would be content to fall so low to secure a very remote chance of office?

The Herald very wisely said the other day, that "no honest voter, desirous of honest elections in this City, has any objections to offer against the reasonable Election laws of Congress. The cry that they are unconstitutional is simply absurd." Yesterday it attacked those same laws. Mistakes will happen; let us hope that this was only a mistake. On Saturday it expressed an opinion that our charge against the Controller can be refuted. Then why not let it be refuted? We will gladly publish any statement tendered by the Controller on the subject.

AMUSEMENTS.

Musical and Theatrical.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR TO-NIGHT.

The first concert given by Miss NILSSON since her return from a very successful tour, occurs at Steinway Hall to-night. Additional interest will be supplied the entertainment by the debut of Miss MARIE KREBS, pianist....The first performance of English opera at NIBLO'S takes place this evening. "Martha" will be sung....A complete change of bill will be made at Lina Edwin's Theatre....The first performance of Don LEONTI, a new gymnast, is to endow the performance at the New-York Circus with special attractiveness....The opera of "Il Trovatore" is to be sung at the Stadt Theatre to-night. ....Miss JAHAUSCHEK is to act in "Deborah" at the Brooklyn Academy of Music.

DE CORDOVA'S LECTURES.

Mr. DE CORDOVA announces the first of his annual course of lectures for Thursday evening next. His list of subjects embraces "Jealous Little Mrs. Williams," "Charles Dickens"—to be the theme on the following Tuesday—and "Young America in His Summer Vacation," to be described on the subsequent Monday. Mr. DE CORDOVA'S yearly entertainments are always pleasant events. His social sketches are fresh, truthful and amusing, and their recital is accomplished with an art of which the most refined and genial of actors might be jealous. So there is no reason to doubt the attractiveness of the new series, the place of rehearsal of which will be, as heretofore, Steinway Hall.

AID FOR THE FRENCH WOUNDED.

A French musical and dramatic entertainment, promising well in respect of excellence and success, is to be given in aid of the French wounded, at the Fourteenth-street Theatre, on Wednesday evening of this week. A liberal programme has been arranged, and MM. JULIENNY, DUCHESNE and GIRARDEUCHE, and Mmes. DE LIMAL and GERBERUCH are to be the principal interpreters. No more enjoyable way of contributing to a most worthy charity could be selected, and we are confident that the attempt to swell the fund will have the generous aid of play-goers of all nationalities.

The French National Subscription.

The French of West Hoboken and Union Hill, who recently opened a subscription in aid of their wounded countrymen, have raised their first installment, amounting to $137 75, which has been transmitted to Mr. GERDY, the President of the Committee in this City. The newly-formed French Association Hebdomadaire, organized for the purpose of raising monthly subscriptions, has transmitted a second collection, amounting to $26 50. The French residents of Leavenworth, Kansas, through M. BOUSSE, transmitted recently the Committee, from New-Mexico a remittance of $212 has been made by M. COUDERT of Las Vegas, of which $235 were contributed by the French clergy.

Mlle. OTHYLIE BOUSSOR continues to receive donations of articles of comfort for the French soldiers from different points in the interior, and goods for the bazaar, but she complains that some articles sent to her have arrived in a damaged condition. Since her last transmission of two cases of goods in the steamer St. Laurent she has received contributions from Detroit, Philadelphia, and other localities in the interior. The Treasurer for the French National Bazaar has received from Stamford, Conn., $100 in aid of its undertaking, the amount having been collected by Mlle. VIOL, of that city, among the Americans there. Mlle. VIOL states in her letter that she is the only French resident in Stamford. M. CHARRET, of Murray-street, has made a donation of a valuable watch for the French bazaar.

In reference to the French Fair, it has been proposed that a military Committee of seven American gentlemen be formed.

The German War Fund Collections.

Consul-General JOHANNES ROESING on Saturday made another remittance to Berlin to the amount of 16,000 thalers, making with the previous remittances amounting to 240,000 th

RELIGIOUS SERVICES.

A RADICAL BELIEF.

Sermon by Rev. O. B. Frothingham—Strongly Radical Theological Views.

"A Radical Belief" was the subject of a discourse, yesterday morning, by Rev. O. B. FROTHINGHAM, at Lyric Hall. There was present a large auditory, comprising, among others, nearly all the prominent members of the Liberal Club. Mr. FROTHINGHAM took his text from II. Corinthians, chap. iv., verse 13:

"Wehaving the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak."

Questions of religious belief and disbelief, he said, continue to interest mankind, more than those of any other nature. At the Unitarian Conference lately held in this City, thousands were attracted thither simply because there was an argument as to what was the common ground of Christian belief. In itself the whole matter was immaterial, and precious hours were wasted in discussing it that might have been given to the elucidation of matters of more direct and pressing interest. Yet none of these stirred the emotions as did this impossible talk. The general erroneous persuasion of to-day was, that below practice lies belief; and that, the question of belief being settled, all other questions would answer themselves—that belief, only, leads to the performance of good works. It is to be regretted that men having, as had the members at that Conference, the same views of Christ, of man's moral nature, &c., could not work harmoniously together, leaving mere theological views in abeyance. If theological views must be stated, however, it is well that they should be sharply defined. He would, therefore, announce some of the fundamental principles on which radicals, like himself, grounded their faith. It must be taken for granted that radicals have a faith; and because it is to a certain extent undefined and indefinable in its fullness, that was no objection to its reality. The creed of Christendom had been undergoing changes for the past two, thousand years. The first attempt to put it into dogmatic outline was made in the fourth century, and we have now arrived at the nineteenth, and the creed of Christendom is not yet decided upon. There is no unanimity as to Christ, no perfect accord as to the Godhead, nor as to what Christianity is at the present day. Would they not, then, allow the radicals even one generation in which to perfect a standard of belief, while they have had centuries without coming to any definite result? Let them wait, and they would see what is a radical belief. He would simply give some hints of it as at present developed. The radical believed, first, in the existence of a spiritual sentiment in man. There was ever an upward emotion after the true; and this was not the creation of priests, or of rulers; but inherent in man by virtue of his very existence. Priests and rulers had taken advantage of it to found a religious fashion, religious fashions; but they did not originate it. The speaker then instanced Plato, Goethe, Milton, Dante, Kant, Fichtar, Hegel and Schleiermacher, as having all given evidence of this spiritual sentiment, though it was shown in various and even opposite ways. Even the most radical of them burst into the infinite; and, when they reached it, they fell on their knees. He contended that the age of enlightenment must be an age of faith. The great discoverers do not pray, perhaps, but they adore. Notwithstanding that churchmen might say, there never would be a time when Buddhism, Zoroasterism, Judaism or Christianism, but for the fact that man is inherently a religious being. True, many of the past beliefs and forms of worship are classed as superstitions, but they were suited to their times. As progress and enlightenment make themselves felt, superstition disappears, and in time we have the rejection, for instance of many of the past beliefs. The radical believes in God; not the God of any particular church; not in any special and individual God. He cannot believe in a God who creeps behind sectarian and sectarian particular creeds; in a God who made the world in six days and broke down in his efforts, and then had to die himself in order to remedy the defects in his own handiwork; in a God who haunts the dreams of pious men and fills the imaginations of zealous women, or in one who has left two books as the result of his concern for man's happiness. The "God of Abraham, of Isaac and of Jacob" the radical knows not. He knows only God, and dare not attempt any further definition. If there must be definitions of Him, however, than the more there are the better. We need the multitude of thoughts on this matter to save us from the tyranny of any single creed. Secondly—The radical knows nothing of the moral attributes of God. In fact, he dislikes the word "attributes," because it implies something separate and distinct from—not inherent in—God himself. He does not call Him the God of love, of mercy, of goodness; but styles him simply Love, Mercy, Goodness. Justice—the radical's God has no outcasts, for any cause whatever. He knows nothing of an infinite love that provides an endless punishment for its creatures. Thirdly—The radical believes in Revelation; not in any particular revelation made to any special person, but in any individual; but revelation known of all men. This revelation is natural. He is Light, and light must shine; he is Love, and love must flow out; and infinite love cannot be contracted, and made applicable to certain individuals or certain peoples. The natural, the moral, and the spiritual eyes are successively opened, and through them are seen the upholdings of Deity. The pure in heart "see God"—none others can—and these pure in heart may be either Pagan, Christian, Jew or Turk. Fourthly—The radical believes in Christianity as he understands it. He does not believe it to be the only true religion, but the most worthy one as yet organized, and, at the time, best calculated to lead him to further and more extensive knowledge in his search after truth. The particular Christianity embodied in the dogmas of any one Church he does not consider binding upon him. His deductions as to moral duty are drawn from the gradual unfolding of the goodness and love of God as they become known to him.

The conclusion of Mr. FROTHINGHAM'S discourse was a grouping together of these fundamental principles of "radical belief," upon which he based the injunction that man should always consider himself mentally untrammeled, and be a constant searcher after truth, independent of any popular notions or dogmas.

LIVE AND LEARN.

Sermon by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher—The Philosophy of Suffering.

The pleasant sun and genial atmosphere of yesterday morning had the effect of filling Plymouth Church with an audience of more than ordinary size and brilliancy. Long before the admired parson had made his appearance, every seat and most of the standing room in the vast edifice was occupied by eager auditors, and when at 10½ Mr. BEECHER took his seat upon the platform, a position even in the doorway had come to be looked upon as a luxury. On the side tables there were piled in usual quantity of rare flowers and Spring-like greenery, the effect of which was to shed an air of freedom and sunshine over the entire audience. In his opening prayer the reverend gentleman referred with special fervency to "the war now delaying Europe with blood," and expressed a desire that it would be speedily brought to an end, and be made the means of establishing upon a surer basis than ever before, truth and justice upon the earth. The sermon was one almost purely doctrinal in its character, but in it Mr. BEECHER took occasion to give expression to some of the intellectual heresies, religiously speaking, that have ever fallen from his lips. He took for his text the eighteenth verse of the eighth chapter of Romans: "For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us." He opened his discourse by referring to the fact that in the days of the Apostles the essential difference existing between the Hebrew and Greek mind was, that to the latter all truth had to be preached through the intellect, while with the former the sentiments and emotions were the controlling powers. In Paul, however, both tendencies appear to have been most exquisitely blended. In this book of Romans are specimens of logical acumen unequaled anywhere, coupled with expressions showing a mastery of human emotion without a parallel. The sentiments contained in it, defining and explaining human nature, are even today being borne out by the most recent discoveries of science. At this point, reverting to the text, he said that, according to Paul, sorrow was but an incident in human nature—it was not in sense an end. Long before the world was created, when God first determined to bring it into existence, the life of man was sketched out with the sorrow and suffering that we see in it now. Man suffers more than any other animal, simply because he stands higher than they do—he has more life in him. All through creation it is found that beings suffer and enjoy in proportion to the value of their lives. In fact these are the great teachers, and we rise or fall in proportion to the amount of heed we give to their lessons. The world is improved by bringing forth; and nothing is ever was born without pain. So it is with the mind of man, commencing as he did as nothing, out of mere animalism and sensuality, through grief and tears have been born the higher elements of his character. And until the spirit has become complete master of the soul this suffering must continue, because between these two there must be continual war, the one striving to lift and the other to degrade. That a time, however, will come in the history of this race when the animal will be totally and forever vanquished in the race, not only the word of God but the whole creation testifies. The more important the result to be achieved, the more intense will be the suffering. The lowest kind of suffering is that of the mere animal, and the highest is experienced by the mind when it overcomes its own selfishness and rises into the pure air of spiritual life and manhood. This is self-denial. Its practical effect has been seen in the lives of martyrs, who hesitated not to sacrifice all manner of personal comfort for the accomplishment of some great moral purpose. Suffering is not lawless, and moreover it is always the result of our own action. God does not throw it in upon our lives. It comes in accordance with law; it is the result of law violated, and it is the duty of man, when he is overcome, not to sit down and whine about it, but to ask himself the simple question, how has this come, and do his utmost to remove the cause. In view of these facts, it is sad to see how much of this suffering is unnecessary. It is not understood; men do not see in it the result of law violated, but the manifestation of some arbitrary power to whom they can do naught but submit. In conclusion, Mr. BEECHER, taking a large general view of human nature, said that to him the teaching and philosophy of Paul was that enduring was a teacher who could not be dispensed with until man learned to do right, and that when that happy time arrived, as he believed it would, the teacher will be discharged.

THE GOD OF SWEDENBORG.

"Jesus Christ the Only God"—Sermon by E. B. Sayres.

This was the subject of a lecture or sermon, delivered last night in Steinway Hall, by Rev. E. B. SAYRES, late of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The Hall was very fairly filled, and as the people entered, each one received a card containing the Swedenborgian Creed on one side and the Scriptural texts to support it on the other, together with a trace on "The Divine Trinity in the Lord Jesus Christ." The creed asserts the Divinity of the Lord Jesus Christ, though its exponent in his discourse insisted that the vicarious atonement of Christ is inconsistent with the belief in his divinity, notwithstanding the faith of Christendom rests upon the vicarious atonement of the Lord Jesus. The sermon was based on Matthew xxi., 10: "And when he was come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, Who is this?" It was to the inquiry contained in the text that the discourse was chiefly directed. The doctrines of the Trinitarians and of the Unitarians on this subject were recited and contrasted. While the former assert the divinity of Christ, the latter deny it, and say that he was a good man, but nothing more. Neither side contributes anything toward the solution of the problem, and the only intelligent and reasonable explanation that can be given, he said, was first promulgated by EMANUEL SWEDENBORG more than one hundred years ago. That exponent of Christ proceeded to give it in detail. Laying down the position of the divinity of God, he cited various texts from the Old and New Testaments to show that that doctrine alone was believed in by the Old Testament writers, and very strongly, though not wholly was that doctrine held and early Christian fathers. There is no intimation in the Old Testament of more than one Divine Person, and this one takes to himself the titles and attributes of the Savior and Redeemer of men. Numerous scriptures were brought forth in support of this also, and it was argued that hence Jesus and Jehovah must be one and the same person, or else there are two Saviors doing the same work. Texts were copiously quoted to prove the identity of Jehovah and Jesus as one. From these two propositions Mr. KEYES made four deductions: 1. That the Lord our God is one Lord; 2. That the Lord Jesus Christ is God; 3. That Jesus Christ is declared to be the Lord and Savior; and 4. That Jehovah and Jesus Christ are one—God over all, and blessed for evermore. The rationale of this doctrine of SWEDENBORG was next presented, in which it appeared that God incarnate received a new name, namely, Jesus Christ. A scientific theory was presented to show that divinity cannot be divided; that when Christ said His Father was greater than He, He did not mean it; when the Father acknowledged Him as His Son at the baptism, and when Jesus prayed at the tomb of Lazarus, and on the cross and elsewhere, He was addressed the words came not from without, but from within Himself. It was divine truth addressing itself. And Jesus' whole life was but a manifestation of this divine truth of which he was the embodiment. Children, he said, derive the material body from the mother, and the mind and spirit from the father, and erecting from this premises and considering that God is the Father of Jesus Christ, it is easy, he remarked, to understand how God could send his Son—the divine truth—into the world. But if the state of mankind, considered in this light, difficulty is increased if there be no Son to send or Father by paternal ties. The truth being eternally the same, the Word must consequently be with God and be God. In meeting the objections to SWEDENBORG'S theories, Mr. KEYES admitted that the Bible teaches the doctrine of the trinity of godhead, but not of people. This was illustrated by the familiar example of the triple nature of man. "We prayed when Christ prayed," he asked. "Was it a divine person to a divine being? or, if a human person, why did he pass by the God that was within him and go to one without him? As if the absurdity of the question was sufficient argument against the doctrine, he triumphantly asserted that no satisfactory explanation can be given but that of EMANUEL SWEDENBORG.

THE PILGRIM JUBILEE.

Second Lecture of Rev. Dr. Bacon, on the Conflict Between Separation and Puritanism.

Rev. Dr. BACON delivered his second lecture on the "Conflict Between Separation and Puritanism," at the Broadway Tabernacle last evening. There was a large congregation in attendance, and the deepest interest manifested in the discourse. The lecturer commenced by saying: Puritanism in England, as we have seen, was a demand for an ecclesiastical reformation, to be made by the national authority. Queen ELIZABETH and the Parliament as having full legal power in England, were to revise the established forms of public worship, and purge out all idolatrous and superstitious ceremonies. The laws and regulations were to be changed, not in the interests of liberty or broad Church principles, but in the interest of primitive purity and simplicity. Puritanism, in its study of the Scriptures, has learned that Archbishops and Archdeacons were not known to the Apostles; that the Bishops mentioned in the New Testament used of local churches only, and not rulers of many; that ecclesiastical courts for imposing fines and other penalties were unknown in the Apostolic age. Now when the Puritan clergy celebrated marriage without a ring and took communion without kneeling, they did not believe that they had acceded from the Church of England. So in these days Père HYACINTHE did not think he acceded from the Church, nor even from Romanism, when he refused to obey his ecclesiastical superior; and when they ordered him to Rome, instead going to Rome he came to America. When Puritan clergymen ordained without surplices, baptized without using the sign of the cross, or solemnized marriage without a ring, they were arrested, fined and imprisoned by the ecclesiastical tribunals. So under this system of prosecution, fines and weary imprisonment they began to question whether there were any warrants in Scripture for the Episcopal government of the Church of England. They could find none. They decided that the Church of Christ was a natural Church. PARKER, one of Queen ELIZABETH'S Bishops, was a Puritan, and his idea of Church government was that he found in operation at Zurich, in Switzerland, when he fled, during the reign of "bloody" MARY. During these times many clergy were repeatedly fined and imprisoned for their refusal to comply with the Protestant ritual. They believed that it was wrong to preach the Gospel without the warrant of any prince or prelate. ROBERT BROWNE, one of the most prominent of these, was brought up for Nonconformity, and compelled to fly to Germany, where he gathered a Church of English Puritan exiles. There he printed two pamphlets in defense of his principles, which he could not print in England except by stealth. These two books, printed out of the reach of English laws and English ministers, were introduced into the country and widely circulated. TRACESS and other prominent Puritans were arrested for the crime of putting these pamphlets into circulation, tried on the plea of putting the Queen's supremacy, and two of them, of which TRACESS was one, sentenced to death. It was not pretended that they incited to riot or treason—their only crime was simply the exercise of the Christian right of a voluntary Christian Church association. They were tried and found guilty by the Lord Chief Justice of England. They died not as heretics, at the stake, but as felons, at the gallows. But it was not as easy as Queen ELIZABETH supposed to stamp out Puritanism. In 1590 a bill was actually brought into Parliament which contemplated banishing all Puritans from the country, but in opposition to the measure it was said that there were then "twenty thousand of them in the country, and it was asked what was to become of their wives and children? In 1592 the first regular Puritan Church was organized, and after that the persecution became more active. An arbitrary commission was appointed consisting of forty-four members, twelve of whom were Bishops, who were vested with full judicial functions, and any three of them, one being a Bishop, were sufficient to constitute a court.

Here the lecturer quoted from the penal code enforced by this body, which in point of severity was such as people usually associate with the annals of the Inquisition.

This was ecclesiastical law. The secular law of England thus far took no cognizance. So that the imprisoned Puritans appealed by a humble petition and a respectful protest against the punishment they were being subjected to for conscience sake, setting forth their innocence of any criminal offense, and asking that justice might be administered to the law of England, be done them. "If," said they, in their appeal, "we are to die, let us die openly, and if we are to live, let us live openly; but do not allow us to be starved to death in loathsome prisons." To one of these petitions Lord BURLEIGH replied that they could only obtain their liberty by conforming to the ecclesiastical authorities. But it became apparent to the Government that the separatists could not be subdued without more vigorous measures. Accordingly, BARROW and GREENWOOD were executed, and sent to join the great army of martyrs. Be ye ready to [illegible] lecturer. Under God, we owe our religious liberty to the sufferings and martyrdom of those who have borne witness against the errors and corruptions of the Church of Rome, and have suffered as hard or as perilous as those they traversed.

THE VANITY OF DRESS.

Sermon by Rev. H. W. Beecher—"Take No Thought for Your Raiment."

"Life is More Than Drinking," was the subject of Rev. J. P. SWIFT'S sermon, in the Attorney-street M. E. Church last evening. The text was found in Matthew, vi., 25: "Take no thought for your body what you shall put on." He said: Christ in speaking to us intends to meet all the wants of society, and never passed a word to be written that did not tend to throw some light upon the manner in which man's salvation might be most easily accomplished. He intended us to be creatures of a single idea, which should be our salvation. Referring to the text, the reverend gentleman said: In the earlier days of our race apparel was very little heeded, the Maud's whose first garments were aprons of fig-leaves. Nowadays the dress of our fellow-creatures is with them a matter of primary importance. Genius and intellect have been lost in their excessive devotion to the fashionable attire of the present refinement. Upward of $600,000,000 is estimated, are spent annually in this country to gratify the passion for splendid habiliments. Men and women go to extremes in this matter, as you all know. Is it not said that one stitch and weft be not in fashion, the world is out of the fashion, which changes four times a year? Is it not monstrous the hundreds of dollars that are thrown away thus? We ought to dress respectably, and appear just as well as we can decorningly, avoiding extremes. It is not necessary that you should wear a garment worth two or three hundred dollars. It is an evil in society, this tendency to be extravagant. Men and women now judge people by their attire. God measures them by the spirit in which it is worn. Are we not, in following out this calling, acting in direct opposition to the teachings of Christ? If we have our minds are all absorbed by the thought of wherewithal our body shall be clothed, we have not time to think of how the soul shall be garbed. Something more than this, then, ought to be in our hearts. Seek we first the garments of religion for our souls, namely, its salvation. Give me rather to prayer than to dress, but let it have one application that stainless robe of Christ's righteousness. Have you ever thought, continued he, that in this life you are dressing for eternity? Life is a wardrobe, where we shall put on the garments in which we shall appear in the life to come before the judgment seat of God. The robes we wear only on Sabbath by Christians, and laid aside by them at all other times, fit them so badly that they will not answer in that awful day, and will not be suitable for a wedding garment, in which we should appear when the bridegroom comes. Now, my friends, are there two Saviors doing the same work. Texts were copiously quoted to prove the identity of Jehovah and Jesus as one. From these two propositions Mr. KEYES made four deductions: 1. That the Lord our God is one Lord; 2. That the Lord Jesus Christ is declared to be the Lord and Savior; and 4. That Jehovah and Jesus Christ are one—God over all, and blessed for evermore. The rationale of this doctrine of SWEDENBORG was next presented, in which it appeared that God incarnate received a new name, namely, Jesus Christ. A scientific theory was presented to show that divinity cannot be divided; that when Christ said His Father was greater than He, He did not mean it; when the Father acknowledged Him as His Son at the baptism, and when Jesus prayed at the tomb of Lazarus, and on the cross and elsewhere, He was addressed the words came not from without, but from within Himself. It was divine truth addressing itself. And Jesus' whole life was but a manifestation of this divine truth of which he was the embodiment. Children, he said, derive the material body from the mother, and the mind and spirit from the father, and erecting from this premises and considering that God is the Father of Jesus Christ, it is easy, he remarked, to understand how God could send his Son—the divine truth—into the world. But if the state of mankind, considered in this light, difficulty is increased if there be no Son to send or Father by paternal ties. The truth being eternally the same, the Word must consequently be with God and be God. In meeting the objections to SWEDENBORG'S theories, Mr. KEYES admitted that the Bible teaches the doctrine of the trinity of godhead, but not of people. This was illustrated by the familiar example of the triple nature of man. "We prayed when Christ prayed," he asked. "Was it a divine person to a divine being? or, if a human person, why did he pass by the God that was within him and go to one without him? As if the absurdity of the question was sufficient argument against the doctrine, he triumphantly asserted that no satisfactory explanation can be given but that of EMANUEL SWEDENBORG.

OTHER SERVICES.

Universalist Idea of God—Sermon by Rev. M. C. Sweetser.

A large congregation in sympathy with liberal Christianity assembled, last evening, at the Third Universalist Church, corner of Lincoln-st and Downing-streets, to hear the first of a series of sermons by Rev. R. C. SWEETSER, on "Universalist Belief," of which, although a very youthful, he is yet an earnest and eloquent expounder. He selected his text from the first epistle of John, iv., 8.: "God is love." He said: All religions are based on a belief in God, on a Being greater and more powerful than man. This belief is universal, and there can be, in reality, no sincere atheist. Men may differ in the nature of their belief in God, but down in every man's heart that belief exists. Religion takes its character from the character which we ascribe to God. Men make themselves in the image of their gods, and in proportion as their ideas of the nature of the God they believe in. The chief support of Universalism is to be found in the text: "God is love." When the consciousness of this fact is fully felt, then the doctrines of Universalism can be easily established. The material world is a vast volume, unless we form an idea of them, honorable to God. It is, therefore, necessary to define the true meaning of this word love, on account of the diversity of views entertained of it. Love stands alone, it has no synonym, and therefore it must be explained by comparison. God's love is, in its nature, like parental love, and therefore our love is the standard of comparison. In its capacity, in its perfection, in its eternity, it is unlike ours. Just as a single drop of the ocean partakes of the same nature as the ocean itself, so our love resembles that of God. There is no impassable gulf separating man from God, and man must feel the consciousness of God's love before he can reach the highest standard of Christian love. When Universalists say God is love, they mean that He is like the love of a mother, pure, unchangeable and limitless. Christ and His disciples and all nature testify to this love.

Nature tells, not of discord, but of union, not of hate, but of love; and not even can a sparrow fall to the ground without the knowledge of our Heavenly Father. Some philosophers regard the sun, moon and the beautiful order of nature, as mere matters of course, but if things had been reversed, and confusion instead of order reigned, their opinions would undergo a similar transformation, and a universal belief in a great illwill would prevail. As things now are, ought they not so be consistent to believe in a great good will? Each man owes his existence to a greater power, and therefore God has some good, and its accomplishment is the end of every human being. Our final perfection and salvation was the glorious object for which we were created. God knew before he made man that he would sin, but he has both the wisdom and power to save all men. Well might Mr. BEECHER have thought of this, in his last Sunday, that he could not understand the idea of an eternal punishment. The evil and the misery God now suffers to exist as a means for the glorious end He has in view, and good must be the final goal of evil. We cannot conceive of any eternity existence of evil to its eternal existence. God loves us and, therefore, He will save us, and yet He will force no man into heaven, or remove our free will. But of man's free will and God's conflict, it is easy to see on whose side victory will be. Choose whatever path we may, God will lead us in His love, to the full knowledge of Christ. Eternal punishment could subserve neither the ends of love or justice, only chaos of revenge.

Sermon by Rev. M. Richardson on "Demand and Supply."

The growing popularity of Rev. MERRILL RICHARDSON, who has recently assumed the pastorate of the New-England Congregational Church, has compelled that church to vacate its narrow quarters in Rutgers Chapel, Fifth-avenue, and to seek a more commodious place. They have therefore rented for one year the edifice on the corner of Madison-avenue and Forty-seventh-street, formerly occupied by Rev. Dr. FLEGG'S Protestant Episcopal Church, and more recently by Dr. MORGAN'S St. Thomas' Church. A very fair congregation assembled there yesterday, to whom Mr. RICHARDSON talked in the morning on the law of supply and demand, basing his remarks upon Phil. iv., 19, "God shall supply all your need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus." Mr. RICHARDSON divided his subject into three heads: 1. Waste in nature that the supply equals the demand. 2. God has made abundant provision for the cultivation of the love of beauty in us; and 3. Ample provision for the improvement and culture of our social affections. Filling up and elevating these ideas with appropriate thoughts and words, he went on to show that similar provisions have been made and corresponding processes prevail in the Kingdom of Grace. The discourse and its application were made so apparent that no one who heard it could fail to perceive wherein his or her sphere or duty and labor lay.

In the evening Mr. RICHARDSON, following up his previous discourse in the same spirit, treated of "wasted energies," and pointed out the most profitable direction in which every Christian energy can be employed. The Sabbath-school had a session in the afternoon. The church will meet in the same place for the next year, and perhaps longer.

The Plymouth Bethel Anniversary—Remarks of Mr. Beecher.

The anniversary of the Bethel of the Plymouth Church, situated on Hicks-street, near Fulton, Brooklyn, was celebrated yesterday afternoon in the Bethel. The little chapel was filled to overflowing with an interested audience. In the body of the building were seated about 100 children who are in the habit of receiving secular and religious instruction at the hands of the institute. Some fine hymns were sung by these little ones, and a short report was read showing that considerable efforts had been done in a quiet way during the year, and stating also that the interest in the work was constantly increasing. Rev. EDWARD EGGLESTON, of the Independent, Rev. ARTHUR TAYLOR, of the Sunday-school Times, and Rev. HENRY WARD BEECHER delivered appropriate addresses. Mr. BEECHER dwelt with great eloquence upon the importance of the work in which the Society is engaged. He said that in the bold invasion of the haunts of poverty and vice, in these strongholds of Satan, no misfortune which might have subsequently occurred should properly be considered. He then referred to their relations in the interval between the engagement and the marriage, and said their department should be characterized by a modest reserve and an exhibition of tender sympathy rather than a violent avowal of love. The reverend gentleman in conclusion said that a strict regard should be paid to the observance of Christian and religious duties, and a marriage celebrated under such circumstances would be productive of the happiest results.

A Positive View of the European Struggle.

The "American Positivists" held a meeting, yesterday afternoon, and passed resolutions to the effect—first, that the bombardment of Paris would be an indelible stain upon the Prussian arms; second, that the action of King WILLIAM in prosecuting the war after the event of Sedan, was an inexcusable assault upon an confiding people, NAPOLEON and his ministers being the guilty parties; third, that our Government should actively intervene in the struggle; fourth, sustaining the action of their English co-religionists, Dr. CONGREVE, Prof. BEESLEY, and their coadjutors, in their opposition to the continuance of the present disastrous war, and fifth, stigmatizing King WILLIAM as a modern Attila, should he proceed further in his designs and asserting that Europe's only safeguard against military domination rests in the formation of a great consolidated government for the whole Continent, as foreshadowed in the speeches of LAMARTINE, victor HUGO, and GARIBALDI. The resolutions were discussed by Messrs. DAVIDS, ELDER, SUMNER, WALKER, CROSBY, Judge MACOMB and others, and were unanimously adopted.

Interesting Anniversary Services.

Christ Church, (German Lutheran,) corner of Fifth-street and Avenue B—a flourishing outgrowth of the Fourteenth-street Mission Sunday-school, and organized one year ago with Rev. G. U. WEBNER, the missionary of the Fourteenth-street Mission as pastor—celebrated its first anniversary last evening. After the usual introductory services, the pastor, a graduate of Union Theological Seminary, preached a very eloquent sermon in German from Jeremiah viii., 22, and also presented the Report annual showing that the number of communicants to be 173, of whom 118 have been added during the year. Though the church is not self-supporting, the congregation, which is drawn chiefly from the poorer classes, has raised during the year $1,126 71. Rev. Dr. WARNEKE, the liberal German Lutheran church, delivered a very impressive discourse from the text, "Ebenezer, thitherto hath the Lord helped us," showing the virtue of gratitude and necessity to ever watch and pray, as has been the case with their brethren of the Fatherland, now struggling against tyranny and oppression. This struggle would, by the blessing of heaven, end in the complete emancipation of the human mind from Popery. He concluded with an earnest appeal to the congregation to aid the church as they were able.

New-York City Mission and Tract Society—Interesting Services.

A meeting of the New-York City Mission and Tract Society was held in the Madison-square Presbyterian Church last evening, at which addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. MINCHIN, and Dr. DURYEA, of Brooklyn. Mr. MINCHIN reviewed the work that had been done by the Mission, and said that it had much more to do, but was in want of funds. He said that those who have given liberally must not suppose that the money lavished was not bringing forth great results. The Sunday attendance of the class of people [illegible] carefully [illegible] At one place [illegible] women [illegible] said that they were disproving the objection that had been urged against their taking a part in the work. He related in illustration of the work that was being done among the fallen, an anecdote of a girl from Greene-street, who, after much trouble, was finally saved by the collection of a tract found at the City Mission. Dr. DURYEA, in his address, dwelt upon the great power of personal influence, sympathy and example. Christ addressed himself to the incarnation of evil. He brought himself to bear upon the personal power of evil. The personal [illegible] be brought to bear upon the minds of men. He compared New-York to that [illegible] remarkable similarity [illegible] said there is a strange similarity [illegible] may the least, between the two cities. We may not; but repetitious governmental falls in cities [illegible] will be unavoidable. Nothing will estrange them but the spread of Christianity. If you change our Government to a despotism, you will have Paris; and if you change it to a limited monarchy, you will have London. At the conclusion of his remarks, in speaking of the power of personal influence and sympathy, he said: have gone out of the City and I find its corrupt influence among the Legislature, which is corrupted by the City politicians raising the commissions and sympathy of the country members by inducing them to vote this way or that by the power of "jobs" in which value for value is exchanged. At the close of his remarks the meeting adjourned.

Dedication of the South Harlem Methodist Episcopal Chapel.

The South Harlem Methodist Episcopal Chapel was dedicated yesterday. The services were under the auspices of the New-York City Sunday-school and Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Mr. A. V. STOUT, President. There was preaching at 10½ A. M. by Rev. J. S. WILLIS. Addresses were delivered at 2½ P. M. by Revs. JOHN N. FARRIER, Rev. WM. G. STEEL, JAS. WOOD, Esq., W. R. PETTIT, Esq., and C. H. APPLEGATE, Esq., and the dedicatory services were conducted by Bishop JAMES.

Mr. STEEL, in his address, stated that the first section of the congregation were held in the open air, on June 5, 1870, with only nine of the present charge, and that he preached the sermon upon that occasion. The services were held under the auspices of the One Hundred and Nineteenth-street Methodist Episcopal Church, which had liberally assisted them in their efforts to establish a place of worship. The chapel was built in October, 1869, and was then dedicated by Rev. C. D. FOSS. Since that time the congregation had increased so rapidly that the building was found to be too small, and it was deemed advisable to increase its size and render it more comfortable. He said the Missionary Society was doing a great work, having already planted hundreds of schools and churches in different parts of the City.

Rev. Mr. PARKER, in his address, dwelt upon the enjoyment to the spread of Christian truth. He spoke of the Unitarian Convention, and said that he had noticed much confusion in these body, but they were two wings in the church, and that he rejoiced in their divergence. He said that Jesus after all was a text, and every sermon since their utterance is an amplification of these texts. The question as to the ultimate triumph of Christianity could not admit of doubt, but it was to be hastened by the erection of places of worship and preaching. Money should be given liberally, for these objects. He, after thirty years of prayer, had this profound conviction—that we and our money belong to God. He was followed by Mr. APPLEGATE, who related several anecdotes of the great work that was being done by missionary chapels. One was of a young man careful and thoughtless—who, passing one of these chapels, heard some voices singing God's praises. He became an attendant, was converted, and is now a minister of the gospel in a Western city. Another was of a young lady who stepped in sin, who was reclaimed through the instrumentality of one of these chapels. Every church and chapel in this City is a light-house to warn sinners from the breakers of sin.

Mr. PARKER at the conclusion of the address asked how much was wanted in order to build the chapel free to the Bishop free of debt.

Mr. ROSS said that $648 would cover it.

Mr. PARKER proposed a collection, which was taken up, and $608 was raised in a very short time, the amount being divided into shares of from 5 to $50.

After notice by the Sunday-school it was announced that Rev. JOHN E. SEARLES would preach at 7½ P. M.

The Sunday-school was held at 9 A. M. and 3 P. M., and the exercises were opened by Mr. J. W. Wessell, Superintendent. The school commenced in a hired room, with twenty scholars, and now numbers 226.

TEMPERANCE.

Meeting at Cooper Institute—Addresses by Edward Cornwall, Stephen Merritt, Jr., and Others.

The last of a series of Sunday evening temperance meetings was held in the large hall of the Cooper Institute, last evening, STEPHEN MERRITT, Jr., in the chair. The exercises were opened by prayer and an anthem by the Marion Glee Club. The first speaker of the evening was EDWARD CORNWELL, of Canada. He came, he said, to advocate the good old cause of temperance; to advocate the destruction of a tree which, like the deadly upas, had spread its poisonous influence all over this and other lands. Some may say that the growth of the tree should be regulated, but on the question of the tree there are in some doubt. Many there are, doubtless, who think such meetings on Sunday evening are wicked. Indeed, there are some professed Christians who entertain such opinions, and this night, before they go to sleep, will sip the wine which has destroyed thousands, and even find a text in the Bible to justify their act. He had visited prisons, and discovered that nine-tenths of the criminals there attributed their condition to drink. It was in the dram-shop where the assassin whets his knife; there the young man finds the temptation which will wipe from memory's slate the prayer his mother taught him. He, too, Bourn called for brandy, brandy, before he could nerve his arm to murder the President of the United States. Time was when the advocates of a temperance were mobbed by the crowd. Now they compel the attention of public opinion is with them, and that side on which public opinion is arrayed is destined to triumph. The brave Capt. McDougall was honored all over the land a few years since, for responding to a flag of distress of a Canadian ship, and yet today the flag of distress are everywhere around us, and few respond. Shall we not, like the noble McDougall, launch the temperance life-boat, and rescue those about to be swallowed up by the high rolling wave of intemperance? The careless world might call the temperance advocates men of one idea, but it was better to be one idea than no idea. Gallileo was a man of one idea! GALLILEO, and the whole race of public benefactors, have been men of one idea. President GRANT was a man of one idea, when, before Richmond, he declared he would fight it out on that line if it took all Summer. The temperance cause is one, it is true, is also of one idea, but it is a good and noble idea. Week before last there were nearly 2,000 arrests in this City, and doubtless by far the larger proportion of these arrests was the result of intemperance. Thus the innocent were punished and the real culprits, the rumsellers, went unpunished. All men ought to be in sentiment the centre of a circle, and none can indulge in strong drink, however moderately, without scattering an evil influence around him; and from a small circle, the evil spreads to the village, then to the country, and finally throughout the world. He then made an eloquent and fervent appeal, by calling upon all, especially the moderate drinkers, to cast their influence on the side of temperance, morality, public prosperity and tranquillity, and against vice, violence, pauperism and crime.

The Rev. Dr. CHEEVER cited several instances of the fearful results of intemperance, and introduced Prof. WILLIAM LYMAN, who depicted the horrors of the last stages of intemperance. Possessing an excellent voice and tragic talent of no common order, the professor gave a vivid and frightful picture of the last hours of the victim of intemperance.

Mrs. GRACE F. MILLS gave a recitation, and the exercises were closed by a few words from the Chairman, in which he commented favorably on the success which had attended the meetings, both as to the numbers in attendance and those taking the pledge.

The Theodore Thomas Concerts in Steinway Hall.

Miss MEHLIG'S performances on the Steinway Grand Piano-forte used at the Theodore Thomas Concerts, last week, afforded such a demonstration of the unrivaled tone qualities of that instrument as it was quite impossible for any intelligent person to gainsay or resist. The occasion was one, fortunately, upon which one of the finest piano-fortes in the world was displayed by one of the finest of living players before one of the finest of our Provincial audiences; and the opportunity for obtaining a judgment was assuredly an excellent one. That the volume of tone, or power of the instrument, whether in the concerto or in the solos, was surprising, every one must admit; while its thoroughly pure and delicately musical quality under every style of manipulation and every variety of shading was perfectly apparent and well calculated to charm every musical ear. Perhaps the many superb qualities of the instrument were as fully exhibited in the Beethoven concerto as in anything that Miss MEHLIG played. This concerto—in which the great master has shown, in a peculiar manner, his supreme skill, judgment, and taste in contrasting the orchestra and the piano, as well as his genius in composition—is one of the very best we have ever heard, and one which is sure to thoroughly delight every intelligent lover of music when played as it was on the occasion of which we are speaking. The qualities of the Steinway instrument, as exhibited in this and other compositions performed by Miss MEHLIG, forcibly reminded us of some of the words of the International Jury, of eminent musical men who examined and pronounced judgment on the American and European piano-fortes at the "Exposition Universelle," in Paris, in 1867, and whose words are as follows:

"In regard to expression, delicate shading, and variety of accentuation, the instruments of Messrs. STEINWAY have an advantage which cannot be contested. These pianos are at the same time the instrument of the virtuoso who wishes to astonish by the delicacy of his execution, and of the artist who applies his talent to the music of thought and sentiment, bequeathed to us by the illustrious masters; in one word, they are at the same time the pianos for the concert-room and the parlor, possessing an unexceptionable superiority."

Tiffany & Co.
NOS. 550 AND 552 BROADWAY,
SALOPOUSY, NOS. 15 AND 17 PRINCE-ST.
ALSO DAILY RECEIVING FROM THEIRS PARIS STORE, SOME WITH THE NEW SATIN FINISH, AND PARIGOL GILDING, PARTICULARLY SUITED TO DESSERT SERVICES AND FANCY PIECES FOR PRESENTS.—Advertisement.

All Sizes Vibrating Bass Accordeons in Artistic Tones.
Dr. M. LEVETT has perfected his new Patent Accordeons Tremolo Plate, which sounds sweeter in proportion to any other reed, being nearly half stronger and classic. His series of accordeons, improvable in the month, is small and compact, and does not interfere with speech or music. Dr. LEVETT, No. 62 East 22d-st., between Broadway and 4th-av.—Advertisement.

Two or Three Colds in Succession, with what many constitutions, actually establish the seeds of consumption in the system, then convincing what was originally a simple, curable affection, into one positively fatal. While ordinary protects, disclosures of the business of every day to take care of a cold until it is got rid of, intelligent experience has usually secured a remedy in Dr. D. JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, thoroughly adapted to remove spasmodic or congestive cases, and are equally efficacious in the primary stages of consumption, asthma, and bronchitis. Sold by all druggists.

Special Notice.
A MEETING OF MEMBERS OF The Prince Company and other Pianos, manufactured at the factory of the late ANDREW WILSON, Jr., will be

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

On Saturday, Oct. 22, MALLORY & BLACKWELL sold on the Exchange a farm containing 100 acres of land, situated at Pellingtown, in Putnam County. The sale was made by order of the Supreme Court, under the direction of RUFUS F. ANDREWS, Esq., receiver and referee. The premises were purchased by F. ARTHER, for $10,000.

On Friday, Oct. 21, Messrs. JOHNSON & MILLER held an extensive sale of lots at Paterson, N. J. The auction was advertised to take place the day before, but the inclemency of the weather on that day necessitated an adjournment. The transaction on Friday was a successful one, over one hundred lots being disposed of at good prices. A detailed report will be found in the Times of Tuesday, it having been received too late for insertion in this column on Saturday. This sale, with the exception of that at Fordham, in Westchester County, effected by A. J. BLEECKER, Son & Co. on Thursday, for the purpose of closing the Lorillard estate, and at which property to the amount of about $20,000 was sold, is the only suburban sale worthy of note which occurred last week.

The market during the past week has not been remarkably active, although the value of City property sold at the Exchange is considerably larger than that of the week previous. Friday was the best day of the week, there having been sales to the amount of $[illegible] effected by ROBERTS & McGUIRE and MOFFAT, WILKINS & CO. Wednesday was also a busy day. Messrs. A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO. sold that time selling New-York property, belonging to the Valentine estate, to the amount of $22,425. Full reports of all these transactions have been published from day to day. The total sales of the week at the Exchange amount to $[illegible], as against $[illegible] for the week before. The Transfer record for the corresponding period of time is also a better one. For the week ending Friday, Oct. 14, the figures were as follows: Total number of transfers, New-York, 105; value, $[illegible]; total number of transfers, Brooklyn, 116; value of property, $[illegible]. The following is the table for the week ending February, Oct. 21:

	New-York.	Value.	Brooklyn.	Value.
Saturday, Oct. 15	14	$[illegible]	17	$[illegible]
Monday, Oct. 17	23	[illegible]	15	$16,000
Tuesday, Oct. 18	19	[illegible]	17	[illegible]
Wednesday, Oct. 19	13	[illegible]	21	$21,[illegible]
Thursday, Oct. 20	15	$18,[illegible]	18	[illegible]
Friday, Oct. 21	17	$21,[illegible]	28	[illegible]
Total	111	$130,[illegible]	116	$[illegible]

The weekly list of new buildings proposed for erection in the City is only an average one. One fact, however, in connection with building in New-York, is noticeable, and that is the number of first-class buildings in process of erection. Both owners of real estate and contractors have discovered that it is no longer profitable to put up a mere shell for a tenement dwelling, whereas the class of structures now going up is of a superior kind. Since the 1st of January, about 1,500 buildings have been commenced, and over 1,400 completed. There are now 1,160 buildings in progress in various sections of the City. These figures may be taken as reliable, having been ascertained from the Department of Buildings, where accurate records of all improvements are on file, and in this connection the new survey of New-York, now being made by Superintendent MOCKRIDGE, full details of which were published exclusively in the TIMES Friday, will, when finished, prove a great value to real estate owners, as it will show at a glance, the nature and value of all improvements in the immediate vicinity of their property.

For the present week business bids fair to be brisk—sales of either City or suburban property being already advertised. The auction programme is an extensive one, and should that interest be shown in the transactions which their importance entitles them to, an impetus will be given to trade which cannot fail to be a healthy one. Today, at the Exchange, some leasehold property will be sold, and on the other days of the week, sales are noticed to take place, as follows:

To-morrow (Tuesday) MULLER, WILKINS & CO. will offer at the Exchange seventeen villa plots located on Washington Heights, and fifty-four City lots on Broadway, they being a part of the estate of LEONARD GRAY, deceased, to be sold by order of the executrix. The land consists of a little over twenty-one acres, laid out as above specified, and bounded by Broadway on the east side and the Hudson River Railway on the west. Each plot commands a view of the river. Six of the westernmost plots front on the River Boulevard, recently opened. The other One Hundred and Fifty-fifth-street, and in process of being worked through the property to be sold. Twenty-one of the city lots fronton Broadway, and the remainder on a new street about to be laid out by the City. The whole property is surrounded by a fine mansion belonging to many of our best-known citizens. The transaction is the most important proposed at the Exchange since the Dyckman sale in June last. The sale begins at 12 M., and the attendance will without doubt be very large. The title to the property is said to be perfect, and the terms upon which it is offered are liberal.

To-morrow, also, E. H. LUDLOW & Co. will sell, at the Exchange, some valuable City property located in Forty-fourth-street, east of Broadway.

In Brooklyn, to-morrow, at 12 M., at the Exchange, No. 389 Fulton-street, J. COLE will sell, by order of the Supreme Court, 148 Prospect Park lots, situated on Ninth, Eighth, Sixth and Eighth avenues, and Degraw and Sackett streets, respectively. The location of the property makes the sale one of decided interest.

At Rutherford Park, also to-morrow, on the ground, at 12 M., A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO. will dispose of 300 city lots in plots, and 60 acres of land in suburban lots. Arrangements are made to close up the affairs of the Association, and to pay emptory. Special trains for the convenience of buyers and others will be run to-morrow, for which tickets can be procured of the auctioneers, No. 37 Cedar-street. Should the day prove fair, the sale at auction will take place Thursday, the 27th inst. The property offered is as fine as any in the vicinity of New-York.

In addition to the above proposed transactions, LAWRENCE, GARLEY & PLUMY will hold a continuation sale of 2,000 desirable lots at Scranton, Penn. The first sale of property by said firm, in New-York City, held some little months since, met with no mean success, about 1,000 being sold, although outside the limits of the New-York market. Attention is called to the auction from the fact that it is conducted by New-York auctioneers.

On Wednesday, at the Exchange, JOHNSON & MILLER will offer a large Brooklyn property, advantageously located, consisting of a first-class house and lot in Brooklyn Heights and valuable lots on St. Mark's-place and Warren-street in that city. On the same day, also at the Exchange, ROBERTS & McGUIRE will sell some desirable property in Seventy-eighth-street, in this City.

For Thursday, at the Exchange, a large number of sales are noticed. Outset day MULLER, WILKINS & CO. will sell at an executor's sale valuable property on Grand-street; E. H. LUDLOW & CO. will sell improved property on Franklin, near Hudson-street; and A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO. will dispose of property on Bleecker-street, near Irving-place. The latter firm will also sell at the same time and place a large number of lots in Brooklyn, Bay Ridge, L. I., and at Tremont, in Westchester County. Sales of City property in various localities are also bulletined for the same day by other auctioneers.

In suburban sales on Thursday, A. D. MILLICK, Jr., & BRO., O. H. PIERSON, auctioneer, will sell at Newark, N. J., on the premises, at 3 P. M., 190 choice building lots. The lots are all well located within the city limits, fronting on Elizabeth and Frelinghuysen avenues and the streets adjacent, and are in increasing demand of attention. Maps, passes, and other particulars in reference to the sale can be obtained of the auctioneers, No. 5 Pine-street.

On Thursday, also, on the ground, at 12 M., at Mamaroneck, in Westchester County, DINGEE, KETCHAM & CO. will sell 137 City lots, comprising the unsold portion of the first subdivision of the Grand Park property. These lots lie directly on each side of the New-Haven Railway, and for business purposes are considered among the most desirable of any belonging to the property. The sale is a peremptory one, by order of a trustee, for the benefit of creditors. Trains for the sale will leave the New-Haven Railway Depot, Fourth-avenue and Twenty-seventh-street, at 11½ A. M.

On Friday, at the Exchange, A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO. will offer a residence, together with a lot of ground, located at Bergen, N. J., situated near the depot, and within a half hour's distance of the City.

On Saturday the business of the week will close with the great Grand Park sale at Mamaroneck, under the direction of THOMAS R. HAWLEY, trustee of the enterprise. DINGEE, KETCHAM & CO. will conduct the auction. The property to be disposed of comprises 150 villa plots, also a large modern mansion, a villa and two handsome cottages. The sale is an important one, for in addition to the intrinsic value of the lots offered, the improvements already effected in this neighborhood, the prospect of future development, and the magic name of Mr. WILSON, the original projector of the scheme, will all serve to call out a large attendance of interested parties, and thus contribute to a successful result to the day's operation.

Large sales of Linden Park lots continue to be made, and the enterprise still commands popular approval. Free excursions for the property will be made each day of the present week, under the auspices of the Association, for which tickets can be procured by all who desire, at No. 37 Park-row, room No. 4.

From the above summary of sales it will be seen that the coming week promises to be an eventful one in the real estate history of the town. For a later period in the season other important schemes are in progress, some of which are already announced. Next week HAZARD, ARTHER & CO. will hold two large sales of valuable lots at and near Montrose Station, N. J. The sales will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 1 and 2.

A. D. MILLICK, Jr., & BRO. also advertise for Tuesday, Nov. 1, a second sale of lots at Seventh Plains, N. J. At the Exchange, Nov. 16, another tract of the Dyckman estate, comprising 40 acres, is to be sold. The property is adjacent to the tract sold last Summer, and all who purchased at that time will be present to secure a farm adjoining their purchase. Two Hundred and Fifty-fifth-street, the sale will be conducted by V. E. SEVARION, Son & Co., R. P. FARMER, Esq., auctioneer.

In addition to the public transactions noticed, attention is called to the large list of property offered at private sale, particularly so that at Tenafly, N. J., by W. H. HAYES, No. 55 Fulton-street. Attractive property is also offered by Messrs. McGEAR, NOE, & PRIDE, Jr., (Fulton-street); GEO. MILLER, No. 22 Broad-street; HAYES & BROWN, No. 1,265 Broadway; J. M. FULLER, No. 344 Fulton-street; A. COGGESHALL, No. 245 Broadway; BLACKWELL & SMITH, No. 346 Broadway; E. W. LEAVITT, No. 113 Wall-street; VAN RENSSELAER & CROGER, No. 162 Grand-street, and others.

Warneke & Co., No. 1,268 Sixth-avenue, report having recently disposed of the following property at private sale, at the prices annexed: No. 216 West Forty-eighth-street, between Broadway and Eighth-avenue, four-story high-stoop brown-stone front house, 18x100, $12,000. Also, two lots south side Fifty-first-street, 100 feet west of Lexington-avenue, 37x100, for $13,000.

Suburban Sales, Saturday, Oct. 22, 1870.

FORDHAM, N. Y.

By Johnson & Miller.

6 lots, Nos. 14 to 19, North 10th and Temple sts., 25x100 ..... $[illegible]
1 lot, No. 24 North 10th-st., 25x100 100
2 lots, Nos. 21 and 23 North 10th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 26 to 29 North 10th and Temple sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 33 to 36 North 11th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 39 to 42 North 11th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
10 lots, Nos. 4 to 13, Grove, North 10th-st. and Bullmanor ..... [illegible]
5 lots, Nos. 18 to 22, North 10th-st. and Bay Vue ..... [illegible]
5 lots, Nos. 61 to 65, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 70 to 73, North 10th and Temple sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 77 to 80, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 87 to 90, North 10th and Temple sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 97 to 100, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 101 to 104, North 10th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 107 to 110, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 111 to 114, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 117 to 120, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 121 to 124, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 127 to 130, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 131 to 134, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 137 to 140, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 141 to 144, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 147 to 150, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 151 to 154, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 157 to 160, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 161 to 164, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 167 to 170, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 171 to 174, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 177 to 180, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 181 to 184, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 187 to 190, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 191 to 194, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 197 to 200, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 201 to 204, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 207 to 210, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 211 to 214, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 217 to 220, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 221 to 224, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 227 to 230, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 231 to 234, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 237 to 240, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 241 to 244, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 247 to 250, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 251 to 254, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 257 to 260, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 261 to 264, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 267 to 270, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 271 to 274, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 277 to 280, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 281 to 284, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 287 to 290, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 291 to 294, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 297 to 300, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 301 to 304, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 307 to 310, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 311 to 314, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 317 to 320, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 321 to 324, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 327 to 330, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 331 to 334, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 337 to 340, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 341 to 344, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 347 to 350, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 351 to 354, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 357 to 360, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 361 to 364, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 367 to 370, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 371 to 374, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 377 to 380, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 381 to 384, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 387 to 390, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 391 to 394, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 397 to 400, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 401 to 404, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 407 to 410, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 411 to 414, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 417 to 420, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 421 to 424, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 427 to 430, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 431 to 434, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 437 to 440, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 441 to 444, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 447 to 450, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 451 to 454, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 457 to 460, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 461 to 464, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 467 to 470, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 471 to 474, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 477 to 480, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 481 to 484, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 487 to 490, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 491 to 494, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 497 to 500, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 501 to 504, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 507 to 510, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 511 to 514, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 517 to 520, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 521 to 524, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 527 to 530, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 531 to 534, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 537 to 540, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 541 to 544, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 547 to 550, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 551 to 554, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 557 to 560, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 561 to 564, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 567 to 570, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 571 to 574, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 577 to 580, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 581 to 584, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 587 to 590, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 591 to 594, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 597 to 600, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 601 to 604, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 607 to 610, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 611 to 614, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 617 to 620, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 621 to 624, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 627 to 630, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 631 to 634, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 637 to 640, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 641 to 644, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 647 to 650, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 651 to 654, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 657 to 660, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 661 to 664, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 667 to 670, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 671 to 674, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 677 to 680, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 681 to 684, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 687 to 690, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 691 to 694, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 697 to 700, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 701 to 704, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 707 to 710, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 711 to 714, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 717 to 720, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 721 to 724, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 727 to 730, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 731 to 734, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 737 to 740, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 741 to 744, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 747 to 750, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 751 to 754, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 757 to 760, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 761 to 764, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 767 to 770, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 771 to 774, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 777 to 780, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 781 to 784, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 787 to 790, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 791 to 794, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 797 to 800, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 801 to 804, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 807 to 810, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 811 to 814, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 817 to 820, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 821 to 824, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 827 to 830, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 831 to 834, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 837 to 840, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 841 to 844, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 847 to 850, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 851 to 854, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 857 to 860, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 861 to 864, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 867 to 870, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 871 to 874, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 877 to 880, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 881 to 884, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 887 to 890, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 891 to 894, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 897 to 900, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 901 to 904, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 907 to 910, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 911 to 914, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 917 to 920, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 921 to 924, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 927 to 930, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 931 to 934, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 937 to 940, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 941 to 944, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 947 to 950, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 951 to 954, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 957 to 960, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 961 to 964, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 967 to 970, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 971 to 974, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 977 to 980, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 981 to 984, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 987 to 990, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 991 to 994, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 997 to 1000, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1001 to 1004, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1007 to 1010, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1011 to 1014, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1017 to 1020, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1021 to 1024, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1027 to 1030, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1031 to 1034, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1037 to 1040, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1041 to 1044, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1047 to 1050, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1051 to 1054, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1057 to 1060, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1061 to 1064, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1067 to 1070, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1071 to 1074, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1077 to 1080, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1081 to 1084, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1087 to 1090, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1091 to 1094, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1097 to 1100, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1101 to 1104, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1107 to 1110, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1111 to 1114, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1117 to 1120, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1121 to 1124, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1127 to 1130, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1131 to 1134, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1137 to 1140, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1141 to 1144, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1147 to 1150, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1151 to 1154, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1157 to 1160, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1161 to 1164, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1167 to 1170, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1171 to 1174, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1177 to 1180, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1181 to 1184, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1187 to 1190, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1191 to 1194, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1197 to 1200, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1201 to 1204, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1207 to 1210, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1211 to 1214, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1217 to 1220, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1221 to 1224, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1227 to 1230, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1231 to 1234, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1237 to 1240, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1241 to 1244, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1247 to 1250, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1251 to 1254, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1257 to 1260, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1261 to 1264, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1267 to 1270, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1271 to 1274, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1277 to 1280, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1281 to 1284, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1287 to 1290, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1291 to 1294, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1297 to 1300, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1301 to 1304, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1307 to 1310, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1311 to 1314, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1317 to 1320, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1321 to 1324, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1327 to 1330, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1331 to 1334, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1337 to 1340, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1341 to 1344, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1347 to 1350, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1351 to 1354, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1357 to 1360, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1361 to 1364, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1367 to 1370, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1371 to 1374, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1377 to 1380, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1381 to 1384, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1387 to 1390, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1391 to 1394, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1397 to 1400, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1401 to 1404, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1407 to 1410, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1411 to 1414, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1417 to 1420, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1421 to 1424, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1427 to 1430, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1431 to 1434, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1437 to 1440, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1441 to 1444, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1447 to 1450, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1451 to 1454, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1457 to 1460, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1461 to 1464, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1467 to 1470, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1471 to 1474, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1477 to 1480, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1481 to 1484, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1487 to 1490, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1491 to 1494, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1497 to 1500, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1501 to 1504, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1507 to 1510, North 9th and Grove sts., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1511 to 1514, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1517 to 1520, North 9th-st., 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1521 to 1524, Bullmanor, 25x100 ..... [illegible]
4 lots, Nos. 1527 to 1530

SHIPPING.

THE ANCHOR LINE.

MAIL EVERY SATURDAY AND ALTERNATE WEDNESDAY, TO AND FROM GLASGOW AND DERRY.

Passengers booked from all Railway stations in Great Britain, Ireland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark to Glasgow, by safest, speediest, comfortable and cheapest as by any other route or line.

REGULAR STEAMERS.

Australia.....Thurs., Oct. 27 | Iowa.....Wed., Nov. 9
Anchoria.....Sat., Nov. 5 | Scotia.....Wed., Nov. 16
Cambria.....Sat., Nov. 12 | Britannia.....Wed., Nov. 23
Caledonia.....Sat., Nov. 19 | Iowa.....Wed., Dec. 14
Anchoria.....Sat., Nov. 26 | Scotia.....Wed., Dec. 21
India.....Sat., Dec. 3 | Britannia.....Wed., Jan. 11

Sailing every SATURDAY and alternate WEDNESDAY, from Pier No. 20 North River, New-York, as noon.

RATES OF PASSAGE, PAYABLE IN GOLD.

First Cabin $80 and $90, according to location.
Cabin excursion tickets, good for 12 months, $140.
Intermediate, $50; Steerage, $30.
Certificates at REDUCED RATES, can be bought here by those who wish to send for their friends.
Drafts on demand for any amount, payable anywhere.
Apply at the company's offices to
HENDERSON BROTHERS, No. 7 Bowling-green.

CUNARD LINE.

THE BRITISH AND NORTH AMERICAN ROYAL MAIL STEAM-SHIPS, BETWEEN NEW-YORK AND LIVERPOOL, CALLING AT CORK HARBOR.

Africa, Tuesday, Oct. 25 | Algeria, Thurs., Nov. 3
China, Wednesday, Oct. 26 | Persia, Saturday, Nov. 5
Malta, Thursday, Nov. 3 | Russia, Wednesday, Nov. 9
Olympus, Saturday, Nov. 5 | Batavia, Thurs., Nov. 10
China, Wednesday, Nov. 9 | Java, Wednesday, Nov. 16

RATES OF PASSAGE.

By this steamer: Cabin, $100 and upwards.
First Cabin, $80 gold. Steerage, $30 gold.
First Cabin to Paris, $90 gold.
Return tickets, $150 gold.
By the steamers carrying freight:
First Cabin, $80 gold. Steerage, $30 currency.
Steerage tickets from Liverpool and Queenstown, $35 currency.
Through bills of lading given for Boston, Glasgow, Havre, Antwerp and other ports on the Continent.
Freight or passage apply at the Company's office, No. 4 Bowling-green.
For passage apply also to JULIUS CAESAR, Broadway, Trinity Building.
CHAS. G. FRANCISCO, Agent.

FOR LIVERPOOL,
(VIA QUEENSTOWN),
CARRYING THE UNITED STATES MAILS.

THE LIVERPOOL AND GREAT WESTERN STEAM COMPANY will dispatch one of their first class full power mail steamships from their PIER NO. 3 NORTH RIVER, EVERY WEDNESDAY.

SAILING:
MANHATTAN, Capt. Forbes, Oct. 26, at 4 P. M.
MINNESOTA, Capt. Wakeman, Nov. 2, at 4½ P. M.
IDAHO, Capt. Pim, Nov. 9, at 3 P. M.
NEVADA, Capt. Comstock, Nov. 16, at 3 P. M.
COLORADO, Capt. Lake, Nov. 23, at 3 P. M.
WISCONSIN, Capt. Freeman, Nov. 30, at 3 P. M.

Cabin passage, $80 gold.
Steerage passage, (Office No. 20 Broadway,) $30, currency.
For freight or cabin passage apply to WILLIAMS & GUION, No. 29 Wall-st.

GULF DIRECT LINE TO FRANCE.

THE GENERAL TRANSATLANTIC COMPANY'S MAIL STEAMSHIPS, NEW-YORK AND HAVRE, CALLING AT BREST AND SOUTHAMPTON.

The splendid vessels on this favorite route for the Continent will sail from Pier No. 50 North River as follows:

PEREIRE.....DAUBE.....SATURDAY, Oct. 29
LAFAYETTE.....BOUSSAC.....SATURDAY, Nov. 12
VILLE DE PARIS.....PARAYRE.....SATURDAY, Nov. 26
ST. LAURENT.....LEMAITRE.....SATURDAY, Dec. 10

Rates of passage, payable in gold, (including wine,)
TO BREST OR HAVRE—First cabin, $140; second cabin, $90.
Steerage, $35.
Meals extra, if not taken with the steamers.
GEO. MACKENZIE, Agent, No. 5 Broadway.
SPECIAL NOTICE—Hereafter the steamers of this line will touch at Southampton, England, to land passengers and mails.

NATIONAL LINE

STEAM TO LIVERPOOL AND QUEENSTOWN, PAYING GOLD.

ITALY, Capt. Sawyer, Saturday, Oct. 29, at 9 A. M.
ENGLAND, Wednesday, Nov. 2, at 12 M.
THE QUEEN, Thursday, Nov. 10, at 9 A. M.
Passage to Liverpool or Queenstown, $80 and $85, currency; steerage, $30 currency.
Prepaid steerage tickets from Liverpool, Queenstown, Londonderry and Glasgow, $35 currency.
LONDON DIRECT.
PENNSYLVANIA, Thursday, November.
Cabin passage, $80 and $75, currency.
Steerage passage, $30 currency.
For further information apply at the Company's office, No. 69 Broadway.
F. W. J. HURST, Manager.

FOR LIVERPOOL AND QUEENSTOWN.—Inman line of Royal Mail Steamers are appointed to sail as follows:
CITY OF BERLIN.....Saturday, Oct. 29, 10 A. M.
ETNA, (via Halifax).....Tuesday, Nov. 1, 12 M.
CITY OF WASHINGTON, Saturday, Nov. 5, 2 P. M.
CITY OF PARIS.....Saturday, Nov. 12, 8 A. M.
And each succeeding SATURDAY and alternate TUESDAY, from Pier No. 45 North River.
RATES OF PASSAGE.
PAYABLE IN GOLD. | PAYABLE IN CURRENCY.
1st Cabin.....$75 | Steerage.....$28
To London.....$80 | To London.....$30
To Halifax, N. S.....20 | To Halifax, N. S.....15
Tickets can be bought here at moderate rates by persons wishing to send for their friends.
For further information apply at the Company's Office.
JOHN G. DALE, Agent,
No. 15 Broadway, New-York.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAM-SHIP COMPANY'S THROUGH LINE TO CALIFORNIA AND CHINA:
FREIGHT AND PASSAGE GREATLY REDUCED.

Through rates, New-York to San Francisco:
First Class, $175. Steerage, $40.
Gold, $175. Gold, $40.
according to location of berth.
These rates include berths, board and all accessories for the trip.
Steamers of the above line leave Pier No. 42 North River, foot of Canal-st., at 12 o'clock, noon, as follows:
ON THE 2ND AND 18TH OF EACH MONTH, except when these days fall on Sunday, then the day previous.
One hundred pounds of baggage free to each adult. Medicine and attendance free.
Nov. 4, ARIZONA, Capt. MARY, sailing thence SACRAMENTO, Capt. MARSHALL, Nov. 18.
Second class GREAT REPUBLIC will leave San Francisco Dec. 4, 1870, for China and Japan.
All freight for San Francisco will be so full, and be received until the day of sailing.
Freight for Central America and South Pacific ports will be received until 4 P. M. on Wednesday, Nov. 2, only. All the usual facilities afforded shippers in collecting bills of lading, etc.
For freight or passage tickets, and all further information, apply at the office, Pier No. 42 North River.
F. R. BABY, Agent.

FOR ST. THOMAS AND BRAZIL.
UNITED STATES AND BRAZIL STEAM-SHIP COMPANY.
REGULAR MAIL STEAMERS sailing on the 20th of every month:
MERRIMACK, Capt. WEB, Oct. 20.
SOUTH AMERICA, Capt. R. L. THOMPSON, Nov. 20.
NORTH AMERICA, Capt. G. B. SLOCUM, Dec. 20.
These splendid steamers sail on schedule time, and call at St. Thomas, Para, Pernambuco, Bahia and Rio de Janeiro, going and returning. For engagements of freight or passage, apply to
F. W. E. GARRISON, Agent,
No. 5 Bowling-green, New-York.

U. S. MAIL TO HAVANA.

ATLANTIC MAIL STEAM-SHIP COMPANY, sailing regularly every THURSDAY, at 3 o'clock P. M. precisely from Pier No. 4 North River.
MORRO CASTLE, Capt. CROSBY.....Oct. 27
COLUMBIA, Capt. H. VAN BRUNT.....Nov. 3
MISSOURI, Capt. J. R. EDWARDS.....Nov. 10
For freight or passage apply on board.
F. C. WHEELER, Jr., President,
No. 5 Bowling-green.

HAVANA, SISAL AND SELA CRUZ.
New-York and Havana Mail Steamship Line—Sailing every TWO DAYS from Pier No. 17 East River. The fine steamers
CITY OF MERIDA, Capt. DRAKE, WEDNESDAY, Nov. 2, 3 P. M.
CITY OF MEXICO, Capt. THORENSEN, TUESDAY, Nov. 29, 3 P. M.
For freight or passage apply to
F. ALEXANDRE & SONS, No. 22 Broadway.

FOR NASSAU, N. P., CARRYING THE ROYAL MAILS.
Atlantic Mail Steamship COLUMBIA, Capt. E. V. H. BOGE, will sail Nov. 2, at 3 P. M., from Pier No. 4 North River.
For freight or passage apply to
E. G. WHEELER, Jr., President,
No. 5 Bowling-green.

FOR SAVANNAH, GA., THE FLORIDA PORTS, AND GREAT SOUTHERN FREIGHT AND PASSENGER LINE, VIA CENTRAL RAILROAD OF GEORGIA AND ATLANTIC AND GULF RAILROAD.
FOUR STEAMERS A WEEK.
TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS AND SATURDAYS.
THE STEAMSHIPS
VIRGO, Capt. BUSKER, TUESDAY, Oct. 25, at 3 P. M.
HERMAN LIVINGSTON, Capt. CHESEBROUGH, THURSDAY, Oct. 27, from Pier No. 20 North River, at 3 P. M.
MAGNOLIA, Capt. NICKERSON, SATURDAY, Oct. 29, from Pier No. 3 North River, at 3 P. M.
WM. R. GARRISON, Agent,
No. 5 Bowling-green.

MONTGOMERY, Capt. PARKER, SATURDAY, Oct. 29, from Pier No. 3 North River, at 3 P. M.
R. LOWDEN, Agent,
No. 7 Bowling-green.

Insurance by this line ONE-HALF PERCENT.
Superior accommodations for passengers.
Through tickets and bills of lading to connection via Atlantic and Gulf Railroad.
Through tickets and bills of lading to connect with Central Railroad of Georgia, to all points.
C. H. OWENS, Agent, No. 7 Bowling-green.
GEORGE YONGE, Agent, No. 227 Broadway.

NOTICE TO TRAVELERS.

Passengers by steamship or railroad, who intend to visit Europe, can secure the services of a gentleman who will meet them on their arrival, and accompany them through the continent, if desired, free of charge, or any other information they may require, by addressing or calling on the Tourists' Agency, No. 5 Dey-st., near the Tribune Office, New-York.

SHIPPING.

Old line, low freight.
The well-known and popular steamer BENEVOLA, Capt. [illegible], will be dispatched for Havre, on Saturday, Oct. 29, at 3 P. M. Freight taken for Havre, to be prepaid at New-Orleans.
For freight or passage, having superior accommodations, apply to LEVINSTEIN, FOX & CO.,
No. 18 Liberty-st.

DELAWARE AND NEW-YORK S. S. CO.—Pier No. 31 N. R., foot of Murray-st. WM. COTT will leave for Lewes, Del., MONDAY and THURSDAY, at 4 P. M., calling through the day at Bridgeton, Port Elizabeth, Cape May, Fairhaven, Belleplain, Dennis, Leesburg, Tuckahoe, Marshallville, Seaville, Tuckahoe, Marmecus, Corson's Inlet, Strathmere, Sea Isle City, Townsend's Inlet, Stone Harbor, Avalon, Cape May Court House, Dennis

CUBA.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAM-SHIP MORRO CASTLE.

The steam-ship Morro Castle, which left Havana on Oct. 17 and Nassau Oct. 19, reached this port last evening. On Oct. 12, the report tells us, while she was on the outward passage, off the Hole in the Wall, she encountered a heavy hurricane from the South, lasting five hours, but received no damage. Oct. 21, on the inward passage, lat. 33, lon. 75, barometer falling to 29.9, she encountered a very heavy hurricane from south-east to north-east, of eight hours' duration, with a very heavy sea running, making a clean breach over the ship fore and aft. The deck-load of 700 barrels of oranges was thrown overboard to ease the ship; the boats were thrown from the davits; the sails, though furled, were blown from the yards; the paddle-boxes were damaged and broken; skylights, binnacle, and everything movable on deck were swept away, and the cabin and saloons were filled with water. Complimentary resolutions were tendered to Capt. RICHARD ADAMS by the passengers, in token of their admiration of the bravery and energy he displayed under the trying circumstances thus referred to. Some account of the disastrous effects of the hurricane ashore is included in our correspondence printed below.

The Situation—Effects of the Hurricane in Havana and Elsewhere—Preparations Most of Life in Matanzas for Fairness of the Weather over the Vuelta.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Monday, Oct. 17, 1870.

The Havana journals in their semi-monthly review of the "situation" published Saturday for circulation in the Peninsula, frankly confess there is little to say pro or con regarding the movements of troops or of insurgents in the insurrectionary districts of Cuba. More than two years since the insurgents raised their flag in Yara and today they occupy less than a fourth of the territory they held four months after the insurrection broke out. The only action of importance had during the past fifteen days was that at Monte Nuevo, in the Eastern Department, where the Spaniards claim to have caused a loss to the insurgents of more than one hundred in killed and wounded. No details have reached this city, as yet, so it is impossible to judge which side was really the winner. One of the gun-boats captured, last week, an English schooner at Cayo Cruz, making the third taken near that point within a short time. Another gun-boat captured, near Nuevitas, two schooners, loaded with arms, clothing, &c. The first schooner overhauled near Cayo Cruz had, no doubt, discharged her cargo, whatever it might have been, as she was reported in ballast. The crew of the vessel taken previously, at the same place, and court-martialed and shot, were, some of them, English subjects. Many documents found aboard of the Splendor have since been published, and if authentic they show dissensions, radical in their character, to exist among the insurgent chiefs.

THE HURRICANE.

The effects of the hurricane last week in Matanzas, Cardenas, and the back country, were most disastrous. At first two thousand persons were reported to have perished at the different points the gale swept over. Half that number would most likely be nearer the truth. The force of the storm seems to have been spent in the country nearer Cardenas than Matanzas, though the latter place suffered more than the former. In both cases the damage was done principally by water. The sea seemed to rise, and to remain at an unusual height, as though two or three tides had come in at once, one on top of the other. As rain had been falling in torrents for some time, the streams at both places were swollen out of their banks, and the waters on their way to the sea met a wall of water. These tides upon land caused a tidal wave, and the natural result was a general inundation of the low grounds in both cities. The damage to Cardenas consisted principally in a destruction of property, with but little loss of life. Out of thirteen vessels at anchor in the Bay of Cardenas, but three escaped being wrecked. Large stone warehouses were demolished, not undermined, but thrown over by simple pressure of water against their walls, and the material of which they were built was carried away, so that not even a vestige of them remained.

MATANZAS.

Matanzas suffered more in loss of life than any other place on the island. Here the inundation of the Pueblo Nuevo Ward, bounded by the bay, the San Juan and Yumuri Rivers, brought death to the door of every family within its limits. More than four hundred dead bodies have been recovered, and the end of the finding is not yet. A passenger-train from Havana arrived at the depot of the Havana and Matanzas Railroad, situate in this ward, just before the overflow took place. Depot, engine, train, passengers, employes—all disappeared in the flood.

TIDINGS FROM SAGUA.

Guines, a town located in a level section between this and Matanzas, was inundated by the torrents of rain, many buildings were blown down, and some of the inhabitants severely injured. The jurisdiction of Celon felt the force of the tornado also. Here much damage was done to the growing cane, much of it being torn out of the ground by the roots by the mere force of the wind. The cane meet backward for the season was less injured.

SICKNESS.

Cholera and vomito still linger in the city. Cases with the latter disease have nearly all resulted fatally where the patients were sick at the time of the hurricane. Death was consequent on the change of weather. A change from 90° or 80° in the shade to 70° is fatal to anyone at the gates of death by yellow fever.

Additional Incidents of the Hurricane—Losses in Havana and on the Sea—Damage to Shipping.

From an Occasional Correspondent.

HAVANA, Monday, Oct. 17, 1870.

An equinoctial storm—a tempest in the West Indies—you have all heard what that is, and perhaps remember the old geography pictures of childhood, where the forests are being blown down and cities swept away and inundated by the ocean flood. Well, in spite of the predictions of the weather prophets, who could not be made to admit that there would be any commotion this year, and who, perhaps, thought that the day for such atmospheric disturbances had passed, the hurricane has visited us and passed over the island in all its fury.

CITY SCENES.

On Saturday I reached my dwelling, amid falling blinds and signs, and whirled about by winds which would blow one's sombrero on the sidewalk or bring down hundreds of trees at one fell swoop. On the wharves gangs of laborers were meanwhile toiling, and uttering loud, strange cries, as if mad; vessels were being brought up to the wood-work—though uselessly, as the result proved. The ferry-boats had ceased running, and the streets were deserted.

THE SEA.

It was a sight to see the heavy waves come rushing into the harbor, and, looking to the seaward end of the Paseo de Isabel, a heavy mist and spray could be viewed, rising even from the lashing of the waves against the breakers of the shore, to a great distance in the air. I shall never be able to entertain much respect for the monosyllabic and insignificant Falls of Niagara after looking at the angry, curling waves which broke upon this shore, dashing fairly over the city walls and the Morro Castle, with white, curling crests discernible for miles to the eastward.

PRECAUTIONS.

That awful night there was not one of the lofty and immense doors in the city but was doubly propped and bolted, and many of them were secured and adjusted every hour. Roofs were blown away and stone walls thrown down. On the morrow in the public squares, almost every lamp and tree was thrown to the ground, and the Paseo de Isabel, from being a shady promenade, has become, but a wide avenue blocked up with fallen trunks and dry leaves. In the quarter of San Lazarus, a city car was completely washed off the track by the rising waves, and some of the passengers badly bruised by the overthrow. A dozen vessels in the surrounding waters were more or less injured.

ADDITIONAL INCIDENTS.

During the prevalence of the storm on the morning of the 6th the waters of the Bay suddenly receded, and left it dry for several minutes. An arrow borealis, which covered nearly the whole sky, was seen for ten minutes on the preceding night. Here, as through many other cities of the island, wharves and depots have been leveled with the ground, and the sugar-houses and cane-fields of the neighborhood have been almost totally inundated.

DAMAGE TO SHIPPING.

Beside the British schooner S. F. Fowler, a total loss—the British bark Mistletoe, damaged badly, the Italian Sedita, driven ashore and wrecked, the American vessels lost or damaged in this port were as follows: Brig G. W. Berley, of New-York, driven on shore under the passes. Bark Gen. S. Wood, of Portland; lost masts, yards, sails, seaboat, boat; picked up one negro girl alive. Brig Mary A. Chase, of Portland; totally dismasted, tight, lost two anchors and hawsers; picked up six men from a raft and from a mud scow. Schooner Edna, of Bridgeport, driven from her anchorage, and collided against some coasting schooners, sinking them; then carried almost to the Tacarigua Bridge and was driven back again to the bar, where she stranded. Captain and crew escaped to the shore. The vessel was then driven down the harbor and wrecked near the Cazumar. Schooner Frank Pelouze, of Bath; bows broken in, bowsprit ripped up. Bark St. Marys; cut away a portion of rigging and sawed foremast.

POLITICAL.

THE "RING."

The Public Interests and Tammany—Either to Defeat Justice.

The Tammany Ring obviously feel the stringent enforcement of the new Congressional Election law, and are putting in operation every means in their power to intimidate Republicans, and to get whomever out of the way. On Wednesday one MCCABE was concerned in arresting Mr. LOQUENZIA, a member of the Tammany General Committee, who admitted that he had registered in three different districts of the Eighth Ward. On Thursday MCCABE was himself arrested on an old charge, which has been allowed to rest undisturbed for four years or more, and which had been withdrawn by the complainant. MCCABE was committed without bail. THEODORE ALLEN has been particularly active and efficient in detecting repeaters in the Ward in which he lives, and has secured the arrest of several persons who have violated both State and national law. In a flagrant manner, as a consequence, ALLEN was himself arrested, on Saturday, on a charge of perjury, alleged to have been committed years ago, and when taken before Judge COX, at Jefferson Market, was committed to await examination, bail being refused, though it was offered to the extent of $20,000. In two or three other cases similar proceedings have been had, and the Democracy avow that they intend to resort to all the means within the possession and control of the State and National Governments to give them. As a part of this programme, they are creeping in season the Court of Oyer and Terminer, though there is no business for it to do, the object being to bring themselves within the law which requires that when a Court of Oyer and Terminer is in session all suits of habeas corpus shall be made returnable before it. If a suit of habeas shall be granted by any Judge for one of the alleged offenders of Tammany, it is expected that Judge INGRAHAM, who is holding the Oyer and Terminer, will do the bidding of the Ring, or, if his courage fails him, he will, in accordance with his usual practice, leave the bench temporarily, and allow BARNARD or CARDOZO to take his place. By the way, the mention of the latter Judge's name reminds us to suggest that, if old charges are to be raked up in this way, Judge CARDOZO may have to reflect his visits of a few years since to the District-Attorney's office in behalf of a family relation, and to narrate in the Mayor one of his most importent slips.

We rise to notify the leaders of the Ring that such proceedings as these, which embarrass public opinion, will do them far more harm than good. A Court and District-Attorney who take trivial bail for murderers like JACKSON and DONOHUE, and refuse bail for a person charged with perjury, even if this latter be as guilty as is claimed, not only displease thousands but disgust all the better part of the community with the party which requires men who try to appear respectable to thus demean themselves.

Republican County Convention—The Committees.

The following are the Committees appointed by Hon. WILLIAM ORTON, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, held at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Head-quarters on the evening of Thursday, Oct. 20:

Committee on Reorganization, (under the resolutions offered by A. J. H. DUGANNE, Esq.)—First District, Nathan Kingsley; Second District, Henry G. Leask; Third District, Adolphus Gerst; Fourth District, Jacob S. Melvins; Fifth District, Robert Edwards; Sixth District, Enoch Elliott; Seventh District, A. J. H. Duganne; Eighth District, John J. O'Brien; Ninth District, James W. Booth; Tenth District, W. H. Lockwood; Eleventh District, John R. White; Twelfth District, Joseph Archibald; Thirteenth District, Hugh Jacobsen; Fourteenth District, M. B. Blake; Fifteenth District, H. P. Loomis; Sixteenth District, Isaac H. Bailey; Seventeenth District, John R. Russell; Eighteenth District, C. A. Arthur; Nineteenth District, Joseph H. Meredith; Twentieth District, W. A. Darling; Twenty-first District, William Haw.

Committee on Address—Alexander Wilder, George Bliss, Jr., James A. Richmond, Norman Stratton, Joseph C. Pinckney.

Committee on Contested Seats—Hugh Gardner, Sheridan Shook, C. A. Arthur, James W. Booth, William A. Darling.

Committee to make arrangements for a ratification meeting—First District, Michael W. Burns; Second District, Morris Friedsam; Third District, E. A. Willoughby; Fourth District, Geo. W. Birbett; Fifth District, James Winterbottom; Sixth District, Henry A. Smith; Seventh District, John D. Lawson; Eighth District, James A. Jones; Ninth District, Alonzo Bliss; Tenth District, J. M. Patterson; Eleventh District, Jeremiah Lathrop; Twelfth District, James Duncan; Thirteenth District, Charles S. Spencer; Fourteenth District, Joseph C. Pinckney; Fifteenth District, Hugh Turner; Sixteenth District, Michael Cronin; Seventeenth District, Chas. A. Plummer; Eighteenth District, Spencer Kirby, Nineteenth District, Thomas Hazan; Twentieth District, James Owens; Twenty-first District, James M. Thompson.

Richmond County Republican Nominees.

The Republicans of Richmond County have a ticket presented to them for the November election of which they may well be proud. All the nominees, without exception, are first-class men, of known ability and integrity, who, if elected, will adorn the offices for which they are named, and reflect credit upon the party that puts them forward as its standard-bearers. Such a ticket is calculated to draw all good citizens to the polls, and it is gratifying to hear that it is likely to poll a larger vote in the county than any ticket nominated for years.

The following are the names of the gentlemen who compose the ticket:

For Congress—First District—J. C. Kerrell.
For the Assembly—David W. Ladd.
For Sheriff—Moses Alston.
For County Clerk—A. V. Conner.
For Treasurer—B. F. Morris.
For Superintendent of the Poor—Blake Hillyer.
For Justice of the Sessions—Dr. Geisler.
For Coroner—Samuel Randolph.

Anti-Tammany Ratification Meeting.

A grand mass-meeting of the independent Democracy, and of all citizens who desire an honest City Government, will be held in Apollo Hall, corner of Broadway and Twenty-eighth-street, to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, to ratify the nomination of the incorruptible citizen, Judge THOMAS A. LEDWITH, for Mayor. Among the speakers will be Mr. LEDWITH himself, Judge GEORGE C. BARRETT and others.

Ex-Marshal Murray.

We have received several communications from correspondents relative to Ex-Marshal MURRAY, or "vindictive Rob," as he is sometimes called, who has made himself quite conspicuous of late in assisting Mayor HALL to bolster up his silly charge against Gen. WOODFORD. One correspondent gives us an account of Mr. MURRAY'S doings while acting as agent of the New-York Central Railroad at Castle Garden; another lets us into the mysteries of the Ex-Marshal's operations in Wall-street, and the way he victimized his brokers; another treats us to some interesting reminiscences of his doings while United States Marshal; another tells us how he tried to worm himself into the office now held by worthy man Mr. CASSERLY, as Superintendent of Emigration; and still another introduces us to his compagnon du voyage in a trip across the Atlantic and wanderings in Europe.

All these letters are interesting, and some of them are decidedly striking, and in case Mr. MURRAY should hereafter aspire to public office, their publication may become a duty, in the way of warning to the people. But at present the TIMES aims at higher game. It proposes to expose principals, not subordinates—rascals in office, not people who have been dismissed from office. The secret of Mr. MURRAY'S enmity to Gen. WOODFORD, as well as of his volunteer service to the Tammany Ring, is well understood by those who know the man; and to those who don't know him, and who might therefore be inclined to listen to his testimony, it is sufficient that he once gave his evidence before such a man as Judge BRIEWAR, and was ruled out of Court.

The Political Outlook in Northern New-Jersey.

The letter of Ex-Gov. HAINES, published in the TIMES of the 11th inst., has not been without its effect in the Fourth Congressional District of New-Jersey. The Governor deservedly takes high rank. Among the ablest jurists of the State, he adds to a clear judicial mind and bright literary attainments what is most desirable among public men—a clean record, backed by an established reputation for sterling integrity. It is not strange, then, that his plain, outspoken and manly letter should create such a profound sensation among his old associates in the Democratic ranks and lead them to look more critically into the manner in which this or that candidate manipulates primaries and packs conventions, and then goes before the people as the regular candidate, asking their suffrages with the usual amount of effrontery that characterizes the political hack.

The thinking portion of the Democracy seem to have just been roused from a Rip Van Winkle slumber by the telling letter of Judge HAINES, and their prospect, fair enough a month ago, reveals now a situation desperate indeed. A careful look over the field will convince any reflecting mind that here, where the main interest centres in the Congressional fight, a wonderful change in political opinion is taking place. Three weeks since Mr. HAYMAN'S friends were boasting of the splendid ticket Gortner, their candidate would call up in the Democratic counties, and talking loudly of the reduced Republican vote throughout the district. But a material change has taken place. Today they realize that men who, like Judge HAINES, cannot and will not be wrenched into the support of a mere party ticket, are likely to make a most substantial protest against the wholesale fraud, and give the people of the District another term of their present honest and faithful representative.

Take Paterson as a centre, and, with a radius of say ten miles, make a circumference, and the statistics there will be found as familiar with the peculiar political lethargy of the masses but will be struck with the remarkable change that has come over the people within the last few days. Take, for example, Bergen County, the most eastern county of the district; heretofore one of the strongholds of the Democracy in the State. Go to the more remote towns, where heretofore the Democratic majority has been counted and relied upon as the number of legal voters in the township, and a strong element of discord will be discovered—an uneasiness at the restraint of their party riders, and frequently a cursing of their party yoke. In this angry, well, and demonstrative beyond doubt that Bergen County will not give the majority she gave two years ago for Mr. RAFFERTY. This leaves entirely out of the question the disaffection among the Germans, and the effect it will have on Hudson County, where another Democratic Malakoff has the leaven of her strong Democratic thickness working up a terrible fermentation, and however much the Democratic organs may talk of the twaddle of such men as Gov. HAINES and Ex-Judge HYMAN, the demonstration is clear that this twaddle is having serious effects in the former adherents of the Democracy. The remaining Counties of Morris, Passaic and Essex, (in part,) will not fall far short of their majorities of two years ago. It is evident, then, that the Fourth Congressional District, for the next two years at least, will be represented by a Republican, and will be represented by the present very worthy member, Hon. JOHN HILL. The ancestral pride of the old Knickerbocker Democracy will not tolerate what Gov. HAINES calls frauds and irregularities. They hold on to the solution of square Democratic nominations not packed conventions. They want no help from Erie to elect their candidates. They do not propose to make their conventions assimilate to the "solemn farce of the Erie election," as done by TWEED the First and FISK, Jr., in New-York on the 11th inst. Again, the very brilliant commentary of Gov. HAINES on the regularity of Democratic conventions, the effect that unless the Convention at Morristown selected Mr. RAFFERTY as their candidate, the nominee, whoever he might be, would be defeated, and with it would also follow the defeat of a Democratic Legislature, seems to have taken a serious hold on minds of thinkers hereabouts, and the verdict sometimes will be that the aspirant for Congress, who proposes to defeat any other candidate not to his liking and to jeopardize the election of a United States Senator, must be quietly shelved until he can learn more of the politics of his adopted country. The candidates of the Democracy in this vicinity are looked upon as subservient to the Erie management, and the citizens of this important, wheelwright manufacturing and, an element of existence, will not forget at the polls that the party now in power has been in full sympathy with the Corporation whose enormous increase in freight charges and extinguishing policy, as exhibited by the course pursued toward the express companies of Paterson, has resulted in serious and crippling injury of the business enterprises established some two years. But there is a remedy. Let us wait patiently for the application on the 8th of November next.

Prominent Republicans on the Stump.

Republican meetings are announced to be held as follows:

MONDAY, OCT. 24.

Oswego—Wm. V. Weber, Esq., (German.)

TUESDAY, OCT. 25.

Cooper Institute, New-York—Hon. Horace Greeley.
Norwich—Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.
Penn Yan—Gen. H. C. Van Wyck.
Milton—Hon. Butler G. Noble.
Antwerp—Gen. John J. Swift.
Watertown—Hon. Chas. A. Eaton.
West Fairfield Heights—Hon. Ethan Allen.
Cape Vincent—Hon. Charles T. Mills.
Marthon—Gen. T. M. Hite.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 26.

Delhi—Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.
Tarrytown—Hon. Horace Greeley.
Carthage—Gen. John L. Swift.
Walworth—Gen. Chas. H. Van Wyck.
Cincinnatus—Gen. T. M. Hite.
Clayton—Hon. Chas. T. Mills.
West Bangor—Hon. Butler G. Noble.
Great Bend—Hon. V. Weber Esq. (German.)
Canajoharie—P. H. Beermann. (German.)

THURSDAY, OCT. 27.

Kingston—Hon. Horace Greeley.
Elmira—Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.
Stockholm—Hon. Butler G. Noble.
Lyons—Gen. C. H. Van Wyck.
Truxton—Gen. T. M. Hite.
Pleasant—Hon. Chas. T. Mills.
Port Jervis—Wm. V. Weber, Esq., (German.)

FRIDAY, OCT. 28.

Geneseo (afternoon)—Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.
Oswego—Gen. C. H. Van Wyck.
Canton—Hon. B. G. Noble.
Preble—Gen. T. M. Hite.
Theresa—Hon. Charles T. Mills.
Port Jervis—Rev. W. F. Butler.

SATURDAY, OCT. 29.

Fulton—Gen. C. H. Van Wyck.
Albion (afternoon)—Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.
Rochester (evening)—Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.
Sing Sing—William V. Weber, Esq., (German.)
Owego—Hon. Butler G. Noble.
Evan's Mills—Hon. Charles T. Mills.
Cortland—Gen. Thomas M. Hite.

THE CANVASS.

The Massachusetts Congressmen have all been renominated.

The Schenectady Star complains that some of the Democrats in that county are lukewarm in their support of JOHN M. CARROLL, the Democratic candidate for Congress.

A writer in the Newport News regards it as a most unaccountable fact that a people who love their State so well as do the people of Rhode Island will tolerate so much corruption in elections as confessedly exists there.

The Fishkill Journal says that the only danger which the Republicans of Dutchess have to fear this Fall is the great confidence which they seem to entertain that they can carry the county without any special effort.

Seven Republican members of the New-Jersey State Senate hold over, and the Trenton Gazette says that scarcely a possibility exists, if the Republicans do their full duty, but that the next Senate will be Republican.

The Republican Committee in Onondaga have issued a stirring address to the friends of the party in that county, urging them to push forward the work of organization, and promising to devote their own energies faithfully to the work.

GEORGE A. BAGLEY and CLINTON L. MERRIAM, the two Republican candidates for Congress in the Twentieth District of this State, agreed to submit the question which was the regularly-nominated candidate to three arbitrators, and the gentlemen selected have decided in favor of Mr. MERRIAM.

The Walden Herald says that the Republican ticket in Orange County is one of unusual strength and popularity, and it promises that the county shall elect it, and also aid in redeeming and rescuing the State from the reign of fraud, extravagance and ruin which has been inaugurated by the hordes of Tammany.

E. J. STABLE, one of the two Republican candidates for Congress in the Third District of Arkansas, has withdrawn. He says that he thinks his opponent ought to have withdrawn, but as he has not done so, he himself will yield the field, hoping thereby to remove the possibility of the election of a Democrat.

The Montgomery (Ala.) State Journal says it has most cheering accounts from all parts of the State that "North Alabama is alive with enthusiasm. South, East and Central Alabama are being quietly, but earnestly canvassed, and the prospects in West Alabama, our Hengsteld, daily improve."

THOMAS RICE, Jr., has declined the Democratic nomination for Counsiler in the Third District of Massachusetts, saying that he has been a member of the Republican Party from its formation, and will heartily support Gov. CLAFLIN and all associated with him on the Republican ticket, at the coming election.

A rousing Republican rally is expected at the Wigwam of the Seventeenth Assembly District Association, Forty-ninth-street, west of Eighth-avenue, this evening, when HORACE GREELEY is positively announced to speak, with ETHAN ALLEN and others, and there will be singing by the Union Glee Club.

Unpleasant reports have counselled the Democratic Central Committee of Alabama to remove the name of L. McCOY, their candidate for State Treasurer, from their ticket, and to nominate J. F. GRANT in his stead. They say that the charges against him, involving an abuse and perversion of the school fund of the State, may in some respects be exaggerated and unfounded; but the explanation made by him as to the receipt of $1,500 as a fee for the collection of a portion of the fund referred to, is unsatisfactory.

It is reported that in the Rhode Island First Congressional District Republican Convention, which adjourned without making a nomination, Hon. B. T. EAMES was supported by the influence of Senator SPRAGUE, Ex-Mayor BARTON and Ex-Gov. SMITH, while Hon. THOS. DAVIS was preferred by ALBERT SAYFORD, CHARLES ANTHONY, HENRY C. CLARKE and the Radical Republicans. It is rumored these two parties had agreed to a compromise, but the agreement was broken off on Monday last.

The Frederic Center appeals for harmony and conciliation among the Republicans of the Thirty-first Congressional District. It well says: "The question is not about any public measure or any party principle. However the aspirations or ambitions of we will not say unnatural or unworthy, of individuals may have urged them on thus far, we have confidence in the good sense and good faith of those concerned, whether by their own or the actions of others, to do what is necessary that they will calmly canvass the whole ground, and propose and unite in some adjustment that will restore harmony to our distracted ranks."

The plan of minority representation, urged by Ex-Senator BUCKALEW, was successfully tried at Bloomsburg, Penn., his residence, at the recent election. The experiment was made for the second time in an election in which two assemblymen were to be chosen at-large. The plan provides that each voter shall have as many votes as there are candidates or officers to be elected, and may either distribute them equally or unequally among the candidates, or concentrate them upon one. In this instance each party nominated one candidate only. For assessors there were 2,098 Democrats, 1,908 and 184 Republicans. On the accustomed plan the Democrats would have nominated and elected both candidates by 188 majority. On the new plan, by giving each voter two votes, the total was made 1,130, and 380 votes were necessary to an election. The Democrats having but 282 votes, were unable to elect their candidate, and the Republicans got the other. This novel plan has been engrafted into the new Constitution of Illinois, where its justness and efficacy will have an opportunity to be fairly tested.

A Deputy Sheriff Robbed by a Handcuffed Prisoner.

On Saturday afternoon the prisoners sentenced at the Hudson County Court were removed by Sheriff MOURT to the Trenton State Prison. Among the number was one professional pickpocket, Miss LOUISA RAVEN, alias Graves, who was formerly an inmate of the prison under the name of Louisa Wolfe. On the way from Jersey City to Trenton she was handcuffed, and was placed under the special care of Mr. WM. LANDMESSER, a Deputy Sheriff. The prisoners were lodged in their quarters, and upon the return of the official party LANDMESSER discovered that he had lost his $10. Subsequent investigation proved that the lively female had the money in her possession, having robbed the deputy in the cars, while her wrists were encased in the iron bracelets.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

NEW-YORK.

The Central Park Meteorological Department report for last week sets forth the following facts and figures: Barometer—Mean, 29.997 inches; maximum at 9 A. M. Oct. 16, 30.160 inches; minimum at 6 P. M. Oct. 20, 29.836 inches; range, .064 inches. Thermometer—Mean, 56.1°; maximum at 4 P. M. Oct. 16, 71.1°; minimum at 7 A. M. Oct. 19, 41.6°; range, 29.5°. Oct. 20, at 6½ A. M. to 6½ P. M., amount of water, .32 inches, total amount of water for week; distance traveled by the wind during the week, 1,379 miles.

About 12 o'clock on Saturday night a young woman, named MARY CREA, attempted suicide by throwing herself in the East River at the foot of Grand-street. Fortunately she was seen by an officer of the Eighteenth Precinct, who plunged in and rescued her. She was brought up at the Essex Market Court yesterday, before Judge LEDWITH, and held to answer.

GEO. WINSTON, a resident of Philadelphia, was arraigned before Justice HOGAN, at the Tombs, yesterday, on a charge of robbing Mrs. CATHARINE MARTIN, of No. 14 West Twenty-eighth-street, of a pocket-book containing $184 75. The lady was riding in a Broadway car, and the pocket-book was taken from her dress, being found in the possession of the prisoner by the arrested. The Magistrate held WINSTON for trial.

The race between the Dauntless and Sappho will probably take place to-morrow afternoon. Dauntless will go on the ways this morning at 7 o'clock after the Sappho leaves. Both vessels were yesterday visited by large crowds. The Sappho has a prow under her bob-stay to enable her to go better on the wind.

The members of the Officers' Association of the Sixth Regiment New-York Veteran Cavalry, will hold their fifteenth annual reunion at DELMONICO'S, Fifth-avenue and Fourteenth-street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. MARY ANN SCHELL, aged fifty-five, committed suicide, as is supposed, yesterday, by swallowing laudanum, at No. 162 Cherry-street. She was a native of France. Coroner KEENAN will investigate the case.

DENNIS POWERS, aged six years, of No. 1,183 Second-avenue, fell off a ladder, yesterday, at a rear building in Sixty-fifth-street, near Lexington-avenue, and sustained a fracture of his left leg.

The bodies of two infants were found by the Police, yesterday, in Fourteenth and Sixty-second streets, respectively.

PATRICK QUINN, of No. 318 Mott-street, was committed, yesterday, by Justice HOGAN, at the Tombs, for habitually beating and kicked his wife, MARY, on Saturday. The man was jealous. The woman is scarcely expected to recover.

JAMES FITZHARRIS, of No. 35 Bethune-street, was assaulted, last evening, by MICHAEL COSTELLO with a shovel, and sustained a severe wound on the head. COSTELLO was arrested.

MINNIE FORREST, of No. 234 West Thirty-third-street, caused the arrest of MARGARET SMITH, yesterday, on a charge of knocking her down and taking from her stocking $15. Justice COX, at Jefferson Market, held the accused for trial.

GABRIEL SCHULTHEIS, of No. 119 Bleecker-street, was committed for trial, yesterday, by Justice COX, at Jefferson Market, on a charge of stabbing JOHN FISHER, of No. 76 Mott-street, three times in the head with a knife.

FRANCIS LARKIN, of No. 154 West Twenty-eighth-street, accused CHARLES PARSLES, yesterday, of having attempted to steal $25 from his pocket. Justice COX held the prisoner for trial.

BROOKLYN.

At a late hour on Saturday night the wire factory of WM. V. IRELAY was damaged by fire to the extent of $2,000. An adjoining frame house, owned by MICHAEL MANNING, was also damaged to the extent of $1,000. No insurance.

MICHAEL MCCULLOUGH, a cartman, residing at No. 140 Union-avenue, while partially under the influence of liquor, yesterday, entered the beer saloon of DAVID CARVER, on Indiana-street near Union-avenue, and got into a quarrel with the proprietor, the result of which was that CARVER shot MCCULLOUGH in the arm twice with a revolver. CARVER was arrested.

LONG ISLAND.

Rev. H. W. KNAPP'S yacht, Recreation, which was run down by the steamer Decorn in New-York Harbor, during one of the recent regattas of the New-York Yacht Club, has been towed to Greenpoint, where she is undergoing a general overhauling at the hands of her builders, Messrs. JACKSON & MATTHEWS. She lost her mast and boom, had her sails badly torn and plank sheer cut through, besides sustaining other damage of an extensive character. The cost of repairs will amount to over $2,000. Mr. KNAPP had in the cabin papers valued at $10,000, which were recovered in a damaged condition. One of his guests had $6,000 in the pocket of a coat hanging in the cabin. The valuable article floated to where it was found wedged in another part of the vessel.

The suit against the New-York-avenue Commissioners at Huntington, which has attracted so much attention for several months past, has ended, a verdict of discontinuance and costs against the plaintiff having been entered by defendant's counsel. The injunctions having all been removed, the work will be prosecuted with vigor, and it is expected that the road will be entirely finished before cold weather. The new avenue, which will extend from the village to the harbor, will be one of the finest on the island.

The new depot of the Long Island Railroad, at Greenpoint, is completed and presents a very fine appearance. It is very similar to the one at Hicksville. Work on the new dock to accommodate the freight business of the road is now being pushed forward. Owing to the scarcity of brick for use in the walls of the new engine-house, they have not been finished, and the completion of the building is consequently delayed. A general change will probably be made in all the Company's buildings in this place.

At the annual meeting of the Union School District of Greenport, Hon. H. A. REMSEN and G. W. LYON were elected members of the Board of Education. The number of registered scholars in attendance during the year was 207, with an average daily attendance of 168. The number of children between the ages of five and twenty-one years was 327.

The deprivation of the Williamsburg Turnpike Company of their charter from Grand-street to Middle-Village, by the Supreme Court, is the first victory of those opposed to the present toll-gate system in Queens County. Action will be commenced immediately for the purpose of dissolving other toll roads and toll bridges of their franchises.

The confirmations by Bishop LITTLEJOHN in the Episcopal Churches of Suffolk County since June are: St. John's, Cold Spring, 10; St. John's, Huntington, 10; St. James, Smithtown, 9; St. Mary's, Southampton, 8; St. Mark's, Islip, 11. Total, 48.

NEW-JERSEY.

The Methodist Sunday-school at Rosville (Newark) yesterday celebrated its fourteenth anniversary. The exercises commenced at 3 o'clock, and consisted of the reading of reports, singing by the children, and the reading of an historical essay on the workings of the schools. Addresses were delivered by Messrs. TAYLOR, WILSON, BURNSWORTH and BILLS.

The grading of the Tuckerton Railway from Barnegat to Tuckerton, has been commenced. This is the first of a number of railroads running along the shore of New-Jersey, some of them already in operation and others rapidly approaching completion, which will in a few years form one connecting line of railways from Sandy Hook to Cape May, and open a large portion of the State which has heretofore been almost inaccessible from the larger cities.

As Newark people were wending their way to church last evening, they found Broad-street blockaded by about two hundred people who were following a drunken couple. JOHN A. JACKSON, aged sixty-five years, and his wife were indulging in a disgraceful fight, being both drunk. They were taken to the Police Station, and the crowd was dispersed by the police.

Forty-five prisoners have been discharged from the Hudson County Jail during the past week, twenty-nine having been released through the failure of the Grand Jury to find indictments against them, nine by the expiration of their terms of imprisonment, and seven sent to State Prison. The latter were sentenced to the following terms for larcenies and assaults: Chas. Wagner, one year; Jas. Johnson, one year; Walter Jones, two years; Jas. Wright, five years; Chas. Sturgis, nine months; Thos. King, one year; Louisa Raven, two years.

A new and beautiful depot is at once to be erected at the Ferry-street station on the Newark and New-York Railroad at Newark. The timbers for the new structure are already prepared, and the work of substruction will be speedily commenced. The shanty now used as a depot is entirely inadequate for the purposes.

REV. CORNELIUS BRETT, Pastor of the Second Reformed Church, on Ferry-street, in Newark, preached last night before the Young Men's Association of the Church. The association is young but is very prosperous, and bids fair to be a powerful auxiliary to the Church.

REV. CHAUNCEY GILES last night delivered an address to the Swedenborgian congregation at Franklin Hall, Jersey City, on the "The Judgments of the Soul."

Yesterday afternoon the house of MAY DOYLE, No. 180 Washington-street, Jersey City, was accidentally set on fire by a child playing. The fire was extinguished by Officers RYAN and DELANEY, without damaging any other part of the building than the single room in which it occurred.

The directors of the Green-street German school, in Newark, have added a new feature to the school. A department known as "Kinder Garden," or play school, for children under six years of age, will hereafter be a department of the school.

Bishop BAYLEY administered the rite of confirmation in the new Roman Catholic Church at Paterson, yesterday, to a class of nearly two hundred persons.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The market was quiet and steady. Tallowmen during the day is indicated by the following table:

	11½ A. M.	3 P. M.
Consols for money	92¾	92¾
Consols for account	92¾	92¾
United States 5-20s, 1865, old	89½	89½
United States 5-20s, 1865, old	89½	89½
United States 5-20s, 1867	90¾	90¾
United States 10-40s	87½	87½
Illinois Central Railroad shares	111	110
Erie Railroad shares	19½	19
Atlantic and Gt. West. R. shares	30	30

FRANKFORT, Oct. 22.—United States Five-twenty Bonds, 88½ for the year of 1865.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 22—11 A. M.—COTTON.—The market opened buoyant; Middling Upland, 9¾d.; Middling Orleans, 9¾d. The sales of the day are estimated at 10,000 bales, of which 2,000 were for speculation and export. Middling Upland, 9¾d. or 9¾d.; Middling Orleans, 9¾d. The sales of the day foot up 20,000 bales. LARD, 70s. CHEESE, 60s.

DOMESTIC MARKETS.

OSWEGO, Oct. 22.—FLOUR active and steady; sales 2,200 bbls. at $6 75 for No. 1 Spring; $6 75 for Amber Winter; $7 25 for White; $8 for Double Extra. WHEAT quiet; sales 1,700 bushels Spring at $1 27 for No. 1 Milwaukee Club; $1 28, and 1,000 bushels No. 1 Red Wabash at $1 30. CORN quiet; sales confined to small lots, comprising 1,600 bushels, at 84c. OATS quiet; sales 1,000 bushels Canada at 41c. BARLEY quiet; sales 4,000 bushels Up-lake Canada at 65c.; 5,000 bushels Bay Quinte at 81 14, and 9,000 do. at 81, in gold. RYE nominal; held at 85c., free. CORN-MEAL $1 65 for Brandywine, and $1 50 for other brands. WHEAT unchanged; shorts, $18 00@$19 00; middlings, $20@$22 00 ton. HIGHWINES, 89½c. CLOVER-SEED.—Wheat, (bu.) Barley, (bu.) Rye, (bu.) Corn, (bu.) Oats, (bu.) Flour, (bbls.) Lumber, (M.) Pork, (bbls.) Lard, (lbs.) Beef, (bbls.) Tallow, (lbs.) Cheese, (lbs.) Butter, (lbs.) Hides, (lbs.) Whiskey, (bbls.) Wool, (lbs.) Ashes, (bbls.) Wheat and Flour, (bu.) Barley, 528,000; Rye, 2,000; Corn, 4,000; Oats, 1,000; Flour, 1,000; Lumber, 1,000; Pork, 1,000; Lard, 1,000; Tallow, 1,000; Cheese, 1,000; Butter, 1,000; Hides, 1,000; Whiskey, 1,000; Wool, 1,000; Ashes, 1,000; Wheat and Flour, 1,000; Barley, 1,000; Rye, 1,000; Corn, 1,000; Oats, 1,000; Flour, 1,000; Lumber,